PLAN VOTE ON LEAGUE

G.O.P. to Divorce Treaty Terms.

Republican Programme Calls for Emasculation of the Paris Peace Pact.

National Referendum on the Covenant Proposed; Huns' Handling Approved.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Unanimously approving the peace pact with Germany, but still opposing the League of Nations covenant in its present form, Republican leaders in the Senate are seriously considering the following programme of action when President Wilson presents the treaty for ratification:

(1.) Separation of the league covenant from the treaty by Senate amendments.

(2.) Immediate ratification of the treaty provisions for peace with Germany.

(3.) Submission of the League of Nations covenant to a national referendum under a special act of Congress.

Senator Lodge, who will be chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, has discussed this suggested procedure with Senators Knox and Borah, other Republican members of the committee, who favor such action, and a decision was reached to submit the plan to the full conference of Republican Senators which will be called to consider the treaty question.

This contemplated programme is based on the contention that the League of Nations covenant proposes a radical departure from traditional American policies and involves the surrender of rights and interests so vital as to require the most mature consideration on the part of the American people.

OPPOSE ALLIANCE.

In view of the recent White House denial that the President has negotiated an alliance with Great Britain and France, Senators evinced much interest in the official government announcement that Mr. Wilson will propose to the Senate an agreement under the terms of which England and the United States would defend France against any aggression by Germany.

"I am not in favor of any treaty or alliance with France or with any other foreign power obligating ourselves in any way concerning future wars in Europe," said Senator Borah. "Whether we shall take part in any future European war is a matter which should be determined by the facts when and as they arise and by the particular generation ,which must bear the brunt of war and by the intelligence and the conscience and the judgment of the American people as they see the situation when face to face with it. I shall not support any treaty or any alliance which binds future generations concerning the matter of war with any European

HALF FRANCE'S YOUTH IS SLAIN.

War Claims 58 Per Cent. of Men Between 20 and 31, Records Show.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, May 8.—Capt. André Tardieu, head of the general commission for the Franco-American war matters, recently announced that he had made an investigation into the number of French soldiers killed between the ages of 20 and 31. He found that 58 per cent. had lost their lives—that is, that more than half of France's youth had disappeared.

THE DAY IN PARIS.

SUMMARY OF DEVELOPMENTS.

[RESUME BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

While the German peace plenipotentiaries are digesting the text of the lengthy peace treaty handed them Wednesday and communicating with the Weimar government as to the demands made upon Germany by the Allied and associated powers, the council of four is engaging itself with the formulation of peace terms for Austria and Hungary.

The German Austrian delegation is reported already to have started for St. Germain, France, there to await the summons to Versailles to learn what is to befall the one-time dual monarchy in the way of the payment of indemnities, the making of reparations and the relinquishment of territory.

Estimates have been made in Paris that 5,000,000,000 crowns will be demanded as indemnity from Austria-Hungary in addition to the delimitation of frontiers. The pre-war debt of the former empire and kingdom, it is said, is to be divided among the newly formed states which have arisen or are to arise in their old territories.

It is reported that when the terms of peace with Turkey are concluded, the United States is to be requested to become the mandatory of Armenia, and that President Wilson will place the matter before Congress in order that a decision may be arrived at.

GERMAN WOULD TRY ALLIES, NOT KAISER.

PROFESSOR CALLS ENGLISH AND FRENCH STATESMEN, EDITORS, CULPRITS.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERLIN, May 7 (delayed.)—The news that William II is to be tried by an international court has incensed not so much the junkers and former court circles, as certain sentimental adherents of various classes, women predominating.

Some of the latter who tried to arrange an indignation mass meeting were nonplussed when a famous physician coldly met their hypothetical pleadings with, "Place him under the observation of specialists in mental diseases and he probably will never be tried."

In the Tagliche Runschar Prof. Theodore Schiemann characterizes such a trial as a most shocking disregard of international and moral laws beautified by tradition.

"Only the bad conscience of the five powers, America, England, France, Italy and Japan, which would be his judges, can make us comprehend this demand," he said.

After recapitulating the history leading to the war from his viewpoint, Mr. Schiemann concludes that Sir Edward Grey, Harding, Findley, Nicholson, Poincare, Delcasse, Clemenceau, Sazonoff, Iswolski, Soukhomlinoff, Northcliffe and the editors of the Temps, the Matin and the Novoe Vremya are the real culprits whose trial the German peace delegation must demand.

Head First Air Voyage Across Atlantic.

Commanders Towers and Ritscherson.

The former (above) is in general charge of the fleet of NC planes now headed for across seas, while the latter is pilot of the NC-3, which arrived yesterday evening at Halifax, completing the first leg of the journey to Europe. The maps show the route of the first and second laps of the trip and (in the smaller one) a birdseye view is given of the entire route across the Atlantic, as adopted by the United States Navy.

RAILROAD IS CUT BY VILLA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

EL PASO, May 8.—Freight and mail for central Mexican points are being rerouted through Eagle Pass and Piedras Negras, Coahuila, because Villa rebels have destroyed rail communication south of Chihuahua City.

Villa's command divided after abandoning Parral, which was held six days. One band went to the Durango rendezvous, where Villa always cashes his loot. The other is reported marching north toward Ojinaga, presumably on an ammunition-smuggling expedition.

Gen. Manuel Diegucz, the new commander of the southern part of the northeastern zone, has received a squadron of four airplanes for use in locating Villa followers in the field.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Official advices received today by the Mexican Embassy denied that Federal troops joined Villista forces when they captured Parral, and also declared untrue reports that Villa had occupied Jiminez and that the mining companies of the State of Chihuahua had suspended operations.

Information from the border today indicated that the bridge over the Conchos River, recently reported destroyed, probably was not the famous Conchos bridge south of Chihuahua, as had been supposed.

CHICAGO, May 8.—A governmental convention to iron out differences between the United States and Mexico as a preliminary to expanded commercial trade between the two countries was proposed today by business men representing the Mississippi Valley Association and the Chicago Association of Commerce. It is planned to have Middle Western Congressmen submit the plan after Congress convenes.

H. H. Merrick, president of both associations, speaking of the Mexican Chief Executive, said:

"Carranza is a business man, and I believe he would be glad of such an arrangement. The trouble is he has been approached hitherto by politicians."

HUN COMMISSION TO STIMULATE INDUSTRY.

BERLIN, Wednesday, May 7.—Dr. Bernhard Dernburg, the Minister of Finance, announced today the creation of a national commission of three cabinet members to stimulate industrial production so that Germany can pay for foodstuffs in manufactured articles, as well as in gold.

STRIKERS PULL PUMPS, FLOOD MINES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PARK CITY (Utah) May 8.—The Ontario, Silver King coalition and Daly-West mines here are rapidly filling with water, the pumps having been "pulled" early this morning as the result of the strike of approximately 1000 miners of the camp. The pumps were stopped after a meeting which ended at midnight, at which the miners refused to entertain a proposal to arbitrate their differences with the mine owners.

The miners are striking for a six-hour day, a wage of $5.50 and for two men on all machines.

Continuation of idleness by the pumps means the virtual destruction of two of the oldest and most valuable properties in the Park City district, it is said. The Daly-West property cannot be flooded above a certain level, gravity carrying the water off through a tunnel.

TWO NC PLANES REACH HALIFAX.

Fate of Third Member of Naval Squadron, Which Developed Engine Trouble Soon After Leaving Rockaway, Uncertain, with Destroyers Searching for Her.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

HALIFAX, May 8.—Commander John H. Towers, who brought the two giant seaplanes safely to port after a flight of 540 miles from Rockaway Point in nine hours, announced that he expected to get away tomorrow morning on the second leg of the journey which will take the aircraft to Trepassey, N. F., a distance of 460 miles.

Commander Towers based his expectation on a report of Prof. Alexander McAdie, the meteorological expert at Harvard University. Prof. McAdie said tonight that the present favorable atmospheric conditions were likely to continue for another 24 hours at least.

HALIFAX, May 8.—Two of the American navy seaplanes, the NC-1 and the NC-3, arrived here at 8 o'clock tonight (7 o'clock New York time,) thus finishing successfully the first leg of their trans-Atlantic flight.

The two planes were sighted first at 7:44 p.m. The NC-3 took the water at Eastern Passage at 7:55 and the NC-1, ten minutes later. No reports have been received here regarding the NC-4, which developed trouble with one of her engines not long after leaving Rockaway Point.

The two planes passed Lockport at 6:30 p.m. The NC-1 was leading the NC-3 by two miles. The planes were two miles off shore and 2000 feet up. Lockport is about 100 miles from this city.

BOSTON, May 8.—Navy officials here announced tonight that destroyers were searching for the missing NC-4 seaplane that left Rockaway Beach today for Halifax, but experienced engine trouble off the coast.

NEW YORK, May 8.—The naval communications service announced tonight that the last direct word of the navy seaplane NC-4 was received 2:33 p.m., while she was limping along on three motors off Otter Cliffs, Me., headed for Halifax. Two destroyers are searching for her along the coast.

NEW YORK, May 8.—The first trans-Atlantic flight was begun when three NC (Navy-Curtiss) hydroairplanes left the government's air station at Rockaway Beach at 10 a.m. today on the first leg of the journey—Rockaway to Halifax, a distance of 540 miles.

The NC-3, with Commander John S. Towers, chief of the expedition, was the first plane to take to the air.

The NC-1, with Lieutenant-Commander P. N. L. Bellinger, and the NC-4, with Lieutenant-Commander A. C. Read, as the commanding officers, were behind the NC-3.

The planes were escorted to sea by a squadron of navy scout planes. Proceeding in a general northeasterly direction, the trio of giant air and water birds should reach Halifax before nightfall, barring mishaps. Thence, the route runs 1350 miles to the Azores, another 800 miles to Portugal, and on to Plymouth, Eng.

The total distance between Rockaway Beach and Plymouth is 3925 nautical miles.

About 1200 persons watched the three great planes rise from the water and soar out over Jamaica Bay.

The only ceremony was the presentation of a four-leaf clover to each member of the crews by Capt. Noble E. Irwin of the aviation section of the naval bureau of operations. Commander Towers expressed the confidence that the flight would be successful. As he donned his sheepskin-lined uniform and helmet, he exclaimed delightedly to his brother officers:

"Boys, we're going to beat it."

As Commander Towers took his seat in his flagship, the NC-3, he waved his hand to the spectators and called out:

"Good-by, boys. There's nothing we can see now that will prevent our being in Halifax by 6 o'clock. The men are a fine set. We could not have better. We are confident the American navy will be the first to fly across the Atlantic Ocean."

"WE'LL DO IT," HE SAYS.

Lieutenant-Commander P. N. L. Bellinger, skipper of the NC-1, offered as his parting salute:

"With the help of God and in spite of the devil we will do this little thing."

Lieutenant-Commander A. C. Read, the third skipper, said:

"Nothing has been overlooked in the construction of these planes. They'll do the trick."

Each seaplane carried six men, consisting of the commander, a navigator, two pilots, an engineer and a reserve pilot. The reserve pilots will go only to Newfoundland. The planes weighed 28,500 pounds apiece with a full load and each is driven by four Liberty motors of 400 horse power each connected with individual propellers. The wing spread is 128 feet.

From the time the planes rose from Jamaica Bay they will not rest on land until they reach the other side of the ocean.

NAVY HUNTS MISSING NC-4.

No Report is Received from Flyer After Making Half Distance to Halifax.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 8.—With two of the three navy seaplanes, which started from Rockaway, L. I., this morning on the first leg of the trans-Atlantic flight arrived safely at Halifax, navy officials were bending every energy tonight to locating the third, missing since early in the afternoon. No report of the missing machine, the NC-4, commanded by Lieutenant-Commander A. C. Read, had been received after the machine passed the destroyer McDermut, first station ship, located more than sixty miles north of Cape Cod and less than half way to Halifax.

Orders were issued at once sending the McDermut and the next ship beyond it, the Kimberley, in search of the missing seaplane. Commander Read had reported just before reaching the McDermut that the oil pump on one of his motors was giving trouble and he might have to come down. Later the NC-4 reported to Commander Towers in the NC-2 that the trouble had been repaired.

BRITISH FLYERS NOW WAIT FULL MOON

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. JOHN'S (N. F.) May 8.—With snow, rain and fog blown in by a southeast wind, hopes of a start in their trans-Atlantic flight were once more deferred by the British aviators, Harry Hawker and Capt. Frederick P. Raynham, here today. No uneasiness was shown by either of the Britishers when word was received of the start of the American naval flyers on the first leg of their trip, and both tonight seemed to have settled down to wait for the full moon, scheduled to make her appearance with favorable flying weather on May 14.

Unrepentant Attitude and Talk of Huns Fill Treaty Chamber with Allied Indignatio

ENVOYS' BEARING IS RANK INSULT

'Air of Arrogance Angers Premiers and Wilson.

Brockdorff Even Delivers Speech Sitting.

Foch Ignores Germans, Looks Out of Window.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

VERSAILLES, May 8.—The German delegates to the Peace Congress complained bitterly this morning to one of the French liaison officers of the unexpected harshness of the conditions of peace.

VERSAILLES, Wednesday, May 7.—The scene at today's session of the Peace Congress when the terms of the treaty were presented to the German delegates was an impressive one, and the function was not without its tense moments.

Indeed, the entire half hour which it took Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau to deliver his reply to Premier Clemenceau was a period of tenseness for President Wilson, Premier Clemenceau and Premier Lloyd George, and in fact for virtually every one present.

The speech was translated sentence by sentence by German interpreters, who did not fail to bring out with full emphasis every sharp phrase in it and the three Allied statesmen put their heads together in evident anger at more than one of the German spokesman's cutting utterances, as if they were deliberating upon the advisability of an immediate answer.

SUPPRESS RESENTMENT.

The programme was unaltered, however, and when the German plenipotentiary had finished Premier Clemenceau arose and put the customary phrase:

"Has any one further observations to make?" and when there was no response continued: "I then declare the session closed."

The Allied triumvirate remained after the German delegates had left for a half-hour discussion of the new situation.

The scene within the hall during the ceremony had none of the pomp and glitter of earlier Peace Conferences—no display of court and military uniforms such as marked the congresses of Berlin and Vienna, no theatrical ceremonial. It seemed to gain in impressiveness, however, by these very circumstances.

At the head of the table the striking faces of Premier Clemenceau and Lloyd George and President Wilson attracted every eye.

Marshal Foch, sitting with the French delegation at the head of one of the side tables, was another conspicuous figure.

The bearded faces of the Serbian statesmen, M. Pachitch, and the Greek Premier, M. Venizelos, as well as the familiar head of Ignace Jan Paderewski, the Polish Premier, also stood out from the mass of delegates.

The impassive faces of the Japanese representatives, the oriental lineaments of the Chinese, the brown countenance of the Arabs from Hedjaz, and the presence even of the two delegates from Liberia and Haiti gave evidence that this was really a world congress.

HUNS ARE ARROGANT.

The Germans, who entered the chamber with all the confidence of victors, bore themselves without a trace of nervousness and acted as if they were taking part in the deliberations on equal terms with their adversaries.

The ceremony, which attracted to the hall a crowd of correspondents and officials who began arriving at an early hour, started at 2:20 o'clock when servants brought in huge armfuls of the printed conditions of peace and distributed them, one copy to each delegation, around the hollow rectangle. The Germans only were expected, their copy being delivered to them at 2:17 o'clock during the translation of Premier Clemenceau's speech.

At 2:25 o'clock Premier Clemenceau and Stephen Pichon, the French Foreign Minister, entered for a final survey of the arrangements, and then left to await the arrival of President Wilson. Secretary of State Lansing also appeared for an instant at 2:30 o'clock.

The minor delegates now were streaming into the room, and virtually all were assembled in their places when at 2:55 o'clock President Wilson, accompanied by other American delegates, and Premiers Clemenceau and Lloyd George entered together and moved informally to their places at the head of the table.

ITALIANS SHAKE HANDS.

Premier Orlando and Foreign Minister Sonnino of Italy followed, an instant later. Both of them walked over to shake hands with President Wilson and Premier Clemenceau before seeking their places.

While the assemblage was seating itself, Premier Clemenceau and President Wilson engaged in an animated conversation. Premier Lloyd George and Arthur J. Balfour, the British Foreign Secretary, also indulged in a chat. Premier Paderewski during this interlude made a belated appearance.

After a five-minute wait, Col. Henry, the French liaison officer, appeared in the chamber, heralding the approach of the German delegation. The Germans entered the door an instant later, preceded by a functionary of the French government, wearing the glittering chain of his office, who announced in a loud voice: "Messieurs, the German delegates."

There was some little confusion among the Germans while they were finding their proper places. Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, who entered, gloves in hand, took the center chair, with his five colleagues, and Director Von Stockhammer of the Foreign Office, flanking him on either hand. Five German secretaries and their interpreters took their places at tables in the rear.

CLEMENCEAU OPENS SESSION.

Premier Clemenceau, as president of the Congress, then arose, and declared the session opened. He started immediately upon his speech, pausing to permit translations into English and German by French interpreters. The translation into the German was decidedly faulty and halting.

The Premier then addressed the Germans again to explain the conditions of the negotiations, telling them that there would be no oral discussion permitted, and that they must submit their observations in writing within fifteen days. The Premier then read the headings of the treaty and made his suggestion that the Germans within a few days might be ready to commence the discussion of certain sections of the treaty.

When the Premier concluded with the customary phrase, "Has any one observations to make?" Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau raised his hand, but he was not recognized until the Premier's remarks had been translated.

During the translation Paul Dutasta, the general secretary of the assemblage, proceeded almost unnoticed across the open space in the center of the rectangle and deposited a copy of the peace treaty before the head of the German delegation.

BROCKDORFF RECOGNIZED.

"Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau has the floor," said Premier Clemenceau, as soon as the translation had been finished.

The head of the German delegation did not arise like Premier Clemenceau, reading his speech sitting, but it was remarked by some that this apparent discourtesy to his adversaries may have been dictated by his physical condition.

After the first sentence of the Count's speech had been delivered in German an interpreter began the French translation. The words did not reach the head of the table distinctly, and Premier Clemenceau called for a louder utterance. He was equally dissatisfied with the second attempt of the interpreter, and two of the German officials finally left their places with the German delegation and moved across to the head of the table to deliver the German plenipotentiary's bold and frequently offensive message, sentence by sentence, right into the faces of Premiers Clemenceau, Lloyd George and President Wilson.

Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau's guttural German repeatedly rang out in strong emphasis on particularly vigorous phrases or words of his speech, as for instance, when he declared that the admission by Germany of sole guilt for the war would be "a lie," and when he forbade the Allies to speak of "cruelty and murder" in view of the "sufferings and deaths of German civilians under the blockade and after the armistice."

INDIGNATION SHOWN.

The interpreter who gave the English version made the most of his opportunity, both in voice and selection of words, and the bold and unrepentant declarations of the German peace delegates as thus brought out gave rise to a murmur of indignation in the chamber.

The German delegates were the first to leave Trianon Palace after the meeting today. Before their appearance the military guard had been withdrawn so as to avoid any semblance of military honor. Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau and Landsberg came out first, and the whole party was speedily shown into automobiles, which left immediately under a British and French escort and moved through crowded streets, the absolute silence of which was oppressive.

The Germans were conspicuously undiplomatic in their appearance, and they suggested, rather, a party of travel-stained tourists as they entered their motor cars.

LONDON'S VERSION.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Wednesday, May 8.—Describing the scene at the Trianon Palace today when the terms of peace were handed to the German delegation, a Paris dispatch to the Central News says that Premier Clemenceau stood while making his address, but that Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, the spokesman of the Germans, wearing big horn spectacles, remained seated while he read his speech, which was translated sentence by sentence.

As the German Foreign Minister proceeded with increasing indecision, the dispatch says that it was interesting to note the demeanor of the assembly. The Germans seemed to stiffen their bodies and with folded arms they sat stern and silent by Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau's side. While the speaker was admitting the acceptance of defeat and the obligation of reparation, those watching the German delegates saw that they turned their eyes in other directions. While the address was proceeding only Premier Clemenceau and President Wilson appeared unconcerned, the latter leaning back in his chair, with his hands in his pockets.

On concluding his speech, Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau replaced his spectacles in their case, spread his hands upon the table, and waited. It was clear, the dispatch says, that his attitude created a deep impression upon the delegates.

Premier Clemenceau immediately rose, and in a couple of sharp sentences, brought the proceedings to a close. Subsequently, Premier Clemenceau, President Wilson, Premier Lloyd George and Premier Orlando met in an adjoining room, doubtless to discuss the German reply.

During the meeting Marshal Foch sat, apparently not heeding the proceedings. Nursing his chin in his hand, he never looked toward the German delegates, his gaze apparently traveling through the great windows to the beautiful country beyond.

After the conference William M. Hughes, Premier of Australia, said, according to a Reuter dispatch:

"The attitude of Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau was an intolerable insult to the conference, for, while Premier Clemenceau spoke standing, the German spokesman did not rise while making his address. In spite of their intolerable arrogance, this has been a day of humiliation for the Germans which we could see had entered their souls."

William F. Massey, Premier of New Zealand, said:

"The Germans were more impudent and aggressive than anything I have ever met."

After the conference, the dispatch states, the fact that the members of the council of four did not appear made the crowd anxious, but it transpired they were holding a meeting, and shortly after 4:30 o'clock President Wilson departed, looking serious, but smiling. He saluted the crowd as he went to his automobile. A little later the appearance of M. Clemenceau was a signal for the first great wave of cheering of the day. Premier Orlando also received an ovation, but Premier Lloyd George, the latest to leave, is said to have been given a more generous reception from the throng.

WILSON HAS DAY OFF; SEES RACES.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, May 8.—President Wilson went to Longchamps this afternoon to attend the races there. Mrs. Wilson accompanied him.

Alexander Kerensky, the former Russian Premier, is in Paris. It became known today. He has not, however, made an appearance in Peace Conference circles.

TERMS NEXT TO AUSTRIA.

French Foreign Office Advised Vienna Delegates Already on Way to Paris.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, May 8.—The French Foreign Office received information late today that the Austrian peace delegation had left Vienna last night and would reach St. Germain probably tomorrow.

The council of four, with Premier Orlando of Italy present, began today to arrange for presentation of peace terms to the Austrian, Hungarian and Bulgarian delegates.

The Austrian treaty has begun to take form. Portions of it already have been drafted.

It appears that instead of Germany being required to pay the entire indemnity demanded by the Allies, a considerable sum will be demanded of Austria, the estimate of this sum at present being 5,000,000,000 crowns.

This indemnity provision and the delimitation of the frontiers of the new state will be the main features of the treaty now in making. Provision is to be made for dividing Austria-Hungary's prewar debt among the new states formed from territory formerly belonging to that empire.

The frontiers between German Austria and Italy, and probably the Adriatic settlement, will also figure in the Austrian treaty.

The President spent the morning in conference with Messrs. Clemenceau, Lloyd George and Orlando formulating a programme for consideration of the problem connected with the treaties with Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey.

TO CONSULT BERLIN.

Intimations reaching the Peace Conference from Versailles lead to the belief that two or three members of the German peace delegation probably will return to Germany to consult their government, the others remaining at Versailles.

Germany has not yet submitted any communication with regard to the peace treaty. All the exchanges between the delegation at Versailles and the home government are being kept secret.

A copy of the treaty is well on its way to Berlin. A German courier left at 9 o'clock last night bearing it with Count Brockdorff-Rantzau's first report on the negotiations.

The peace treaty with Germany, the Echo de Paris says today, will be presented to the Parliament for ratification, probably about the fourth or fifth of June.

Thomas Nelson Page, the American Ambassador to Italy, notified the American delegation to the Peace Conference today that he was starting from Rome for Paris this morning. The Ambassador reported that he had a long conference with the French Ambassador at Rome over the Adriatic question.

AMERICA ARMENIA'S GUARD.

It is expected that the United States will be asked to become the mandatory for Armenia. The indications are that President Wilson will submit the matter to Congress.

The first move toward an alliance between France, Great Britain and the United States supplementing the peace treaty, it is understood, was made by Premier Clemenceau in a letter to President Wilson. Later letters passed between Premier Lloyd George and President Wilson, which it is understood brought out the fact that, while the British and French premiers were free to conclude arrangements, President Wilson could not do so without Congressional action. This, in turn, developed the present tendency of the negotiations to place the whole matter before the American Congress.

The proposed alliance is an effort to meet the French demand for military security against German aggression. The terms are general.

WIRELESS TO BERLIN.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BERLIN, Wednesday, May 7.—Wireless communication between Nauen and the Eiffel Tower in Paris has been resumed so that the German peace delegation can keep in close touch with Berlin. The Foreign Office here is connected with Nauen by direct wire and the peace delegation has a direct wire from Versailles to the Eiffel Tower. Both wireless stations are equipped with receiving apparatus.

AUSTRIANS LEAVE SUNDAY.

VIENNA, Tuesday, May 6.—The German Austrian peace delegation includes Dr. Franz Klein, Prof. Heinrich Lammasch, Prof. Von Laun, Undersecretary Flucke and Deputies Stegliger and Rudolph Todgman. Flucke will represent the Tyrol and Deputy Todgman the German Bohemians.

[Dr. Franz Klein, chairman of the German-Austrian peace delegation, was Minister of Justice in the Austrian Cabinet from 1906 to 1909. He is 63 years old and a graduate of the University of Vienna. In 1898 a code of civil law, prepared by Dr. Klein, was put in operation in Austria and earned the author a high place in legal circles in Austria and Germany. Prof. Lammasch was Premier of Austria when the armistice was signed and previously had been a member of the law faculty of the University of Vienna. Prof. Rudolph von Laun also was connected with the law school of the University of Vienna, as was Dr. Klein. Rudolph Lodgman has sat in the Austrian lower house as a representative of the German-Bohemians for many years.]

POSTAL ANNOUNCES EIGHT-HOUR SYSTEM.

DAY OPERATORS' HOURS SHORTENED; NIGHT OPERATORS' TIME INCREASED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 8.—Charles P. Bruch, general manager of the Postal Telegraph system, announced here today that effective June 1 the eight-hour day and time and a half for overtime had been adopted for all the system's employees in fifty-one large and small cities in the United States.

Mr. Bruch said all the details of the change in working conditions, which, he added, had been approved by Postmaster-General Burleson, had not been worked out, but that the preliminary order stated that the shorter work day would apply to "all employees in Postal offices working under similar conditions or doing work corresponding to that of employees in the service of other telegraph companies in the fifty-one cities."

Morse operators, he said, were now employed on day "tricks" of nine hours and night "tricks" of seven and a half hours. One June 1, he said, the day operators would work fewer hours and the night operators' time would be increased.

"We plan to pay all of our employees as well and give them as good working conditions as anyone," said Mr. Bruch, "but it is a complicated problem and will require a little time to work out the details."

TO IMPORT 4,000,000 BUSHELS OF WHEAT.

FLOUR PRICES SHOW DISTINCT DECLINE DURING PAST WEEK SAYS BARNES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 8.—Julius Barnes, United States wheat director, announced tonight on his return from Chicago that he had completed negotiations to bring 4,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat into the United States for distribution to the mills.

These negotiations have been in progress for several days with the Canadian authorities, it was said.

Director Barnes announced further that this quantity of imported wheat will be sufficient for those mills which have not provided their stocks up to the new crop. He has reached this opinion, he stated, after a survey of the entire mill situation in this country, in which he found that many mills are stocked with more than they can possibly grind before the new crop is harvested.

Reports reaching the grain corporation today indicated that the nervousness and excitement heretofore ruling in the flour market in the United States are being gradually allayed and that flour prices have shown a distinct decline in the past week.

ASK FOR AN OPINION ON ANTI-ALIEN LAW.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, May 8.—As a result of a hearing today by the California Highway Commission, on labor complaints presented by representatives of various unions, the attorney-general will be asked for an opinion as to the State's right to insist upon observance by contractors of the restriction that no aliens shall be employed on public work.

Where the commission has been carrying on road improvements by day's work, the anti-alien law has been observed, but contractors have failed to follow it, it was said.

A protest was also made by the union labor delegation against long hours imposed in one instance where a contractor was employing men on twelve-hour shifts. The practice had been stopped, when it came to the commission's notice, it was stated.

TWO NC PLANES REACH HALIFAX

Harry Sadenwater, radio operator; Chief Machinist's Mate C. I. Kessler, engineer; Machinist Rasmus Christensen, reserve pilot, engineer, the latter going only as far as Newfoundland.

A pathetic incident in connection with the flight occurred when the news of the start was telephoned to Chief Mechanic E. H. Howard, who was to have been a member of the crew of the NC-4 and whose left hand was cut off by one of the plane's propellers yesterday. An attempt was made to have him speak over the telephone. After a few minutes the nurse who answered the call returned and said:

"You will have to excuse him. He feels pretty bad."

DIRIGIBLE CAUSES COMMENT.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 8.—The departure of a navy dirigible balloon, the C-4, from Rockaway Beach air station about the time the NC planes were starting on their trans-Atlantic flight led to reports that the dirigible was to attempt a flight to Halifax independently. Inquiry disclosed, however, that the dirigible's mission was one in connection with the Victory Liberty Loan.

LEIPSIC STRIKE TO FOLLOW OCCUPATION.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, May 7.—It is reported in Leipsic that a great force of government troops have been concentrated in Saxony with the intention of occupying Leipsic. The Leipsic workmen as a result have decided on a general strike, an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen says.

PLACARDS IN BERLIN ASK JEWS' MASSACRE.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, May 8.—An Exchange Telegraph Company dispatch from Berlin reports that hatred against the Jews has been displayed recently in the German capital and that placards have been distributed asking the citizens to massacre Jews because, the notices assert, the Jews killed 200 children at Easter.

As a result of this feeling and of reports from Vilna that Jews have been murdered there, it is added, leading Jews have requested the American commission in Berlin to assist the Jews in Berlin and other German cities.

Summer Complaint Quickly Relieved.

"About two years ago when suffering a severe attack of summer complaint, I took Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy and it relieved me almost instantly," writes Mrs. Henry Jewett, Clark Mills, N. ## TREATY NOT ALL FRENCH DESIRED

Paris Comment is Only Faintly Enthusiastic.

London Reviewers are Generally Commendatory.

Berlin to Resist Effort at "Oppression" Report.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, May 8.—The peace treaty does not arouse much enthusiasm in the French press. The newspaper commentators generally condemn it with faint praise.

M. Capus, in the Figaro, says:

"Evidently the treaty only represents the greatest possible approximation of a finished and definite article. It is a human thing, not a dream and an abstraction. It assures energy to the victorious peoples, principally the French. If France gives way at the knees, the treaty will be but a vain pact between grotesque shadows."

M. Serve, in Victoire, says he is almost satisfied with the treaty, and adds:

"It is just the peace we dreamed of, without violence, annexations and conquests, but containing nearly all the restitutions, reparations and guarantees we could reasonably expect."

After analyzing the chief clauses of the peace treaty, the Temps makes the following comment:

LAUDS CLEMENCEAU.

"The experience of the war is still quite fresh. What we have learned from it is that France, the British Empire and the United States have, thanks to their invincible soldiers, crushed Germany and caused the Hohenzollern empire to collapse in Berlin, although the Germans still held territorial pledges and strategic positions in front of Paris. Premier Clemenceau never gave up hoping that victory would be ours, and he is clever enough to discern among the other difficulties that would arise from victory the new conditions needed for French security, and he had managed to realize them.

"Foreign Minister Pichon assisted the Premier with the most unswerving devotednedd and Andre Tardieu has contributed to the work of peacemaking with clearsightedness, powerful will and capacity for the task. France will be grateful to them for their good service."

The Echo de Paris, which has been a consistent critic of the Peace Conference, ends its article in review of the peace treaty as follows:

"Let us make the best of what we have; we must not undervalue it; we must work loyally with out British and American friends."

The Petit Journal sums up its opinion on the document as follows:

"To put it short, although the treaty as it stands does not give those concerned all the compensation they had a right to expect, it is an honorable compromise and deserves a favorable reception."

LONDON COVENANT.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, May 8.—The peace terms, while receiving considerable approval from almost the entire London press, do not escape from sharp criticism on certain points. The objections center mainly on the question of financial compensation from Germany.

The Morning Post says: "Germany certainly will not accept it except under duress."

The Daily Mail says: "If the summary actually represents the text, the provisions are good on the military and naval side, but dangerously full of loopholes on the financial side."

The treaty is described by the Daily Telegraph as stern and stringent, although without a trace of brutal exercise of mere victorious force.

"Germany is handcuffed and in irons from top to toe," says the Daily News. "She appealed to force and must take the consequences."

The heaviest part of the sentence, the News adds, is contained in the economic and financial terms.

"We demand," it continues, "both the golden eggs and the corpse of the goose that would lay them . . . It is hardly an exaggeration to say that Germany is first stripped naked and is then told to turn out her pockets."

The Herald, the labor organ, roundly denounces the whole treaty, saying: "There is no honor left for any of us. The League of Nations is a body without soul. President Wilson has been beaten. He forced public acceptance of his high ideals on the other powers, but they have beaten him secretly."

BERLIN VIEWS.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BERLIN, May 8.—The National Zeitung today publishes what it terms the official standpoint the government expects to take regarding the peace terms.

The government, according to the newspaper, will refuse to sign any point of the treaty which provides for "oppression of Germany." For instance, the Entente standpoint regarding Dansig and the Saar Valley will not be accepted. The German delegates, however, will make every effort to institute negotiations on these and other unacceptable demands, says the National Zeitung.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE, May 8.—Proposal to call a general strike of union waterfront workers in all Pacific Coast ports from Prince Rupert, B.C., to San Diego, in sympathy with the demands of the Seattle Longshoremen's Union, will be put to a ballot of all coast longshoremen's unions, if approved the strike will be called immediately afterward.

This was the unanimous recommendation of the Pacific Coast district, International Longshoremen's Association, adopted at its annual convention here today. The strike resolution followed a conference held with District Railroad Director L. C. Gilman, who was asked by union officials to discharge non-union workers at railroad terminal docks, the cause of the local controversy. The Federal representative, it was said, made only the concession that in future water-front workers would be engaged through union halls. This reply was considered unsatisfactory by the union delegates.

the planes approached one of vessels long before it was sighted, the long distance radio was buzzing. Questions and answers flashed back and forth, dealing with directions for navigation. Important communications were relayed to and from the speeding seaplanes, some from Washington. One carried greetings to Commander Towers and his crews from Acting Secretary Roosevelt, who watched the trip with keen interest all day as the department's messages came in. Another relayed cabled assurances from London that every facility of the British Admiralty would be at the disposal of the American airmen when they reached British waters.

The communication arrangements of the department worked out perfectly. Repeatedly messages from Commander Towers, sent from the flagship of the speeding squadron, the NC-1, reached the desks of officers here in a few minutes of the time they were sent. Intercepted by any of the radio stations ashore or afloat on the chain reaching clear to Halifax, they were rushed to Washington on the navy's leased wire.

The entire operation of the system was grouped under the direction of Lieut. Tunis A. M. Craven.

Throughout the day, Lieut. Craven kept a communications log on the flight, made up from the messages that came. The log pictures graphically the swift rush northward of the big flying boats with their crews. Even the fifty minutes that elapsed after the NC-1 and NC-3 were safely moored for the night at Halifax and before the cruiser Baltimore, stationed there, sent in the official report of the arrival is shown. Had not that slip occurred, it could have been known officially in London that two of the three American seaboats had made the first lap of the trans-Atlantic journey on schedule time, almost before the machines themselves had been moored.

More difficulty will be experienced in getting word through promptly when the long lap from Newfoundland to the Azores starts. When the fifth or sixth station ship has been left behind communication will have to speed ahead to be relayed back by cable. The destroyers cannot communicate more than 250 miles by radio in day time and they will leave their posts after the last of the flyers has passed.

KOLCHAK IN PURSUIT OF REDS IN FLIGHT.

OMSK GOVERNMENT TROOPS CONTINUE SUCCESSFUL OFFENSIVE OPERATIONS.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, May 8.—Admiral Kolchak, head of the Omsk government, continues his successful offensive operations, according to a report received from Omsk dated April 28. In the Simbursk region the Siberian forces, in active pursuit of the Bolsheviki, have occupied a number of places west of the station of Shantala. In the north the capture is announced of the town of Sergieffsk, the last place the Bolsheviki can stand until Samara is reported.

South of the Kazan-Kekaterinburg railway the Reds are retreating, closely pursued by the Siberians who have captured several towns and considerable war material.

Admiral Kolchak has also captured Christopol, on the Kama, taking steamers, guns and large supplies of ammunition.

CRITICS FEAR PACT IS SHY.

contained in the League of Nations covenant to publish all international conventions or agreements made hereafter, but the events of the past few weeks have shown the statesmen of the world that such agreements are full of trouble and as a general proposition interfere with the maintenance of good relations between governments.

JAPAN'S WORD ONLY.

One of the criticisms of the action of the council of three in giving Japan the rights possessed by Germany in the Chinese province is that the council failed to obtain in advance Japan's promised undertaking to cede to China her territorial and political rights in the Shantung Peninsula. Whether this criticism is just is a matter of opinion. Japan has passed her solemn word that she will restore Chinese territorial and political sovereignty in Shantung. No time limit for her to keep this pledge is provided. Japan having protested that to fix such a limit would be a reflection on her good faith. But, apparently, the Allied statesmen in assenting to it not only relied on Japan's honorable obligation, as a civilized nation, but believed that, if any extended period should elapse without Japan's fulfilment of her obligations, the opinion of the world would force her to carry out her pledge.

The situation in this respect approximates the victory achieved by John Hay in giving to the press his note of July 3, 1900, in which all the nations engaged in joint operations against the Boxers were called on to furnish assurances that they would preserve the administrative and territorial integrity of China. Through this early instance of the potent effect of publicity in international affairs a world opinion was created which shamed Germany and Russia into abandoning their intention of exploiting what was then the Chinese empire.

FINANCIAL PLANS.

There are also important questions to be settled by the Allies which will not be recorded in the peace treaty. Among them is the matter of financial arrangements to put Europe on its feet. Last week the announcement was made that the United States had rejected the British proposal that the Allied governments guarantee the German loan up to $5,000,000,000, so as to enable Germany to pay her initial or cash reparational installment to the Allied governments, and through this assistance be in a position to consult her own available assets to begin rebuilding domestic industry.

This announcement is the first formal acknowledgement of the important American policy in dealing with after-the-war financial questions. The American financial delegates, with the approval of President Wilson and the Treasury Department, made it plain the United States would not enter into any agreement with the other Allied governments for extending financial help to Europe. This policy is a phase of the formula which has been emphasized for several months by the American financial experts in dealing with the Allied financial representatives, particularly by Bernard Baruch, who reduced the formula to the words, "Let Europe go to work." He never lost an opportunity at the sessions of the Inter-Allied commission on reparations to emphasize the fact that this was the way in which the financial difficulties confronting the European nations could be solved.

BARUCH'S ARGUMENT.

The argument advanced by Baruch was that, outside the fact that American public opinion would not tolerate much longer the policy of the government in advancing money to the European allies, practical sense dictated that European business concerns should obtain private credits to start the wheels of industry and commerce anew. It was pointed out that, if assurances were obtained by 'American financiers that the money loaned to industrial concerns in Europe would be used in the resumption of active business operations the loans would be forthcoming; but the time had passed when Europe must expect the American government to do financing of this sort.

Mr. Baruch prepared a statement about two months ago, to be issued in his name, in which these views were set forth, and the formula of "let Europe go to work" was laid down; but for some reason the statement was withheld. The closing days of peace adjustments, however, have brought the matter to a final issue, and the announcement the other day concerning the British loan proposal was intended to let the Allied governments know that the United States had determined to enter into no joint arrangement for extending financial help to the war-worn countries.

This announcement disposed of the suggestion, which has been persistently advanced, that the American government considers itself as having entered the war in August, 1914, and accepted the obligation to share the expenses incurred by its European Allies for the entire war period.

IN TRADE PACT.

In line with this American policy, the United States government, it is learned, has joined Great Britain in the decision not to enter into discriminatory trade compacts directed against Germany. Other Allied governments will not follow this policy, but will provide for discrimination against German trade. The attitude of the United States and Great Britain is said to be in consonance with the long-standing opposition of President Wilson to trade favoritism in dealing with other nations in time of peace. His statement on the subject was construed at the time as a criticism of the agreement between the Allied governments to combine against Germany after the war.

In some quarters the President's statement was construed as meaning that he was seeking to bring about a free trade arrangement between the United States and the rest of the world; but it is now explained that he meant only that all nations should be on a basis of trade equality with the United States. The present attitude of the British, as it is understood, indicates that the prior Allied arrangement will not be adhered to.

One of the subjects which is under discussion, but which will not be covered in the peace treaty, is the disposition of the German merchant ships taken by the Allied countries in the course of the war. All these nations, except the United States, passed the seized German merchantmen through their prize courts. The proposal has been advanced in inter-Allied councils that the German vessels which passed through the prize courts be disposed of as the prize courts decreed, but that all other seized German vessels be distributed among the Allied nations according to their shipping losses in the period of hostilities.

SHIPS INVOLVED.

This would mean according to the American interpretation that the German ships in possession of the United States will be distributed among the other Allies, while the United States would not get any of the German vessels already given to the Allied governments by the prize courts. The American position is that the United States took the German ships in the same circumstances and for the same purposes as the other Allies did and that the question of their final ownership is one between the United States and Germany and not between the United States and the Allied governments.

The German merchant shipping seized by Great Britain approximates 480,000 tons; by France, 450,000; by Brazil, 200,000, and by the United States, 600,000. Should the scheme of distribution according to Allied marine loss be carried out the United States and Brazil would be obliged to surrender the bulk of their German merchant prizes.

Belgium's dissatisfaction over the decision of the governing council to give Belgium no priority of German indemnity beyond $500,000,000 is another thing which has delayed the final settlement of the reparational question. There are some less important points to be adjusted but most questions unadjusted—major and minor—have no part in the peace treaty and can be determined while the German plenipotentiaries are considering the Allied terms, unless the preparation of the Austrian peace treaty takes up all the time of the representatives of the great powers.

SHORE COMMUNICATION IS CONSTANT

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEWPORT (R. I.) May 8.—The naval radio station here was in constant communication with the three naval planes as they passed along the southern New England coast on their flight to Halifax. The flyers reported that the machines were working satisfactorily and making good progress.

The No. 4 was lightly in the lead, with the No. 3 second and the No. 1 close behind.

CHATHAM (Mass.) May 8.—The three American hydroairplanes passed the Chatham naval station on their flight to Halifax at 1:23 p.m. Taking their bearings from Chatham they appeared to be pointing northeastward on the Cape Sable course.

BRITISH FLIGHT DELAY IN COMMONS

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON (via Montreal) May 8.—Brig.-Gen. Seely, Parliamentary Undersecretary, replying to a member in the House of Commons today, contradicted a report that the Air Ministry had recently interrogated the prospective Atlantic flyers regarding the reasons for their delay in starting. The attitude of the Air Ministry, far from urging on the attempt, he said, was to enjoin caution. The officers attempting the flight were not under the ministry's control.

Nevertheless, continued the Undersecretary, every possible information was afforded them and also every assistance regarding navigation and wireless service which could make the venture safer. The record of each of the British competitors, he said, was such that they could well afford to decide the practicability of flight without fear or cavil.

STRIKE CLOSES BIG AUTOMOBILE PLANT.

COMPANY ANNOUNCES COURSE, FOLLOWING CLASH BETWEEN MEN AND POLICE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TOLEDO (O.) May 8.—The plant of the Willys-Overland Company was closed late this afternoon by Clarence A. East, vice-president of the company, following a clash between strikers and police, in which bricks, stones and clubs were used as weapons.

The trouble resulted when several hundred strikers attempted to talk with employees who had refused to join their ranks.

Nearly 100 policemen were rushed to the plant when a citizen reported a disturbance. Headquarters was notified that crowds were gathering in the streets and menacing the police already there and nonstrikers.

It was announced later by Henry F. Herbert, Chief of Police, that none of his men was injured. All traffic policemen were taken from the streets and ordered to report at the plant.

Labor officials claim 10,000 men are on strike.

Vice-President Earl gave out a statement tonight that the plant will be closed indefinitely to "protect the lives of the workingmen."

SACRAMENTO PLANES ARRIVE IN NEVADA.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR FLIGHT FROM MATHER FIELD TO DEL MONTE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

RENO (Nev.) May 8.—Two of the three airplanes flying from Sacramento to Ogden, Utah, reached Reno safely, while the third machine is now in Carson City.

The first plane, a De Haviland, piloted by Lieut. Beck, arrived in Reno yesterday noon, and left this morning for Winnemucca. Lieut. Fetters, flying a Curtiss plane, landed in Carson City yesterday, and flew to Reno this morning, leaving soon afterwards for Lovelock.

In attempting to get off the ground at Carson City yesterday afternoon, Lieut. Curtis's plane dived to the ground from a low altitude, and the propeller blade was broken. He was not hurt. Curtis will fly to Fallon and thence to Salt Lake, while Beck will stop at Elko after leaving Winnemucca.

MATHER FIELD, Sacramento, May 8.—Plans have been completed for a flight of a squadron of about eight airplanes from Mather Field to Del Monte, Saturday, in the interest of the Victory Loan and of recruiting for the army air service, it was announced today. The squadron will be commanded by Col. H. L. Watson, commanding officer of the field. The aviators will remain over Sunday at Del Monte.

SAYS INFORMATION IS CHIEF NEED OF RUSSIA.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) May 8.—The hope of Russia lies in the fact that those in authority, but who come in touch with the people daily are honest, intelligent and intensely earnest in their desire to learn what is needed for Russia's salvation, according to William Fletcher Russell, dean of the College of Education, University of Iowa, who recently returned from a mission to Russia on behalf of the government, making a survey of Russia's education needs.

"What those people over there need is information," Dean Russell said tonight, speaking before the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Association in session here. "If we could put into the country a group of experts in various branches—say two or three experts in educational lines, who would go there under the guise of seeking an exchange of information, rather than teaching them, we could accomplish much for them."

Dean Russell said Russia is in dire need of school supplies.

HUMBERT ACQUITTED OF TRAITOR CHARGE.

PLAN CALIFORNIA-HAWAII FLIGHT.

Whatever the outcome of the present attempt at flight across the Atlantic, American aviators soon will try to fly from a point on the coast of California to the Hawaiian Islands, according to Maj. Jefferson Davis of the army air service. Maj. Davis, who formerly was a prominent San Diego lawyer, was in Los Angeles last night on his way to San Francisco, where he will hold a conference with others interested in the proposed Pacific flight.

From California to Hawaii will be several hundred miles further than the longest step in the present flight across the Atlantic. The starting point from here has not yet been selected, but San Pedro has been favorably considered.

Among those with whom Maj. Davis will consult in San Francisco in relation to the projected flight is Maj.-Gen. William N. Kenly, who was director of military aeronautics during the war. Maj. Davis was a staff officer under Gen. Kenly at Washington.

A number of aerial organizations, in both the West and East are said by Maj. Davis to be interested in the new transocean project and the same flyers and hydroairplanes participating in the present Atlantic flight may be among those entered to start from here over the Pacific.

A prize fund for the first successful flight from California to Hawaii will be raised, Maj. Davis stated. It is probable that definite plans for the event will be announced within the next two weeks.

ARIZONA NEWS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX, May 8.—This afternoon Superior Judge Lyman started hearing on the application of Col. Charles W. Harris for an injunction against Gov. Campbell to restrain the latter from interference with Harris in the office of Adjutant-General.

Attorney Pugh for Harris flatly claimed that the Legislature of 1917 had made Harris's tenure perpetual and that the Legislature had appointing power co-equal with that of the Governor in cases not fixed by the Constitution. It was alleged that Campbell had no more power to remove Harris than the latter had to remove the Governor.

Also it was claimed the action of the Governor in sending a sergeant and file of soldiers to dispossess Harris of State property and records could not be honored, as there must first be appointment and qualification of a successor in office, he to assume responsibility.

Judge Sloan, for the Governor, did not discuss the rights of the Legislature, but contended that the action of the Legislature continuing the commissions of the Adjutant-General and other National Guard officers meant simply no new commissions need be issued in the transition period of the guard toward nationalization and that the old law thereby was not changed.

The city police is guarding the State Armory, which contains 500 Russian rifles and much ammunition.

Night sessions have been started in the trial of J. D. Newman, charged with the murder of Frank Hoctor on January 26. The case is one of the hardest-fought over tried locally. Newman is trying to support his story that he merely defended himself against Hoctor, a rival sheep man, and that there had been a duel from automobiles on the desert northwest of Phoenix. No weapon was found in Hoctor's machine. Today Mrs. Ella Leckberby testified that she drove by the scene of the tragedy soon after it happened and saw a man from a strange auto reach into Hoctor's car and take away something that shined.

Today reappointment was refused by the State Board of Education to I. Colodny, appointed by Hunt to be State Supervisor of Vocational Education.

GOULD HEIRS IN ROW OVER GREAT ESTATE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 8.—The heirs of Jay Gould, the railroad financier, who accumulated one of America's greatest private fortunes, are in a quarrel over the $33,000,000 estate he left them. His son, George J. Gould, chief executor of the estate, is required by a State supreme court order signed today to show cause why he should not be removed.

Gould is charged with frauds "perpetrated by him even on his own brothers and sisters," and which "resulted in an aggregate loss to the estate of $25,000,000," in affidavits filed in the supreme court by his brother, Frank J. Gould, his sister, the Duchess de Talleyrand, formerly Anna Gould, Countess de Castellane, and the guardians of a number of the Gould children of the third generation.

In an answering affidavit George Gould denies the charges and is supported by a deposition made by Mrs. Helen Gould Sheppard, his sister, formerly Miss Helen Miller Gould. Mrs. Sheppard declares that the charges are "inaccurate and distinctly misleading."

The affidavits were filed in connection with a petition by Frank Gould and his associates to have George Gould removed as executor of the estate. He was appointed under the will of his father, who died in December, 1892, and who bequeathed him $500,000 in cash and $4,500,000 in securities as a reward for his services. This was in addition to a sixth share of the main estate which was vested in a trust fund for the benefit of his six children.

FINE ORANGE CROP.

Growers in Porterville Section Ship 750 Cars.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PORTERVILLE, May 8.—Valencia oranges of a much higher grade than was expected early in the season are now being shipped from this section, with the prospect that more than 750 cars will be marketed from this district for the season. On the basis of the present price, the total value of the crop to the growers should approximate $1,000,000.

According to statements made by the leading packers, there has been a small proportion of damage from cold weather. Culled fruit is this year, for the first time, being converted into marmalade and other by-products, which is resulting in a material increase in gross income to the orchard owners.

AZUSA OVER THE TOP.
[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

AZUSA, May 8.—With 10 per cent. to spare this city went over the top in the Victory Loan. The allotment was $100,850 and more than $101,000 has been raised. There were 330 subscribers. $10,000 was the largest subscription, and loan workers say they had less difficulty in reaching their quota at this time than on any of the five occasions they have offered government securities for sale.

HOME FROM SERVICE.
[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, May 8.—Lieut. Edward Lehman, of the Medical Corps, who for eighteen months has been with a United States hospital unit in charge of a British hospital at Rouen, arrived home today. He says they took care of 64,000 wounded men while in charge of the hospital. It was a base hospital, but did the work of an evacuation hospital most of the time.

AN APPRECIATED LUXURY FOR THE MAN WHO SHAVES.

PHYSICIANS know that a skin made tender through daily shaving needs a sure safeguard against irritation and infection. The man who enjoys the luxury of a shave at home will always apply Santiseptic Lotion after shaving. Santiseptic possesses exceptional healing and antiseptic properties, it is soothing, cooling and refreshing and it imparts a soft, velvety quality to the skin; it leaves a pleasing finish and assures entire freedom from tenderness or irritation of the face after shaving, ingrown hairs, etc. A shave can never be "too close" for the man who uses Santiseptic; its cleanly, healthful odor appeals to most men.

Santiseptic has many other uses, women use it for the complexion, mothers in the nursery to keep the baby's tender skin pink and sweet. It is invaluable for use in cases of mosquito, flea or other insect bites; for sunburn windburn, tan; and for eczema and other skin affections. Santiseptic is easily procured at most drug and department stores. If you cannot secure it send 50 cents, with dealer's name, to the Esbencott Laboratories, Portland, Or., for a full-size bottle, postpaid.—Adv.

ENGLAND HAS PUT ONE OVER.

Steals a March in Indianapolis Sweepstakes.

Cars Incorporate New Principles of Design.

Maximum Speed is Still an Unknown Quantity.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

INDIANAPOLIS, May 8.—England has put one over on her competitors in the international 500-mile Liberty Sweepstakes on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, May 31.

With the arrival of the English Sunbeam racing cars that Jean Chassagne and Dario Resta will pilot in the big five-century event, it developed that these machines incorporate several startlingly new principles of design, gleaned from the experience of the Sunbeam engineers in the manufacture of aviation motors, and that they were built especially to meet the peculiar conditions presented by the Indianapolis track, a secret carefully guarded hertofore.

The maximum speed of the new racing creations is as yet an unknown quantity, as they are too fast to be run over the roads, and there is no suitable test track at present in England, the famous Brooklands oval having been badly torn up by heavy trucks passing over it to and from a large aviation field maintained there during the war.

The cars are fitted with six-cylinder ball-bearing crankshaft engines, with 80x150 mm. bore and stroke, and develop 152 horse power at their normal crankshaft speed of 3000 r.p.m. They are equipped with four-speed transmissions and have a wheelbase of only 108 inches, to accommodate themselves to the short radius of the Indianapolis turns.

Louis Coatalen, a designer of the Sunbeam cars, and managing director and chief engineer of the Sunbeam factory, will supervise the tests of his latest racing creations at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway in person. The presence of Coatalen in this country as manager of the Sunbeam team is an indication that England will make the greatest effort she has yet put forth to win first honors in an Indianapolis event.

At present the Sunbeam team is handicapped because of its failure to bring along any mechanicians, owing to the impossibility of securing the necessary passports in time. Efforts are being made to enlist the aid of several competent Americans to man the pits and to ride with the Europeans in the big race.

Besides being out to win the Indianapolis contest, the Sunbeam team will endeavor to establish a new one-hour record of the Sheepshead Bay track in New York City before reshipping the cars to England. An effort was made to arrange this trial before the cars left New York for Indianapolis, but the idea did not prove feasible. The hour record was held by Jean Chassagne in a Sunbeam before being broken recently by Ralph DePalma with a Packard.

CHURCHES ARE URGED TO COMBAT BREWERS.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE COUNSEL SAYS FACTS MUST BE USED IN CAMPAIGN.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]
CLEVELAND, May 8.—American churches were urged today by Wayne B. Wheeler of Washington, D. C., to ask Congress to enact a code to enforce national prohibition. Mr. Wheeler, who is general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League of America, was speaking before the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America in session here.

"The brewers are working through all these camouflage organizations which are attacking war and constitutional prohibition," declared Mr. Wheeler. "The hotel men's associations, the so-called soldiers' protests, the 'no-beer, no work' campaign, the legal battles to prove that beer is not intoxicating and many others are part of a national programme to influence Congress against enacting an effective law-enforcement code as authorized by the eighteenth amendment. The temperance forces must throw the light on these methods of the brewers and their allies, who are attempting to nullify an amendment to the Constitution adopted by fifteen-sixteenths of the States of the Union, representing over 95 per cent. of the population under majority rule.

"There must be a united front to urge upon Congress the necessity of enacting as good or better a prohibition enforcement code than that which we find in the average prohibition State. An aggressive campaign should be launched at once to enlighten the people about the danger of the intoxicating quality of beer. It is the most dangerous in the liquor rattlesnake family. It takes more of the liquid to make people drunk, but its ultimate effect is as bad as the stronger liquors.

"The brewers' affidavits and experiments upon drinkers show the line of their attack. It must be met with facts and not theories. A great constructive programme should be made to point the way to new business opportunities for self-betterment under the new era. Over two billions a year will be available for the new lines of expenditure. By proper enlightenment much of this will be used for home betterment, education and self-improvement.

"American patriots must do their part in the campaign for world-wide prohibition. Universal democracy and universal sobriety must go hand in hand. The liquor traffic is an enemy to both.

"Now that nation-wide prohibition is a part of our Federal Constitution, we have the right to expect every patriot to sustain it and help to enforce it until it is modified or repealed in a legal and orderly manner."

BURGLARS SHOOT NIGHT POLICEMAN.

OFFICER AT PASO ROBLES VICTIM OF FIGHT WITH YEGGMEN.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
PASO ROBLES, May 8.—David N. Morehouse, night watchman for the city of Paso Robles, was shot and killed at 5 o'clock yesterday morning while trying to arrest burglars whom he surprised in the act of robbing the store of the Paso Robles Mercantile Company.

Persons in the vicinity heard eight shots fired in rapid succession, and on investigating found Morehouse lying in a vacant lot, still alive. He died a few minutes later. He was struck four times, one shot passing through his heart, one through the right breast, one through the abdomen and the fourth through the knuckle of the index finger of the left hand, passing out through the ball of the thumb and grazing his left side.

Four men were seen leaving the vicinity of the shooting soon after the shots were fired, two going into the City Park and two others, one of whom still carried a gun, making for the railroad tracks. A posse was organized and has been scouring the northern part of the county all day, but with no results.

Morehouse had lived here for many years, and was highly respected. He was 58 years old and was a widower.

AVERT TEAMSTERS' STRIKE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
PORTLAND (Or.) May 8.—A city-wide strike of 1500 teamsters, members of the local teamsters' union, was averted early today when the organization after prolonged debate instructed its Executive Committee to conduct further negotiations. The teamsters ask a 50 per cent. general raise on the prevailing scale which provides a minimum of $4 per day.

BUDAPEST, CITY WITHOUT SOULS.

Streets Thronged with People with Nowhere to Go.

No Disorder, no Looting, Except by Government.

End of Bolshevism in Hungary Approaching.

BY FARMER MURPHY.
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
VIENNA, May 5 (via Paris, May 8.—A city without souls is the way an intelligent man just arrived from Budapest describes the place.

The stranger arrives and sees the streets thronged with people walking up and down the same as in any busy city. They have the appearance of being on business but in reality they have no business. They walk the streets because there is nothing else to do.

Because of the dividing up of all property the workmen all have money but there is nothing to buy. Street after street of shops stand closed staring into vacancy because they have nothing to sell. The shops that still had some stocks have been almost denuded of them. The mad scrambles in the meat lines are such that every day people are crushed to death.

Despite there being no work and little food there is nothing for anybody to do but to idle about. There is no disorder. According to this informant Bela Kun deserves credit for moderation and keeping the strictest kind of order. There is no looting, no stealing by individuals: what violence has been done to property or persons has been done in the name of the state and according to Bolshevist rules.

Bela Kun now is regarded as conservative. The three radical leaders, Kammels, Vago and Pogetny, demand free looting and terrorism, but so far Bela Kun has kept them in restraint. The people believe the end of Bolshevism is almost in sight, and they only hope it will not end with anarchy.

PRAY FOR DELIVERANCE.

There is no nationalist feeling aroused in Hungary by the Rumanian advance, and they are all so sick of the Bolshevists they would welcome any kind of deliverance from any source. At first the Hungarians resented the coming of the Rumanians, Serbians or Czechs and wanted the Entente forces, if any were sent to their country. Now it's a case of "anybody, oh Lord, anybody," and they would be willing to have the country divided up in order to secure peace and order.

The reason for believing the Bolshevists are near their end is that they are doing nothing of a constructive nature and when all the reserves are used up which they have seized they are through. It is like the countryman who saves up money for weeks and then goes to town to get drunk. He has a wonderful time while the money lasts, but when it is gone, he has to go back to work.

Budapest is a city in hiding. Everybody is engaged in hiding valuables, papers and food. Everybody would leave, if they could, and an American passport could be sold for $200,000. The business of running contraband out is brisk.

The most striking thing about the appearance of the city is everything has been covered with red that can be covered. Having used up all the red paint, red paper is employed to cover buildings, flagpoles and street lamps. The Bolshevists have made wooden frames of the shape of globes, covered them with red papers and have covered all statues of kings and other national heroes with them. A deft little Bolshevist touch they have tied ropes around the necks of the statues.

ARMY FARES WELL.

For food there is flour for some time. Vegetables are coming in now, but there is little or no meat or fats. There is a small reserve of stocks for some families, but they are liable to be found by search, and seized. Farmers in the country won't send supplies in because they are often seized by the soldiers, and even if sold the farmers do not regard Hungarian money with favor. The Red Guard is fed before everyone else, so hundreds of men join the army just to get food.

The menu at the Astoria, one of the best hotels, for breakfast was bread, tea and uneatable jam; for dinner, cabbage and bread. The informant declared it could be truthfully said the people were near starvation. Judge Sawall, representative of the International Harvester Company, sent a maid to stand in line for milk at 6 a.m. She returned at 3 p.m., having been unable to get it, and she reported people had been crushed in the crowd.

When the Reds went into power they communized everything, as is already known, so no such thing as private property exists. You may be turned entirely out of your own house; but if you are allowed to remain, you pay the state rent for that. Rooms the state thinks you don't need are rented to any person at all. One very fine family, some of whose rooms have been rented by the state to a chimney sweep, coal heavers and others, all of a bad type, complained and asked if they couldn't have somebody better. The next they knew the chimney sweep had gone and the rooms were occupied by a street walker. This was the state's answer.

BATHS ARE PUBLIC.

People with a bathroom in their house are compelled to permit its use by anyone who asks, and to furnish soap and towels. The man who makes use of this opportunity goes out and tells others, with the result that the proletariat is trooping in all day to use the bath. The Bolshevists were not addicted to this practice, having from their appearance as much aversion to it as to the nobility, but they seem to have overcome natural prejudices in order to wreak their spite upon the owners.

Judges and police lawyers all have been discharged by the government and every action is tried by the revolutionary tribunal. There are three in the tribunal, which is formed by going out into the streets and picking up any three men whom the government may happen to find. They decide the case, and, having no interest and no responsibility, they are just as likely as not to give the accused a sentence of ten years if they do not like his face.

The communization of women was tried to the extent of letting any man declare himself as married to any woman he pleased, and then to another, by which the first one automatically was divorced, but the plan did not find favor and was abolished.

The informant says the army will not fight, is sick of war, and sees no difference between fighting for a king or fighting for a bunch of communists.

There is no night life in this city, which used to be famed for it, because there is nothing to eat or drink in the cafes; no fuel and consequently little light.

Budapest, in short, is a pulseless city, in which the crowds walk the streets with a harried look and wonder and dread what is coming next.

GEN. STRONG HEADS CAMP KEARNY AGAIN.

TO PREPARE QUARTERS FOR FOURTH DIVISION, NOW IN GERMANY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
CAMP KEARNY, May 8.—Maj.-Gen. Frederick S. Strong, who commanded the Fortieth Division while it was training at Camp Kearny, took the command to France and brought it back to this country for demobilization, arrived in San Diego this afternoon under orders to proceed to Camp Kearny and assume command here again.

When the Fortieth Division was declared officially demobilized, Gen. Strong was ordered to Camp Jackson, S. C. He left for that camp on April 20 and assumed command at his new post within a few days, but on his first day at Camp Jackson received orders to report to the Chief of Staff at Washington. On his arrival at the capital he was ordered to proceed at once to Camp Kearny and assume command here. He is to be retired from the service in November. The Fourth Division, now a part of the Army of Occupation in Germany, has been designated as the unit to come here. Gen. Strong hopes that he may have the men of this division well established in permanent quarters here before he leaves the service.

"The news that I was to come here was the best they could have given me," said the general this afternoon.

URGE AMERICA FOR ARMENIAN MANDATE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
NEW YORK, May 8.—Seventy-five bishops of the Episcopal church in America have urged upon President Wilson acceptance by the United States of a mandate under the League of Nations for Armenia, the Armenian Press Bureau announced tonight.

The President replied: "You may be sure I share the deep interest in the fate of Armenia."

PRESIDENT TO SEND MESSAGE BY CABLE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]
WASHINGTON, May 8.—As President Wilson will not be present at the opening of the special session of Congress May 19, he will cable his message from Paris, and it will be read immediately after Congress convenes. This was announced today at the White House.

Not within the memory of the oldest attache at the White House has a Congress met with the President absent from Washington.

GIVES ASSURANCES OF BUILDING PLANS.

TELEGRAM SAYS NO RADICAL CHANGES CONTEMPLATED BY SHIPPING BOARD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—No radical changes are contemplated in America's shipbuilding programme and the labor and building interests should feel assured of the security of the present plans, according to a telegram from J. L. Ackerson, vice-president of the Shipping Board, which was made public by the officers of the board here today. The new policy of the board will be determined shortly, the telegram said.

UNION CAULKERS WALK OUT.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]
PORTLAND (Or.) May 8.—The Emergency Fleet Corporation is on the verge of boycott by union organizations for alleged unfair practices at various yards in and about Portland, union officials said today.

Every union caulker at the Grant Smith-Porter Ship Company's local yard has walked out because of employment of nonunion beetlers and oakum spinners. Fleet corporation officials said the Grant Smith-Porter yard is owned by the corporation and as such any kind of labor can be employed.

TO HOLD CONFERENCE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]
OAKLAND, May 8.—A conference between representatives of the approximately 250,000 men employed in the metal trades on the Pacific Coast and representatives of the shipbuilders and other large employers on the Pacific Coast will be held in this city next week. The conference, which has been asked for by the Pacific Coast Metal Trades Council and the Pacific Coast Council, District 44, Boilermakers' and Shipworkers' Union, both of which are holding their annual conventions here, is for the purpose of drafting an agreement to replace the Macy award agreement.

A recent vote on the proposed agreement designed to replace the Macy award submitted to the metal trades workers at the recent Washington conference showed the workers of the Pacific Coast to be overwhelmingly opposed to the proposed new agreement which was of a national character. While many features of the agreement regarding working conditions and wage schedules were unsatisfactory, the main objections to it were that it did not take sufficiently into consideration the marked difference in conditions on the Pacific Coast and in the East. One important item of the new agreement will be the abolishment of piece work in Pacific Coast shipyards and boiler shops, it is believed, as a motion to this effect was adopted at both conventions.

A resolution indorsing the Mooney strike proposition was adopted by the boilermakers' convention late yesterday.

CITY ASSESSMENT BILL SIGNED BY GOVERNOR.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]
SACRAMENTO, May 8.—A bill by Assemblyman Locke permitting city officials to assess the whole city for improvement of a street where it is shown the work will result in general benefit, was among the four measures signed today by Gov. Stephens.

The Governor has signed 247 of the 854 bills sent to him by the Forty-third Legislature.

SAYS OUR INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS ARE WEAK.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]
CLEVELAND, May 8.—America's national weakness as revealed by the stress of war "is discovered to lie in our insecure and bad industrial relations," said Earl Dean Howard of Evanston, Ill., professor of economics and finance in Northwestern University in an address today before the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America. "Industrial autocracy, whether in the form of domination by corporations or by unions is our enemy at home even as German autocracy was our enemy over there," continued Prof. Howard.

"The idea of democracy as a method of adjusting human relationships, both politically and industrially, has taken deep root in the world, and this country may not hope to escape the logical consequences of the development of their tendency. The masses of people who depend upon industry for this entire livelihood are losing confidence in the system of free enterprise which is still largely autocratic in its methods.

"Unless the government and business management unite to restore general confidence in our industrial system, it is inevitable that social forces which are already in existence will find our country as unprepared to meet the supreme test as we were to face the war with Germany, and with much less hope of a satisfactory outcome. All of the constructive forces whether on the side of management or organized labor must join to satisfactorily adapt our industrial relations to the needs of the post-war conditions so as to deprive the racial and destructive forces of their power.

"If employers, by collective action or otherwise, are unwilling to assume responsibility for meeting the human needs of workers within industrial management itself, then assuredly responsibility will be assumed by organized labor or by the government or, at the very worst, by the proletariat in a Bolshevik form of government.

"'Democracy in industry' is even now becoming the foremost topic in economic discussion. It may be translated 'righteousness in business relations.'"

HIGHEST DECORATION IS AWARDED TO FIVE.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Award of the Congressional Medal of Honor to Lieut. Patrick Regan, One Hundred and Fifteenth Infantry, and Sergts. Benjamin Kaufman, Three Hundred and Eighth Infantry, Arthur J. Forrest, Three Hundred and Fifty-fourth Infantry; James E. Karnes, One Hundred and Seventeenth Infantry, and Edward R. Talley, One Hundred and Seventeenth Infantry, was announced today by the War Department. In each case the citation showed that the soldier single-handed advanced against and put out of action enemy machine-gun nests.

Gen. Pershing has cabled the War Department the names of twenty-four additional officers and enlisted men of the expeditionary forces to whom he has awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for acts of extraordinary bravery. The list includes Lieut. Joseph Swift (deceased,) Safford, Ariz.

5000 Made to Order Suits for $20 The Suit

Our $30 and $35 Values

Five thousand suits seem like a lot of suits, but at the rate we measured on Saturday, our opening day, the allotment of five thousand suits will not last quite as long as we expected.

The men we waited on Saturday were kind enough to tell us that our $20 suitings are of the best quality and the greatest values they have ever seen.

The woolens we are now selling at such ridiculously low prices were bought by us (in some instances at our own price,) from the big woolen speculators who got cold feet and became frightened at the prospect of a sharp decline after the armistice was signed.

In this fortunate purchase of ours you will find black and blue serges, brown and gray worsteds, fancy mixtures of every description and an endless variety of light shades; in fact, every imaginable color and weave, all for the small sum of $20.00.

Remember also, gentlemen, that we have a highly-organized institution from a tailoring point of view and that we guarantee every one of our garments to be a perfect fit, and we also guarantee prompt deliveries.

After reading this advertisement we suggest that you walk to our shop, 417 South Spring St., take a peep at our beautiful window display and let one of the young men show you the goods.

Better say: "Hello PYO-REM" before you say: "Good-bye Teeth"

Pyo-Rem is not merely a good tooth paste. It cleans your teeth; it polishes them; it whitens and preserves them—yes, all that! But, for that matter, so should every good dentifrice.

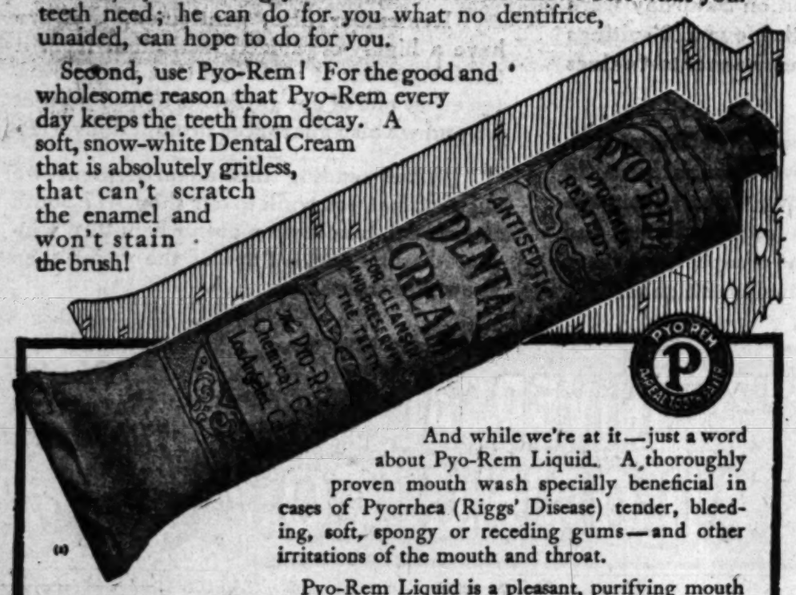
Then—why Pyo-Rem? Because—it prevents and cures acid-mouth, the underlying cause of tooth-decay.

This acid-mouth condition is said to be responsible for 90 per cent of all tooth troubles. It is a ruthless enemy that eats its way into the enamel—the "armorplate"—of your teeth. Result? The enamel breaks down, cavities are formed, germs enter and swiftly destroy the soft, interior pulp. And one by one go the good teeth so essential to good looks and good health.

How, then, can you overcome acid-mouth and its dangers?

First, by consulting your dentist— for he knows best what your teeth need; he can do for you what no dentifrice, unaided, can hope to do for you.

Second, use Pyo-Rem! For the good and wholesome reason that Pyo-Rem every day keeps the teeth from decay. A soft, snow-white Dental Cream that is absolutely gritless, that can't scratch the enamel and won't stain the brush!



And while we're at it—just a word about Pyo-Rem Liquid. A thoroughly proven mouth wash specially beneficial in cases of Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease) tender, bleeding, soft, spongy or receding gums—and other irritations of the mouth and throat.

Pyo-Rem Liquid is a pleasant, purifying mouth wash that makes the gums firm and healthy and the breath sweet.

And it is because of its peculiar properties—because of its antiseptic and astringent qualities—that Pyo-Rem Liquid has won a wide host of friends among the dental profession and the public. So much so, in fact, that it has come to be widely known as —the Dentist's Favorite Prescription

Your druggist has Pyo-Rem—or can easily get it for you. Ask for Pyo-Rem Dental Cream—in generous-sized tubes, 25 cents. Pyo-Rem Liquid in 8-oz. bottles, 50 cents.

Every State in Union in Middle West Division.

Colors of 353rd are Decorated with Cross of War.

Officers are Elected for Permanent Organization.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

KYLLBURG (Germany) May 8 (via London, May 8.)—At dawn this morning the Eighty-ninth Division starts on its homeward journey. Military censorship has forbidden correspondents with the army from mentioning the fact until the movement has begun. There were a thousand men sleeping last night on the train at West Trier, that at 4 o'clock this morning will carry them toward Brest. The remainder of the division will follow at the rate of three trains a day, the movement out of Germany being completed by noon May 13.

While the Eighty-ninth is known as a middle western division, because formed originally of Camp Funston selectives, called from Kansas, Missouri, Colorado, Nebraska, Arizona and New Mexico, it now contains men from every State in the Union. Replacements from the Eighty-six gave it hundreds of Illinois men.

Two big events preceded the beginning of the entrainment. One was the presentation of another bunch of decorations. Another was the organization of the division "alumni association" which is called the "war society of the Eighty-ninth Division."

The decoration ceremonies were held at Trier in the shadow of the famous Porta Nigra, the old Roman gate of the city. In the name of Gen. Pashaga, commander of the Thirty-second French Army Corps, commandant Demage of the French General Staff, decorated the colors of the Three Hundred and Fifty-third Infantry with the Croix de Guerre for bravery in action at St. Mihiel and in the Argonne. Thirty-five officers and men also received medals, two of them, Maj. Thomas F. Wirth and Sergt. Roy C. Anthony, receiving the Croix de Guerre from the French and the Distinguished Service Cross presented by the division commander, Maj.-Gen. F. L. Winn, in the name of the President.

Those who received the Croix de Guerre were Brig.-Gen. E. T. Donnelly, Cols. James H. Reeves, C. S. Babcock, W. W. Whiteside, Lieut.-Cols. F. Doniat, Levi G. Brown, Rudolph F. Smyzer, Frank Wilbur Smith, F. W. O'Donnelly, Majs. W. A. Hale, E. Watson, C. J. Massock, Capts. J. W. Lockwood, Gregory Vigeant, Jr., W. E. Read, M. P. Wilder, H. L. McNutty, M. W. Page; Lieuts. R. G. Hudson, P. L. Gaylord, Chaplain Otis E. Gray, Sergt. Ralph G. Taylor, Corps. M. C. Sundin, Patrick Garrity, Private Ralph M. Crain.

Those who received the Distinguished Service Cross were Capts. Moses D. Atkins, Charles M. Fox, Lieuts. Charles D. Avery, John E. Eigenauer, Sergts. Derbert L. Miller, George L. Busch, Privates G. W. Condit, Edwin Weise.

Officers elected for the permanent organization of the division follow: Honorary presidents, Maj.-Gens. Leonard Wood, William Wright, Charles P. Summerall; president, Maj.-Gen. Winn; vice-president, Sergt. F. R. Baker; secretary, Lieut.-Col. Burton A. Smead; treasurer, Sergt. Spencer Bartlett; members of the Executive Committee, Brig.-Gen. Edward T. Donnelly and Private Howard P. Laslett.

The present division insignia is the badge of the society.

TROOPS, AVIATORS AND WORKERS BACK.

DISCOVERER OF "LOST BATTALION" IS AMONG THOSE ON U.S.S. CASERTA.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 8.—Fifteen hundred troops including aviators and Transport Corps workers, stepped ashore when the steamship Caserta docked here today from Marseilles. The Fiftieth Aero Squadron of which Lieut. Robert McAndrew, Rock Springs, Wyo., was one of the discoverers from the air of the "lost battalion," was among the units.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—The Masonic ambulance unit, numbering three officers and 144 men, is scheduled to arrive here at 9 10 o'clock tomorrow morning for demobilization. Other units due at the same time are Three Hundred and Sixteenth Sanitary Train, four officers, 153 men; Three Hundred and Forty-seventh Machine-gun Battalion, nine officers, 431 men; and one officer, forty-five men of a casual battalion, Ninety-first Division.

CHICAGO, May 8.—The One Hundred and Forty-ninth Field Artillery (Reilly's Bucks,) Forty-second (Rainbow) Division, was welcomed home from war today by thousands of Illinoisans and Chicagoans. The regiment, formerly the old Illinois National Guard batteries, had been away twenty-one months and had taken part in the most of the greatest battle fought since America went into the world war. With them came some 200 Illinois men of the One Hundred and Sixty-seventh Infantry.

RECORD BROKEN IN STEEL SHIPBUILDING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND, (Or.) May 8.—When the 8500-ton steel steamer City of Eureka was launched today from the ways of the Columbia River Shipbuilding Corporation here, the builders claimed to have reduced the United States record in steel hull fabrication. The record broken was that made by the Northwest Steel Company here last week when the West Chatala was launched thirty-seven and one-fourth days after keel laying. The days were of sixteen working hours each. The launching of the City of Eureka today was accomplished twenty-seven working days of twenty-four hours after the keel was laid, April 4.

So nearly completed was the vessel launched today that it was hoped the machinery could be installed within nine days and her trial trip be held thirty-six days after the keel laying.

CLEMENCY IS GRANTED WAR OBSTRUCTORS.

SEVERAL CALIFORNIANS AMONG THOSE GAINING PRESIDENTIAL RELIEF.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Fifty more men convicted during the war for violation of the Espionage Act have been granted clemency by President Wilson on recommendation of Atty.-Gen. Palmer in pursuance of the policy of being lenient to those who have already served a year or more in prison and whose sentences in the stress of war times now appear excessive.

Perley B. Doe, son of the late Chief Justice Doe of the New Hampshire Supreme Court, convicted in Colorado on a charge of issuing circulars condemning the war, was given a commutation of sentence to expire at once.

Others granted clemency, with the district where they were convicted, the original sentence and the commuted sentence, respectively, include:

John Kiderowski, Northern California, ten years; three years.

L. Jerkins, Northern California, two years; one year, one day.

G. W. Strode, Arizona, two years time served.

E. W. Fitzwater, Northern California, five years; time served.

Walait Shah, Northern California, two years; one year, one day.

William Raymond, Northern California, fifteen months; September 1, 1919.

William T. Walker, New Mexico, two years; one year, one day.

W. H. Fadler, Arizona, five years.

Charles Spiltner, Hawaii, sixteen years; three years.

George Simpson, Arizona, one year; nine months.

Curt Schnider, Northern California, five years; one year, one day.

Joseph Nichols, Arizona, eighteen months; one year, one day.

Perley J. Burns, Arizona, two years; one year, one day.

John L. Geibel, Northern California, five years; one year, one day.

Minnie Geibel, Northern California, one year; time served.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—John Ziderowski, among those convicted in California during the war and granted clemency today by President Wilson, was a soldier at Camp Lewis. His conviction followed declarations that he was a member of the Industrial Workers of the World and opposed to American government.

L. Jerkins, another, was convicted September 12, last year here, of public statements of friendliness to Germany.

E. W. Fitzwater, a porter in the Alameda County Hospital, was convicted October 3, 1918, of spreading false reports concerning American war activities.

William Raymond, arrested here in September, 1918, pleaded guilty to violation of the Espionage Act, declaring in court he would "rather go to prison than join the army."

SACRAMENTO, May 8.—Three of fifty or more persons convicted of violation of the Espionage Act and granted clemency by President Wilson were residents of Sacramento. They were convicted in the United States district court here last fall.

John L. Geibel, proprietor of a bakery here, was fined $2500 in addition to the five-year sentence imposed by United States District Judge William C. Van Fleet, who said he was astonished that Geibel had "escaped the vengeance of his neighbors," after he had read the seditious remarks which Geibel pleaded guilty of uttering. Minnie Geibel, his wife, was sentenced to a year in the County Jail and was fined $1000.

T. Jerkins, a Slavonian, was employed by the Southern Pacific. He was charged with berating the American army and praising the Kaiser.

PORTLAND CLOSES CITY FISH MARKET.

MUNICIPALITY ACCEPTS LOSS, BUT CLAIMS IT SAVED THE PUBLIC MONEY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) May 8.—Portland's municipal fish market, where the public during the war purchased all kinds of fish at prices somewhat below those charged in other markets, was abolished today by the City Council. The city shouldered a financial loss of $2000.

Members of the Council pointed out that the market was not intended to be permanent, but was an emergency war measure. They claimed that by keeping down the price of fish and preventing profiteering it saved Portland citizens several thousand dollars a month during the war.

The financial loss was incurred by the use of the municipal tug Pulitzer, which made several trips for deep sea fishing. Increased rental and failure to secure a suitable location were given by one commissioner as contributing reasons for the failure of the city market to continue operations.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

"Tomorrow an army created under the protection of the French flag will join on the liberated Polish territory the Polish army that has been for a long time fighting for right, liberty and civilization. I am convinced that the gallant soldiers now united under the white eagle again will soon write in golden letters a new page of the history of noble Poland. My best wishes accompany you."

Gen. Haller, in an interview in the Warsaw Courier, praised the part played by the French government and the Polish national committee in Paris in connection with the formation of the Polish army in France.

MONK EASTMAN WINS BACK CITIZENSHIP.

FORMER GANG LEADER GETS REWARD FOR CONDUCT IN BATTLE IN FRANCE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ALBANY (N. Y.) May 8.—Gov. Smith today restored the privileges of citizenship to Edward ("Monk") Eastman, former gang leader of New York City, who had served a prison term

The Governor said that his action was influenced by the recommendations of Col. Franklin W. Ward and Lieut. Joseph A. A. Kerrigan of the One Hundred and Sixth Infantry Regiment of the Twenty-seventh Division, with which Eastman served in the war. Col. Ward called attention to the fact that Eastman had enlisted and that his record "throughout the war has been exceptional, and his service has been honest and faithful."

During the attack on Vierstaat Ridge, Eastman was wounded and sent to a casualty clearing station, where he remained only three days. Upon hearing that his regiment was expected to go into the line again, he escaped from the hospital, equipped himself from a salvage dump, rejoined his company and was in action throughout the entire Hindenburg line assault.

TERMS VERNON HOME WRECKE

Judge Sees More Happy L When Country is Dry.

Woman Divorces Man F the Bright Lights.

Gave Him Second C but to no Avail.

"Not only this case, but others, would not have been if places like Vernon had ed. Under dry conditions the will be ultimately relieved cases like this one," declared Taft yesterday after listening story unfolded in the divorce of Willie B. Richardson George B Richardson. Liquor the underlying cause; Vernon its bright lights the attraction.

Mrs Richardson was a girl, a divorcee. She had a son. She met Mr. Richardson while on a visit here, and in her a great deal of attention. companied her to many places in a short time he proposed, accepted, and they were married.

Coming in from a ride one evening he quarreled with her, and beat her, the evidence showed. The owner of the house where were visiting refused to permit Richardson to stay there that Mrs. Richardson, greatly humbled and her Virginia spirit aroused, suit for divorce.

While the suit was pending went to Virginia on a visit. Richardson, repentant, wrote a score of letters, couched in endearing terms. He said he missed a million times a day. He said that he actually cried for her. Repeatedly he stated he had quit drinking. He pleaded with her to come back to him. He said he would be good to both her and the baby.

Mrs. Richardson returned in the fall of 1918, and apparently her husband had reformed. She decided to try him again, and they became reconciled. For two months worked with a corporation, turning over to her his salary, relying upon, instead of spending it herself.

Then the bright lights got in and he fell by the wayside. The divorce suit which had been dismissed was renewed, and yesterday Mrs. Richardson was granted a decree.

Mr. Richardson is the son of Formia pioneers who visited Topolco. His parents are dead. The evidence showed yesterday that he had been left considerable money, a great deal of which, it is said, was spent.

The very fact that the President has asked for a special alliance is evidence that his League of Nations is not what he intended it to be."

HITCHCOCK AWAITS TERMS.

Senator Hitchcock said he could not discuss the proposed alliance with France in detail because the terms have not yet been made public here.

"It seems to me such an alliance would be necessary only for bridging purposes—until Germany becomes a member of the League of Nations," he said. "When she once does become a member the whole force of the world would be against her if she attempted to attack France."

Senator Sherman said that the "proposed alliance has not been submitted to us but I can foresee if our own peace were threatened how we might be glad to have such an alliance."

It is foreseen President Wilson will wage a vigorous fight for ratification of the treaty without change and will charge the opposition with delaying the restoration of peace to the world.

He will be met with the retort that the treaty itself makes it impossible for the United States alone to hold up world peace. The treaty provides for the restoration of peace between Germany and the other belligerents severally, not collectively. England and Germany will conclude peace by exchanging ratifications of the treaty. France and Germany will conclude peace in like manner.

Any delay in ratification by the Senate will delay only the restoration of diplomatic and commercial relations between Germany and the United States. The creation of the machinery for carrying out the peace terms imposed on Germany would not be delayed. The Allies took pains to avoid any possibility of the American Senate embarrassing this programme. The reparations commission and the other important commissions will be appointed and start work irrespective of American action on the treaty. The only programme held back would be the less important work assigned to the League of Nations, which doubtless would be carried forward by the Allies.

NO OBSTRUCTION.

In view of these circumstances the opponents of the League of Nations in the Senate feel they cannot be charged with obstructing peace. Separation of the covenant from the treaty and immediate ratification of the latter, they contend, will restore peace and permit the resumption of commerce with Germany. They assert this could be accomplished within a fortnight after presentation of the treaty to the Senate.

"Unquestionably the League of Nations creates a super-government," said Senator Sherman. "No power on earth can make me vote to submit to any allegiance other than that I owe to the United States. This may be revolution but here is one old man 60 years old from the Middle West who is ready to shoulder a gun and fight against it. Under this super-sovereignty the United States will find itself bound hand and foot and Congress could not pass an appropriation bill or a measure dealing with the tariff, or an immigration question without being informed that this council has issued an edict on the subject which might be contrary to that legislation.

"I will vote to separate the league covenant from the treaty and take a separate vote on each. The manner in which the treaty has been presented is a resort to gag rule. It is a confession of weakness that the League of Nations has to be dragged through as an annex to the treaty of peace.

"The terms of peace are sufficiently severe to serve as a remedy for the militaristic spirit of Germany. I hope the treaty will be carried out in letter and spirit. Let Germany devote the energy she has displayed for twenty to forty years in raising an army and inventing means of destruction to the business of paying her debts and furnishing adequate reparation for the ruin she has wrought in the world, and possibly she would be satisfied not to go to war again so readily."

MOSES FOR "AMPUTATION."

Senator Moses declared "amputation" of the treaty feasible.

"In his speech in New York before leaving for Europe, President Wilson said he would find the covenant tied in the treaty with so many threads that it would not be possible to separate the two instruments," said the Senator.

"Of course, we have not seen the complete pattern of the goods, but we have a fairly adequate sample in the summary. From my reading of the sample it would seem that the President's advertisement of himself as a textile worker is somewhat exaggerated. It does not seem so impossible to separate the league from the treaty if that is what should be done, although I am not prepared at the moment to say that that is what should be done.

"I am satisfied that the country is for a league of nations, but I am skeptical whether it is for this particular League of Nations. Certainly if the league provided for in the treaty is to be set up its constitution must be amended. For one thing, Article X should be amended. Questions also are bound to arise as to the purport of Article XV. Under it it seems clear that differences can be brought before the executive council and we would have to submit. There are three questions immediately occurring to me as likely to be brought before the council, namely, our immigration policy, restrictions as to the coastwise trade and the tariff and other allied questions. The terms of territorial reduction and lessening of naval and military armament seem to have some elements of justice."

LEAGUE "INEXTRICABLE."

Senator Hitchcock differed from these Senators decidedly.

"I do not believe it is possible to separate the covenant and treaty," he said. "They are so intertwined as to make them inextricable. It is impossible for any one to attempt to separate them who really wants peace.

"In my opinion the crowning glory of this great treaty is the fact that there is imbedded in it the great constitution of the League of Nations which harmonizes with the purpose of the treaty and is absolutely essential to carry out these purposes. Repeatedly, in different parts of the treaty, when a difficult or doubtful subject is reached requiring future adjustment or settlement the League of Nations is named as the agency through which the work shall be done.

"I believe intelligent people will conclude the peace settlement would be virtually impossible and ineffectual without the League of Nations as one of its leading features."

Views of various Senators follow:

Norris of Nebraska: "One thing I like particularly about the treaty of peace is the disarmament proposition. However, my own idea is that the treaty should have gone still farther in reducing Germany's armament. Germany should not be allowed an army of 100,000 men and her navy is too big. I am greatly pleased with the provisions in the treaty establishing a tribunal which shall try the Kaiser and his military advisers and soldiers for the monstrous crimes committed."

OBJECTS TO SECTION 10.

Sterling of South Dakota: "So far as treaty conditions imposed on Germans are concerned. I am quite well satisfied. I am satisfied with some of the amendments made to the league, but by that I do not mean I am entirely satisfied with the league constitution in its present form. I do not like section 10. I do not care to say I would not support it after full consideration."

Wadsworth of New York: "The conditions imposed on Germany seem to be reasonably adequate to prevent her from repeating her crimes of 1914 and subsequent atrocities during the war."

Chamberlain of Oregon: "We seem to have drawn the teeth and claws of Germany pretty effectively, and with that I am in thorough accord."

Henderson of Nevada: "The heavy conditions imposed on Germany by which her territory, navy and army are reduced, seem to be adequate. No one would have been satisfied if they had not been heavy."

Harding of Ohio: "In a general way there can be little fault found with the provisions imposed on Germany. The big issue is that raised by our involvement in the League of Nations which is to carry out many of the treaty provisions. I doubt if the Senate will consent to this country's entering on responsibilities and limitations of which we do not know."

PENROSE FOR OPEN DEBATE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
HARRISBURG (Pa.) May 8.—Senator Penrose today declared for open debate in the Senate on peace. He said we have received only secrecy and mystery from Paris regarding the terms of the treaty.

Before leaving here for Washington Senator Penrose made a statement for publication in which he said it seemed to him that the United States was to occupy a foremost place in financial and economic matters, and that information regarding the extent is lacking. "It remains to be seen," he said, "how far we are called upon to assume financial and economic responsibilities, and how far public opinion in the United States will tolerate such assumption.

"Except in the fact that the menace of German militarism is removed, the American people do not seem to be getting any substantial results out of the treaty in the way of indemnities, reparation or other compensation," the Senator said.

Commenting on Article X, guaranteeing the present boundaries and integrity of nations, Senator Penrose said:

"That the geography of the world should be fixed on an inflexible and unalterable basis is open to grave question as being opposed to the progress and development of civilization. Moreover, such a proposition destroys all hope for oppressed or dissatisfied peoples such as those in Korea and Ireland.

"I shall not vote for any treaty or League of Nations which impose unreasonable or undesirable obligations on the United States, or which infringe on the Monroe Doctrine."

POINDEXTER SEES DANGER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) May 8.—Senator Poindexter of Washington, speaking before the Republican club of Cambridge tonight, declared a dual attack was being made against the independence of the United States, and charged President Wilson with aiding the movement.

"The independence of the United States is being attacked from two directions," said the Washington Senator. "One, the 'internationale of the proletariat,' represented by the Industrial Workers of the World, the radical Socialists, the Bolshevists and anarchists, and the other a movement of certain elements of international business and international pacifists. Strangely, each of these movements receives support from the other.

"In every country in Europe President Wilson has appealed to the socialistic element, and they, in return, have from every country in Europe supported his purpose. The Socialist labor party of England, France and Italy have supported every move he has made for an international government of which he is to be the head.

"Likewise, the President and his administration," the Senator continued, "have reciprocally aided and encouraged the communists.

"Like certain international business men, the communists care nothing for the principle of nationality. Unlike them, however, they also care nothing for the principle of property. Such a doctrine is the worst foe of the workingman and is destructive of American institutions. Encouragement it has received from the administration intensifies its menace.

"The supreme issue and the supreme duty of Americans is to revive in its full vigor the spirit of American nationality as we received it from the inspired fathers and leaders of the republic, and to defend against violence from below or the intrigue from above, individual security and national independence."

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Gen. Pershing's secret battle map now is on exhibition in the National Museum, having recently been brought here and set up exactly as it was in his headquarters in France. Its historical value is regarded as great because it shows the correct battle line from the time America entered the war, until hostilities ceased.

WE WANT TEDDY' IS LEGION'S CRY.

He Refuses Honor, but Names One for Post.

After Ovation of Hour Dallas Man is Selected.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
ST. LOUIS, May 8.—Determined efforts by the delegates to the national caucus of the American Legion, which opened here today, to force the chairmanship of the organization on Lieut.-Col. Theodore Roosevelt, failed and Maj. Henry D. Lindsley of Dallas, Tex., was elected chairman.

For nearly three hours the delegates urged the nomination on Col. Roosevelt, who steadfastly declined, saying he "had no desire to hold office in the organization," but wanted to be simply a booster. After several speeches in which he urged the caucus to "take him at his word" and nominate someone else he shouted: "I'll tell you just why I can't accept this nomination. They say I am a politician and that I formed this organization to make a grandstand play and ——"

"WE WANT TEDDY."

"Shouts of "No, no," drowned him out and after trying for thirty minutes to establish order Col. Roosevelt sank exhausted into his chair. The pandemonium continued for nearly an hour, shouts of "We want Teddy" and "Make him take it," predominating. The session took on the appearance of a wild college mass meeting, various college yells filling the air and always with "We want Teddy" at the end.

Col. Bennett Clark, son of Speaker Champ Clark, then temporarily took the chair and told the convention that it must force Col. Roosevelt to accept the nomination and requested that some one make a motion to that effect. The motion was made, but Col. Roosevelt again insisted that he could not hold office and the delegates finally yielded to his wishes though the men running against him offered to withdraw and make his nomination unanimous.

DALLAS MAN ELECTED.

Running against Maj. Lindsley, who was supported by Col. Roosevelt, was Sergt. Jack Sullivan of Seattle, Wash., the candidate of the "Buck Privates." Sullivan's name was withdrawn when the State of Washington was reported in the voting, and at his request Maj. Lindsley's election was made unanimous.

Maj. Lindsley, who was decorated with the Distinguished Service Medal, was formerly Mayor of Dallas, Tex. He will hold office only until the next convention, which probably will be in November.

Sergt. Sullivan was unanimously chosen first vice-chairman and Seaman Fred B. Humphreys of Roswell, N. M., was chosen second vice-chairman over Chief Petty officer J. F. Goerke of New York. A third vice-chairman, some member of the marines, will be elected tomorrow.

Lieut.-Col. Eric Wood of Washington was elected secretary.

Formal announcement was made today by delegates from the Far West that they will endeavor to have the convention take some definite action concerning the I.W.W. and Bolshevism.

HAS I.W.W. RESOLUTION.

Sergt. Sullivan presented a resolution, which will be acted upon tomorrow, requesting that a petition be sent to Congress urging drastic laws to curb I.W.W. activities.

The resolution says, in part:

"Whereas, there is an element among us . . . who mistake liberty for license, free speech for anarchy, and who, by their action and speeches and radical papers, would revolutionize this government and make this land of freedom a land of free love . . . be it resolved:

"That this convention petition Congress that all members of radical organizations, such as the I.W.W., Bolsheviki and all kindred organizations be deported . . . that a stop be put to the printing of their literature, and that anyone found guilty of distributing their literature be deemed guilty of a criminal offense."

The caucus has received notice from the George Washington National Memorial Association of Women's Clubs that it is willing to turn over one floor of its building in Washington, including an auditorium seating 1000 persons, to the American Legion for its permanent use. Action on the matter will be taken later.

FIGHT ON REGULAR ARMY.

A strong effort is being made on the part of National Guardsmen to exclude Regular Army men from the legion, although the temporary executive committee has voted to open the membership to all men and women who saw service in the war.

The report of the committee on creed has been adopted by the temporary executive committee and placed before the convention. In six articles it pledges the organization comradeship to principles of loyalty to nation, efficiency of citizenship and assistance to men who served the nation in the war and their dependents.

The caucus does not intend to elect permanent officers, but will appoint an executive committee to govern the organization until a convention can be held some time in November, when permanent organization will be effected.

In voting at the caucus each State is entitled to twice as many votes as it has Congressional representatives.

I.W.W. THREATEN TO EXTEND MINE STRIKE.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]
SALT LAKE CITY, May 8.—Advices reaching here today from Park City say that all of the mines in that district are closed as the result of the strike of approximately 1000 miners for a six-hour day and $5.50 wage. Pumpmen in the Ontarh mine are understood to have left their work last night and unless some men are found to man these pumps this mine is likely to become flooded.

According to a statement said to have been made by "Business Agent" Wells of the I.W.W. at Park City last night the strike will probably spread to other camps of the State.

VOICES APPEAL FOR THE HARD OF HEARING.

An appeal to the clergy in behalf of the hard of hearing was made by Miss Marion J. Anderson, principal of the Pacific Coast School of Lip Reading, at a meeting of the Ministerial Union, yesterday.

Miss Anderson said that the hard of hearing are spiritually hungry, bu the majority are so sensitive about their infirmity that they do not inform anyone that their hearing is impaired, therefore ministers do not realize how many of the afflicted persons are in their congregation.

LOAN FIGURES TAKE A SPURT.

Heavy Increase in the Totals Relieves Anxiety.

Officials are Encouraged with Speed Being Shown.

Twelfth District Registers Half of its Quota.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The Victory Liberty Loan subscriptions have now reached $2,818,561,000, with an increase of $359,877,000 in the last twenty-four hours. These figures, as announced tonight by the Treasury, show that 62.62 per cent. has been subscribed.

Subscription by districts and percentages of quotas were announced as follows:

| District— | Subscriptions | P.C. |
|---|---|---|
| St. Louis | $170,749,000 | 87.5 |
| Minneapolis | 124,990,000 | 79.9 |
| New York | 970,060,000 | 71.8 |
| Boston | 264,580,000 | 67.6 |
| Chicago | 425,069,000 | 63.1 |
| Richmond | 125,479,000 | 58.7 |
| Kansas City | 166,209,000 | 54.4 |
| Philadelphia | 302,548,000 | 53.9 |
| Cleveland | 217,809,000 | 49.3 |
| Atlanta | 66,707,000 | 47.7 |
| San Francisco | 122,452,000 | 40.8 |
| Dallas | 51,360,000 | 20.2 |

ANXIETY RELIEVED.

Today's receipts went far toward removing the anxiety felt heretofore by Treasury officials over the progress of the loan toward the total needed. With the speed shown by subscriptions in the last two days continuing tomorrow and Saturday, the recorded subscriptions by Saturday night should be between $3,250,000,000 and $3,500,000,000, officials believe. That will leave $1,000,000,000 or more to come in as a result of the final count of last minute sales, and in previous loans the amount of these belated subscriptions has run usually much higher than $1,000,000,000.

Another factor which probably will tend to swell the late figures is that big corporations may enter larger subscriptions than they really desire in the belief that in the final allotments their purchases will be pared down. This would result from the treasury's announced intention of accepting no more than $4,500,000,000 subscriptions; unless the purchase of $10,000 or less of Victory notes should push the total beyond that figure. No subscriptions of $10,000 or less are to be rejected.

The feeling of relief apparent about the treasury today is not to be interpreted, however, as indicating any reason why all the subscriptions possible should not be reported in during the remaining two days. Small orders still are as much desired as ever, it was explained, because the financial soundness of the loan depends so strongly on a wide distribution of the securities.

RACE FOR HONORS.

A race for the highest standing in percentage of quota at the close of the records Saturday has developed between the St. Louis district, which still heads the percentage list with 87.54, the Minneapolis district, with 78.01, and the New York district with 71.85. New York in the figures tabulated tonight at the treasury was within $30,000,000 of $1,000,000,000.

Secretary Glass today sent the following message broadcast through the Woman's Liberty Loan Committee to the women of America:

"The women of the United States have made instant and magnificent response to every call which the government has made to them. Through the five Liberty Loans they have served with devotion, with zeal, and with self-sacrificing patriotism. They have bought bonds to the limit of their purchasing power and sold bonds to the limit of human powers of endurance, of persuasion and of steadfastness in purpose. Even with the armistice signed, they have never ceased in their unswerving devotion to duty. In this Victory Liberty Loan they have been pillars of power and towers of strength in the selling organization. Undaunted by obstacles and discouragements, they have held their posts. At this crisis of the loan, the government of the United States again sounds the bugle of further advance. In keen realization of what women have already done in this and other campaigns, the treasury calls to them in these closing days of the loan for service in a final rush upon the field that will take the loan over the last trench."

TWELFTH DISTRICT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—Subscriptions to the Victory Liberty Loan in the Twelfth Federal Reserve Bank District up to tonight amounted to $153,817,350 from 466,953 subscribers, loan campaign headquarters here announced. The district's quota is $201,500,000.

Among the major divisions of the district reporting total subscriptions actually in bank, and the amount of their subscriptions, were: Arizona, $1,309,800; Idaho, $5,663,950; Nevada $1,026,950; Oregon, $22,575,000; Utah, $9,289,650; Washington, $22,605,400; California (Northern,) $30,243,100; Southern, $22,793,400; Hawaii, $4,365,000.

Total subscriptions in Northern California today exclusive of San Francisco were reported to be approximately $4,500,000. Twelve counties in Northern California were reported to have gone over the top, including Colusa, Placer and Mendocino counties, which reached their quotas today. Eight other counties were reported to be in easy striking distance of their allotments.

San Francisco subscribed $10,643,600, bringing the city's total to $32,852,350, or 41.41 per cent. of its quota of $79,318,150. This city was reported to be leading Los Angeles, which was credited with having subscribed $9,792,250, or 30.75 per cent. of its allotment.

PATIENTS SUBSCRIBE.

Seven patients at the San Francisco county relief home, who earn $5 a month doing odd jobs about the institution's grounds, gave up ten months' wages today to subscribe to Victory Liberty Loan Bonds. Each patient took a $50 bond. While the bonds are being paid for Charles Woltenberg, superintendent of the home, will "carry" the subscribers.

Supt. Woltenberg, as guardian for Nicholas Mulvaney, for many years an inmate of the home, subscribed $10,000 for Mulvaney out of $25,000 which recently was found sewed in the lining of Mulvaney's coat.

Fifty-two employees of the home subscribed $6850.

BIG SUBSCRIPTIONS.

An urgent call to all divisional chairmen in California was sent out today by the State Committee on Readjustment to bring a triumphant end to the Victory Loan campaign.

"California must not fail, for there will be no other time to redeem," the appeal says. "Remember, we are engaged in the biggest adventure of our lives, readjusting a nation."

Coast defense guns, bombs, sirens, factory and steamship whistles, church bells in pandemonium awakened San Francisco early today to the news that $57,000,000 must be subscribed before Saturday night to reach the city's quota in the Victory Loan campaign.

More than $100,000 Victory Bonds have been subscribed for by the sailors of the United States Naval Training Station at Goat Island near here.

A. M. Rude, a merchant here, celebrated his fiftieth birthday by buying a $50 Victory Bond for his wife and each of his nine children. In making the $500 subscription he said:

"I am a mighty lucky man to have my wife and all my children, and alive and strong and living in a country where every one of them will have the chance to make the most out of life."

A great Victory Loan "drive" was conducted here today, the high schools and all city offices closing for a half a day in order to enroll the number of workers. All schools will close tomorrow for the same purpose.

NEW YORK.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 8.—At 11 o'clock tonight $143,000,000 in subscriptions had been taken at a Victory Loan mass meeting at the Metropolitan Operahouse, at which William H. Taft was the principal speaker. This amount will be added to the official subscriptions to the Victory loan in the New York Federal Reserve District, which early stood tonight at $970,142,400, a gain for the day of $175,770,100. The amount subscribed is equal to 71.8 per cent. of the quota of $1,350,000,000.

The largest unofficial subscription today came from Lieut. Vincent Astor, who pledged $4,500,000.

Baseballs sold for $1,000,000 apiece in Wall street today. Campaigning for the Victory Loan, "Christy" Mathewson, Arthur Fletcher and Larry Doyle of the New York Giants invaded "the street" and auctioned off a score of "horsehides" bearing their autographs.

Purchasers who paid $1,000,000 apiece for balls were John D. Rockefeller, J. P. Morgan and J. W. Harriman.

OAKLAND, May 8.—Sergt. Harold Roberts and Bugler T. A. Johnson, members of the crew manning a Whippet tank touring East Bay Cities in connection with the Victory Liberty Loan campaign, were burned severely here today by an explosion, presumably by gasoline in the tank.

SANTA FE RUNS SPECIAL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ALBUQUERQUE (N. M.) May 8.—The Santa Fe Railway Company ran a "Victory Loan Special" over the Albuquerque division from Seligman, Ariz., to this point for the purpose of boosting the loan. Stops were made at every town, siding and water tank where an employee is located and speeches were made by the division officials. The result of the trip was the selling of more than $40,000 worth of bonds.

JAPANESE ENGINEERS EXPLORE MEXICAN OIL.

GOVERNMENT ANNOUNCES CONCESSIONS GRANTED THEM IN COUNTRY.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

MEXICO CITY, Wednesday, May 7.—A Japanese government commission headed by Baron Hasegawa, captain of engineers, has virtually completed an investigation of the petroleum possibilities in the Tampico region, it was learned today.

The department of industry and commerce states that the commission plans to conduct surveys in other parts of the republic and that concessions for oil explorations in the northern part of the country, particularly in the States of Durango and Chihuahua, have been secured by the Japanese.

These activities constitute only one phase of what apparently is an almost frenzied campaign of exploration throughout the republic of Mexican and foreign interests.

Reports are common that indications of oil have been discovered not only in undeveloped fields in Durango and Chihuahua but on the Pacific Coast and also on the isthmus, in the States of Chiapas and Tabasco.

NEW HEAD FOR GIRLS' SCHOOL

Mrs. Jane C. Byrd is Offered Position at Ventura.

Has Taught at Santa Barbara for Thirteen Years.

If She Accepts, will Succeed Mrs. G. M. Lyman.

[RECEIVED BEFORE.]

SANTA BARBARA, May 8.—Mrs. Jane C. Byrd, vice-principal of the Santa Barbara High School, has been offered the position of superintendent of the California School for Girls, at Ventura.

Mrs. L. B. Hogue of the board and Mrs. Burris Ross Wyman, Stanford University, graduate, Ventura school, brought Mrs. Byrd today Gov. Stephens' offer the appointment, the position carrying a salary of $1440. If she accepts, she will succeed Mrs. Wyman, who has resigned pending investigation of charges of management and brutality of inmates of the school.

Mrs. Byrd has been with the Santa Barbara High School for thirteen years, as head of the English department, and for seven has been vice-principal. She is one of the prominent educators of the State. Her known interest in the welfare of girls has brought this recognition from the trustees and the Ventura school officials, who intend to increase the educational side of the institution to the help of weak or criminal girls.

GERMANS TO DEPART FROM OLD DIPLOMA

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

BERLIN, Tuesday, May 7.—The correspondent at Versailles of the new Berlin Zeitung says the German delegation to the Peace Congress will depart from the diplomatic customs.

They will not attempt, he asserts, to argue out conditions that are acceptable, but instead will present a carefully considered counter-proposition embodying the maximum the Germans are willing to concede.

The Germans already have reached conclusions on certain of the peace terms which have been printed in the newspapers, the correspondent adds, and their decisions have been drawn up in writing and the delegates are ready to have sent them to the Entente.

"It will be Germany's correspondent continues, "to show the utmost consideration for the enemy's standpoint by the method by which these terms can be made possible of being acceptable or bearable for us.

"Germany gives assurances with good will on the part of her opponents their suggestions generally on economic questions acceptable. This, however, is particularly difficult to do with the demand of guilty of having been the cause of the war shall be delivered."

WILL ASK BIDS ON STEEL RAILS.

...nufacturers Decline to Re... ...duce Board's Price.

...ew - General Comments ... Excessive Profits.

...ds to Cost Reduction; no ... Lowering of Price.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 8.—Walker D. Hines, Director-General of Railroads, announced here tonight that the Railroad Administration will ...mediately for competitive ... for 200,000 tons of steel rails.

Mr. Hines's announcement was made after he had been informed by representatives that they had been unable to induce representatives of the large manufacturers at a conference here today to agree to a reduction of the schedule of prices approved by the Industrial Board of the Department of Justice. Mr. Hines declared it was his settled purpose to buy steel rails on the competitive bidding basis as rapidly as they are ... He issued the following statement:

"NO PREFERENTIAL ASKED.

"In accordance with the suggestions from Secretary Redfield and Mr. Peek of the industrial ... of the Railroad Administration ...ntatives, Messrs. Henry B. ... and T. C. Powell, had a ...ence today with representa- ... of the steel interests. Messrs. ... and Powell offered specific ...ions of the steel prices heretofore ...posed and suggested maximum ...prices which the Railroad Administration would feel justified in ...ng for the various steel articles ... the railroads use in im- ...ent industries, including steel ...

"It was made clear that the Railroad Administration did not wish to ... preferential prices compared to the general public. The steel ... were unwilling to make ...anges in the prices announced in March. The conferences on this subject are at an end, and the Railroad Administration will, in accordance with its settled purpose, proceed as rapidly as it needs steel materials of any kind to ask for competitive bids and purchase accordingly. The Railroad Administration will at once in accordance with this policy, ask for bids for 200,000 tons of steel rails.

COMMENTS ON PRICES.

"By way of comment on the prices proposed in March, as well as in support of the prices suggested by the Railroad Administration, the following views were expressed by Messrs. Spencer and Powell:

"The reduction since the war in a single element of cost is so great as to make the prices proposed by the steel interests and the industrial board practically as profitable to the steel interests as were the higher prices that prevailed during the war, on the basis of which the steel interests made enormous profits. This item of cost is the price of scrap materials which is not a controlled commodity, but the price of which fluctuates according to supply and demand, and which, of course, can be, and is used very largely in the making of steel products.

"The fall in the price of scrap material from $26 per ton to about $15 per ton has been so great that the resulting decrease in the cost of steel products is practically as great as the total proposed reduction in the prices of steel products. Therefore, while the public has thought the steel interests ought to make and could well afford to make important concessions to encourage the resumption of business the fact is that on account of the reduction in the prices of scrap material alone the prices proposed for steel products represent no concessions whatever from war-time profits.

POINTS TO LARGE PROFITS.

"That the steel interests have made profits so large as to make substantial concessions practicable under existing conditions without affecting wages is strikingly illustrated by a consideration of the profits made by the steel interests for the calendar year 1918.

"The United States Steel Corporation for the year 1918 reports the net earnings from all rolled tonnage before deducting income tax, excess profits tax, etc., a profit of about $33 per ton.

"The Midvale Steel Company for the same period shows a profit of approximately $35 per ton.

"This statistical information for other steel-producing companies for the year 1918 is not yet published, but their financial statements indicate results which were correspondingly favorable.

"The arguments which have been presented in the effort to support the prices proposed by the steel interests and the industrial board have rested upon costs incurred during the war period. Even those costs show exceedingly handsome profits to the low cost producers, but it is obvious that these costs without reduction in wages on account of the termination of the war will be subject to very important reductions in addition to the great reduction in the cost of scrap material already referred to.

NOT ACTUAL INCREASE.

"The war costs appear in many instances to involve a heavy increase in the royalty on the assumed value of the ore in the ground. This increase did not represent an actual increase in cost so far as the producers of the ore were concerned, but simply represented a heavy additional profit. Yet this increased profit in ore appears to be included in the war cost upon which the figures have been based. The cost of coke has fallen substantially from $3 to $4 per ton, representing a saving of from $3 to $5 per ton of iron.

"The steel interests and the industrial board have proposed a price of $38.50 for steel billets and yet they have proposed prices for finished steel products which are wholly out of line with the price for steel billets. The differentials which the steel interests and the industrial board proposed for the finished products, as compared with steel billets are so great as to make the prices for the finished products altogether unattractive and altogether unjustifiable, especially in the light of the considerations already pointed out."

UPHOLDS SENTENCE.

Supreme Court Says Man Who Ruined Girl Must Pay Penalty.

Vernon J. Votaw, whose appeal from a sentence of three years in San Quentin for an offense under promise of marriage against Laura S. Newton of Whittier, was denied, was yesterday remanded to the custody of the Sheriff and lodged in the County Jail.

The offense was alleged to have been committed on May 19, 1917. Votaw was arrested in May, 1918, found guilty and sentenced. He appealed to the Appellate Court and then to the State Supreme Court, but both courts upheld Judge Craig's rulings.

A bench warrant was issued yesterday for Votaw, but he appeared and was sent to jail. He will be taken to San Quentin to serve out his sentence.

ALLEGED SLACKER'S LICENSE IS REVOKED.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, May 8.—Revocation of the teaching license of Ferdinand A. Varrelman, Los Angeles, was recommended to the State Board of Education today by Will C. Wood, State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Wood said the recommendation was made on the ground that Varreiman was alleged to have evaded the draft, and had distributed Industrial Workers of the World literature. A charge of draft evasion against Varrelman was dismissed in San Francisco, through lack of jurisdiction, according to Wood.

Varrelman, who recently asked for an extension of his license, was cited to appear before the board at its July meeting.

SUSPENDED ONE DAY.

State Board of Education Rules in Charges Against Teacher.

The State Board of Education yesterday ruled that Miss Julia P. Purnell had violated the spirit of the law when she accepted a position with the Los Angeles board while still under contract with the San Bernardino board, and her life diploma was suspended for one day.

The mild penalty, the board's findings stated, was imposed "in view of extenuating circumstances, and especially the nature of the contract." It was shown also that she had been deprived of five weeks' employment by the charges when the Los Angeles board refused to place her on the pay roll pending the complaint of San Bernardino.

It was also charged by the State board that the San Bernardino board was making contracts with teachers which "departs from the law in many particulars, is one-sided in its provisions," and "affords practically no protection to the teacher."

TELL CHURCH PLANS FOR RECONSTRUCTION.

OVERSEAS WORKERS SPEAK AT LUNCHEON OF METHO... DISTS AT ALEXANDRIA.

Chaplain Thomas Tiplady of the British army and Dr. Bertram M. Tipple, president of the Methodist College in Rome, were guests of honor at a luncheon, yesterday, at the Alexandria. They are traveling in the interest of the Methodist centenary campaign for a fund of $150,000,000, to be used for missionary and reconstruction work in the United States and in Europe.

Dr. Byron H. Wilson, superintendent of Methodist work in Los Angeles, presided at the luncheon. Chaplain Tiplady delivered an address on the work that is now to be done. He declared the war was not won, and would not be won until the reconstruction of civilization is complete.

Dr. Tipple discussed the work that has been done by the Methodist church in foreign fields, and that is yet to be completed. He spoke of the Russian crisis, and intimated that he believed it probable that the Russian religionists will reach down in the Balkan states and do a great deal of good there.

The churchmen left here last night for San Francisco, where they will make addresses in the interest of the campaign, which it to open on May 18.

HOUGHTON GAINS.

Is About Only Change Made as Council Count Votes.

The City Council yesterday began the formal count of the ballots cast at last Tuesday's primary election. The Councilmen spent the afternoon at their desks checking the tally made by the election clerks in the 755 precincts of the city. The work will be completed today.

Council Clerk Carroll, who was in charge of the work, said that few errors were found and these in no way materially changed or affected the result of the count already announced. When the Councilmanic check is completed, these figures will be announced by City Clerk Wilde as the official primary vote of the city.

Dr. A. D. Houghton, Councilmanic candidate, gained three votes during the check yesterday. He is already assured a place on the ballot, June 3, being eighteenth in the order of the number of votes cast for Councilmanic candidates.

HOSPITAL UNIT DANCES.

Woman's Auxiliary Gives Entertainment at the Armory.

The women's auxuliary of Base Hospital Unit No. 35, an organization of Los Angeles men, gave an entertainment and dance at the Armory last night in honor of the members of the unit, who were demobilized at Camp Kearny a day or two ago. There were about 300 persons in attendance last night, including 100 members of the unit.

A programme of music was given and Mrs. Walter Chase, president of the auxiliary, welcomed the returning men. Home-made pies, cakes and punch were served.

FOR CIVIC CENTER.

Washington Association Launched at Public Meeting.

The Washington Civic Center Association was launched last night at a public meeting held in Larchmont Hall, Nineteenth and Main streets R. H. Raphael presided and between forty and fifty persons attended. A statement was issued saying that the center should be above all else, a "people's center," that there should be a complete divorcement of the activities and affairs of a civic center from those of a business center, and that it "must be sufficiently surrounded by elevating influences and conditions as to serve as an inspiration for higher mental and spiritual development of all the people than is possible when intimately identified with the daily pursuits of commerce, trade and industry."

EX-CONVICT GUILTY.

George Kelly was found guilty of first degree burglary yesterday by a jury in Judge Willis's court. He was charged with having burglarized the residence of J. E. Flanders, 1855 Cahuenga avenue. Kelly recently served a term in San Quentin for burglary. He will appear for sentence on May 13.

NETHERLANDS RIGHTS IN RHINE NULLIFIED.

PEACE TREATY PLACES WATERWAY UNDER CONTROL OF CENTRAL COMMISSION.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, May 8.—An early protest by Holland against the provision of the peace treaty affecting the Rhine was predicted here today. The treaty is declared to contravene Dutch rights not only, but to attempt to nullify an existing treaty between The Netherlands and Germany.

The treaty of peace would place the Rhine under a central commission to be composed of four representatives of France, which, in addition, would select the president; four of Germany and two each of England, Italy, Belgium, Switzerland and The Netherlands.

The treaty would give France all rights to take water from the Rhine to feed French canals, while denying Germany the right to make canals on the right bank of the Rhine.

This provision of the treaty, it is known, came as a distinct shock to the government and people of Holland. It is alleged that its execution would result in the virtual destruction of Rotterdam, the most important Dutch port, by diverting from the port the water which maintains it. It would be impossible, it was declared, for Rotterdam to accommodate the large ocean liners if its water level is lowered.

It was also asserted that 90 per cent. of Rotterdam's commerce is Rhine commerce and that the Rhine provision of the treaty would practically destroy that commerce. In addition to the material damage which Holland would suffer if the Rhine provision of the peace treaty is carried out, it was believed here that the Netherlands government would charge that the objectionable provision is illegal. It was recalled that in 1868 when France possessed Alsace-Lorraine a treaty was concluded between Germany, Holland and France by which the free navigation of the Rhine by all flags was guaranteed and an international commission composed of six members, was created and this commission was declared to have administered the Rhine without complaint from any quarter and that politics was never associated with it, either in fact or in criticism.

The Flow of Meat

Two-thirds of the live stock in the United States has to be raised in the West.

One-half of the consumers of meat live in the East.

In other words, most of the live stock is one or two thousand miles distant from most of the people who need it in the form of food.

Fifty years ago, when live stock was raised close to every consuming center, the country butcher could handle the job after a fashion.

But the job got too big.

Now millions of animals have to be moved hundreds of miles to millions of people. Somewhere on the way they have to be turned into meat.

The packers solved the problem. They set up plants where the "live haul" and the "meat haul" were in the right balance. They eliminated waste. They built up distributing systems—refrigerator cars, refrigerating plants, branch houses. They saved time, money and meat everywhere. The stockraiser benefited in better markets and higher prices; the consumer, in better meat and lower prices.

As the country grew, the packers had to grow, or break down. Because of its present size and efficiency, Swift & Company is able to perform its part in this service at a fraction of a cent per pound profit.

THE INDIAN OF TODAY.

Celebrated Sioux Criticises System of Management.

Says Indians are Now Able to Manage Own Affairs.

White Man and His System are Demoralizing.

[From the Philadelphia Ledger.]

Dr. Charles A. Eastman, the celebrated Sioux Indian, who is a forceful and far-seeing leader among his people, was a visitor to Philadelphia recently.

"No race," he said to me, "can be hewed and chopped into anything. Its members must do things for themselves.

"The Indians have now been sufficiently long in an apprenticeship to civilization to manage their own affairs.

"The Indian never goes back on his exact word. Manhood, honesty and spirituality are characteristic of the American."

By American, of course, he meant the first and the true American.

"The Indains have sent 10,000 of their young men to the war—and most of these volunteered. Their record as soldiers is unique, in that no charge of sedition has been brought against them.

"The present system of managing the Indians is a bad one.

"We are now able to handle our own money and to do things for ourselves.

"The sum of $12,000,000 has been appropriated to run the Indian Bureau, which has about 7000 employees. There are only about 300,000 of us.

"The government controls the expenditure of our money. We do not see it. There are old men among us who are rich and half-starving.

"The Indian is not asking for self-determination. All he asks is to be free.

"Let him be equal politically to the foreigners who are here for two or three years and who then become citizens.

"The Indian was abreast of Christ's philosophy without knowing it.

"He developed a character without money and without material.

"He was defeated and overrun in a business world because he was trusting.

"Our ancestors didn't know anything about business.

"Practices of the white man and the system by which we are controlled are demoralizing us. They are taking the stuff out of us. Liberty and independence are our need.

"The Indian loves every place where God perches—the mountain summit, the brow of a cliff above a lake, the top of a tree.

"The white man cannot stand against the elements.

"Among the white race we find masses of human 'junk.' With the Indian the law of the survival of the fittest has ever been in operation.

"Under the harsh conditions the Indian was called upon to face, the weaklings must die."

In "The American Indian Magazine" Dr. Eastman voices his plea for his race with power.

"The Indian Bureau," he says, "instead of being the servant of the people and of the Indians, in accordance with treaty stipulations, has grown into a petty autocracy."

"Is it not our due that we should call this fair land ours with you in full brotherhood?" he pertinently asks. "Have we not defended bravely its libertics, and may we not share them?"

Dr. Eastman was much interested in seeing the small courtyard at the rear of the Ritz-Carlton, even though asphalt has replaced the springing grass and delivery wagons are backed where once the forest trees were murmuring.

"I heard from Dr. Trotter, of Swarthmore, about this place," he said.

He was told that traditionally the Indians had the right to camp here whenever they came to the city, and that it was supposed to remain open for that purpose always.

The prospect amused him. "I'm afraid it would not be a very good place to pitch a tent today," he remarked. "But I might try. I could get my meals at the Ritz. And if I was confronted with a city ordinance and told to move on, I might produce one of the numerous treaties that have been made with the Indian to prove my right to remain."

MUSICAL.

FINAL RECITAL.

McCORMACK AGAIN SINGS TO IMMENSE AUDIENCE.

By Jeanne Redman.

To an audience that completely overflowed Shrine Auditorium, John McCormack last night gave his final concert in the city. He suffered noticeably with a cold, although his far-famed falsetti were flawless.

His coloratura, "Enjoy the Sweet Elysian Crove" by Handel, was quite his piece de resistance, as he showed superior style, intelligence and color. He was enthusiastically encored, responding with "Ladye Sweete and Faire," an old English ballad.

The Schubert "Ave Maria," however, McCormack sang in a drawl, concentrating to an unusual degree. His voice placement was less smooth and not well focused, and he showed lack of tone color.

McCormack's entire programme was monotonous, the only varied bit being perhaps a very clever fragment, "The Magpie's Nest," by Hughes, in which he naively took the audience into his confidence. In his avoidance of the Irish songs with which he usually intersperses his programmes, he failed to attain his usual variability that is so much a part of the McCormack recital. Where is John without his brogue? And we do not go to McCormack for surprises; we want him just as he is and has always been. Perhaps his songs in Irish dialect are among the most popular things he does. However, we had Gitz-Rice's "Dear Old Pal o' Mine," and "Mother Machree," "Tommy Lad" and "Roses of Picardy," the three latter encores.

Lieut. Donald McBeath is not brilliant, but very satisfying. He played the De Beriot Concerto No. 7, which was encored. In his second group he played Faure's "Berceuse" and the Ravenscroft-Moffet "Two Hornpipes" with finesse, encoring with the "Orientale" of Cesare Cui.

Edwin Schneider plays well, but with pronounced mannerisms. His accompaniment to the "Two Hornpipes," and the Rachmaninoff "Fear Not, My Love," was excellent. The house waxed enthusiastic over his own composition, "Flower Rain," which is a slight, but gracile piece.

Final Sonata Evening.

The last of the series of sonata evenings by May Macdonald Hope, pianist, and Josef Rosenfeld, violinist, will be given this evening at Blanchard Hall. Mrs. Hope and Rosenfeld will play the Kreutzer Sonata of Beethoven, and with Robert Alter, 'cellist, the Rubinstein Trio in G Minor. A trio for flute, viola and piano, by Holbrokke, English modernist, will be played by Jay Plowe, flutist, and Rosenfeld, viola, with Mrs. Hope at the piano. Jay Plowe will be the soloist for the concert.

RICHARDSON AT HOME IN COLDEST SIBERIA.

[BY A. P. CORRESPONDENCE.]

SEWARD (Alaska) April 10.—Arctic winter weather of Northern Russia probably will not bother Brig.-Gen. Wilds P. Richardson, commander of the American forces at Archangel, for the general is a pioneer Alaska "sourdough" of about twenty years' residence and service in this northern territory.

As a lieutenant, not long out of of West Point, Richardson came to Alaska first with the gold stampeders of 1898. With a Capt. Ray he was stationed on the Yukon River to preserve order. Later he was promoted to captain, and selected the sites of the present-day army posts of Fort Davis, near Nome; Fort Gibbon, at Tanana; Fort Egbert, at Eagle, and Fort William H. Seward, at Haines.

When Richardson became major he was head of the Alaska Road Commission, and directed the work of laying out roads and trails in all parts of the territory. "Richardson's Highway," across the Alaska Mountains, from Cordova to Fairbanks, bears his name. Later, while still in Alaska, he beame lieutenant-colonel, colonel and finally brigadier-general. All of his promotions came for service in the north.

In November, 1917, Gen. Richardson was assigned to command the Depot Brigade at Camp Lee, Petersburg. In March, 1918, as commander of a brigade, he went to France. Recently he was selected for service in Northern Russia.

TELEPHONE WEDDING CULMINATES ROMANCE.

[BY A. P. CORRESPONDENCE.]

DENVER (Colo.) May 7.—A high school romance, begun in the town of Ashland, Or., resulted, Easter Sunday, in a wedding by long distance telephone, when Robert J. Throne of Denver and Miss Rose H. Thomas, a school teacher of Ashland, were married by the Rev. James Thomas. The wedding was kept secret until recently.

Standing at the Denver end of the telephone, the Rev. Mr. Thomas read the marriage service to Miss Thomas, standing at the Ashland end, after which she pronounced the promise to love, honor and obey. This was repeated for two witnesses in Denver, then the Rev. Mr. Thomas secured the required promise from Mr. Throne, who was in Denver, and the ceremony was over.

As a result of the difference in time, Mrs. Throne will have one hour more of married life next year on Easter Sunday than the bridegroom. It was 11 o'clock in Ashland when the ceremony was performed. Again, while the bridegroom will remember his wedding day as a beautiful Easter Sunday, the bride will have recollections of a pouring rain.

The bride will join her husband in Denver at the expiration of the school term in Ashland.

REMODELING WORK ON GOLF COURSE.

ANNANDALE LINKS WILL BE CLOSED UNTIL NEXT SEPTEMBER.

Remodeling work on the Annandale Country Club golf course has begun, and the links will be closed until next September, according to word issued by the club authorities yesterday. A complete overhauling of the course and the installation of grass greens are planned.

The entire course will be plowed and sown to grass, and the greens sodded. No change in the arrangement of the holes or distances are to be made.

Billy Hanley, professional at the Annandale, will take over the corresponding duties at the Orange County Country Club while the course is closed.

Many of the Annandale members also hold membership in the Midwick Club, and will use the latter course during the closed period. Some arrangement between the two clubs may be made to accommodate all of the Annandale membership.

This course will be the second grass green links in Southern California. The Los Angeles Country Club boasts of the only other course of this kind in the vicinity. The importance of this addition cannot be underestimated, as it will mean additional accommodations for the golfers from the North and East who have been accustomed to grass greens. Tourists who have been attracted to Florida and the other Southern States will now have at least two first-class courses for their use here.

DUAL SWIMMING EVENT TODAY.

POLY'S STELLAR TEAM TO MEET HUNTINGTON PARK HIGH SQUAD.

Polytechnic's stellar swimming team will meet the fast Huntington Park High School squad this afternoon in the latter's plunge in a dual swimming meet, according to Vance Vieth, who has tutored a number of Poly lads.

The meet will consist of 50, 100, 220 and 440-yard free-style races, 100-yard breast stroke, 100-yard back stroke, plunge for distance, spring board, diving and relay race.

Poly's victory over Pasadena last week and the excellent showing made by the Mechanic squad makes the local lads the favorites in today's contest.

The Polytechnic team will consist of Vultee, Craig, Kirchner, Knight, Phillips, Randall, Lockheart and Mathey. The first four named of this group are members of the L.A.A.C., swimming squad and form the relay team of the high school aggregation in addition to their individual performances in the single events of the programme.

VILLA GETS DRESSY; NOW WEARS NECKTIE.

[BY A. P. CORRESPONDENCE.]

JUAREZ (Mex.) May 6.—Francisco Villa is adopting the ways of civilization. A snapshot received here from Moctezuma, Chihuahua, show Villa wearing a "boiled" shirt and a necktie. The picture was taken when Villa occupied the plaza at Moctezuma, last month.

The shirt was not such a surprise to those who knew Villa as he has worn them on very special occasions in the past. But the necktie was an entirely new affection for the Rebel leader. Villa always said he never would wear a tie and, as for starched collars, "they were invented by the devil as an instrument of torture," he said.

The presence of Gen. Felipe Angeles with Villa is thought to have accomplished this change. Gen. Angeles is careful of his dress, even in the field, and is shown in the picture with Villa wearing a starched collar, tailored clothes and custom-made shoes.

ARMY LIVE STOCK IS BEING DEMOBILIZED.

[BY A. P. CORRESPONDENCE.]

DALLAS (Tex.) May 5.—Demobilization of the army mule and horse is going forward rapidly, according to figures on government sales just compiled by C. O. Moser, live-stock inspector of the purchasing quartermaster.

The figures show that during the war the government bought 115,000 head of horses and mules at a total cost of $27,000,000 in the southern and central purchasing zones. When hostilities ended the government owned about 500,000 head of horses and mules, 300,000 in the United States and 200,000 in France, only 70,000 of the latter number having been shipped from this country.

Because of the big demand for these animals on Central West farms the government has been hurrying distribution, and when auctions now advertised are completed 150,000 animals will have been placed back on farms since January 1.

Cavalry horses cost the government an average of $165, artillery horses $190, and mules $130, according to these figures. At the sales cavalry horses have brought an average of $85, artillery horses $150 and draft mules $160. The sales have included many worn out animals, some selling for as little as $10. On the other hand, many animals have brought fancy prices.

DEATH CALLS PIONEER.

Old S. P. Engineer and Prominent Mason Dies at Turlock.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

TURLOCK, May 8.—William R. Hatfield, for forty-one years an engineer in the employ of the Southern Pacific and the first engineer to take a through passenger train from Los Angeles to San Francisco over the Tehachepi Mountains, is dead at the age of 73 years. It was at his suggestion that the present system of mileage pay was adopted by the Southern Pacific back in 1895. He was a veteran of the Civil War and a high man in Masonic circles in Central California. He retired from active work six years ago and made his home here with his daughter, spending a good deal of his time around the bay cities, where he had a wide acquaintance.

BEAUTY WITH UTILITY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA BARBARA, May 8.—Because of a failing water supply, due to the lack of rain, the city of Santa Barbara has found it necessary to secure from Dr. H. E. Bothin of Montecito, a daily delivery of 30,000 gallons from the Bothin supply, the Montecito man having one of the finest water supplies of any private estate holder in this section. The Bothin water resources are mostly in Cold Spring Canyon. He conveys the water to a ridge on the mountains, below his Italian tea house, and then turns the stream loose down the mountainside. Several hundred concrete basins have been built on the declivity and into these the water splashes, the series of waterfalls thus created making an attractive sight. The idea was copied from an Italian waterfall.

BUYS OIL PROPERTY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VISALIA, May 8. — Litigation which has been in the Superior Court here for nearly a year, came to an end when the Union Oil Company bought for $100,000 the property of the Visalia Oil Company, consisting of 160 acres of producing land in the Taft district. Announcement of the sale was made in a formal statement to the court.

The Visalia corporation, which is financed by a number of local merchants, leased their property to the Union Oil Company. Shortly afterward suit was brought to evict the tenants on the ground they had not fulfilled their agreement.

RIVERSIDE, May 8.—A tubercular hospital to cost not less than $65,000 will be erected at some point in this county, as the result of a conference held here yesterday between the Supervisors of Orange and Riverside counties. These two counties will join in the project, regardless of whether Imperial and Inyo counties, which have been invited to do so, decide to come in or not. The institution will be available for returned soldiers who may be afflicted with tuberculosis, and it is expected that the government will provide funds for their care.

FORMER FOOTBALL STAR DIES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

Perry Hadlock, killed in a fall of an airplane near Houston, on Tuesday, was one of the finest athletes and most popular men in the University of Redlands when he enlisted in the aviation section over a year ago. ## PLAN TO START HARBOR WORK.

Engineer to Ask for Funds for Immediate Use.

Complaint of Ship Owners to be Investigated.

Battleship Oregon Leaves on Victory Loan Voyage.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, May 8.—Now that the harbor bonds have been voted the city harbor engineers are making plans to start work on plans for the contemplated improvements. J. W. Ludlow, harbor engineer, will ask the Harbor Commission tomorrow to secure a loan from the general fund to pay the expense of preparing the plans and getting new equipment for the work to be started when the bonds are sold.

It is not likely that the bonds can be sold before next September. In the meantime about twenty draftsmen will be required to work up the plans for the work. To pay the expense of the draftsmen and get material ready for the work it is estimated that about $10,000 per month will be required in order that there may be no delay in getting ready for business that other ports are already prepared to handle.

ENTER PROTEST.

The San Pedro Chamber of Commerce today appointed a committee to investigate a complaint from shipowners that they are charged more to do business at this port than at other Pacific Coast ports. Strong competition has developed between Pacific Coast ports to develop foreign business. To encourage ships both to and from San Francisco has adopted the policy of taking all possible port charges off the ships and placing them upon the cargo. Free dockage is offered and low water rates have been offered.

Complaints have been made that the Los Angeles policy has been to tax the ships rather than the cargo and that this is a discrimination against the ships in favor of the railroads and shippers. Ship-owners say that Los Angeles should follow the lead taken by other ports in transferring port charges from the ships to the cargo if Los Angeles gets its share of the foreign trade.

OREGON TO LEAVE.

The U.S.S. Oregon will leave tonight for San Diego on its Victory Loan voyage. Blood rules at the harbor following the visit of the Oregon broke all records for one day, the sales amounting to $16,850. Last night the Oregon was brilliantly lighted and the letter "V" flashed upon the sky by searchlights.

DIES AT FRESNO.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, May 8.—Word was received early today that Sydney A. Stevens, for several years proprietor of the Strand Cafe, fell dead this morning at the home of his sister in Fresno, where he had been visiting. Heart failure is believed to have been the cause of his sudden death.

Stevens was one of the best-known men in the Bay district, and had been prominent in the cafe business in Southern California for twenty-five years.

FIGHT RESULTS IN DEATH AND INJURY.

SHERIFF SEEKS UNKNOWN MAN SAID TO BE RESPONSIBLE FOR TROUBLE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TURLOCK, May 8.—As the result of a fight on the Turlock-Newman highway, four miles west of here, at 3 o'clock this morning, Thomas F. McGuire, laborer, 35 years of age, whose home is believed to be at 149 Roussau street, San Francisco, is dead from knife wounds in his neck.

W. A. Towner and John Sweeney are terribly injured and in a hospital here, the one with a slash across his abdomen, and a deep wound in his back; the other with no less than twenty knife cuts on various parts of his body.

C. W. Dunn, a barber, is in jail with his clothing slit to ribbons as evidence of his participation in the affray and the Sheriff and his deputies are scouring the country for an unknown man to whom the somewhat incoherent stories of the men point as the murderer.

According to Forest Brown, driver of the car in which the party, which also included George Butler, were riding from Newman to Turlock, the men had been drinking and when a quarrel broke out among them, he stopped his car and ran to a farm house to summon an officer from town. When help arrived Towner and Sweeney were found lying in the highway near the car and McGuire was found in a field some distance away. All were hurried to the hospital where McGuire died a short time afterward.

FISHERMEN DELIGHTED.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, May 8.—Fish, particularly herring and halibut, is being hauled in all day by Bay City fishermen by the sackloads. Santa Monica fishermen say that this is the best season for large schools of herring that has occurred in years. Between 4000 and 5000 people, besides regular fishermen, bring in their lines with satisfactory results all during the week at the Long Wharf and Municipal Pier.

FUTURE BRIGHT FOR LONG BEACH HARBOR.

VESSELS OF FOREIGN LANDS SOON TO BE VISITORS AT ITS DOCK.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, May 8.—Vessels engaged in foreign trade will soon be sailing from Long Beach Harbor, according to the announcement of C. F. Van de Water, former president of the Chamber of Commerce and at present chairman of the Foreign Trade Committee of that organization, at a meeting of the directors today.

The ships that will convey the cargoes from this port into foreign trade channels are expected to make their first appearance here early in the fall, when the waterway now being dug, connecting Long Beach and Los Angeles harbors, will be completed, making one of the largest twin-harbors in the world.

The possibility of an early establishment here of a steamship line connecting this harbor district with Mexican ports was also announced at the meeting. By this means early Mexican agricultural crops could be brought up from the southern ports and goods turned out in the local industrial district taken down in return.

SENSATIONAL CHARGE.

"Nick the Needler," has made appearance in Long Beach. Miss Marjorie Wilson, 1140 Elm avenue reported to the police today she was jabbed in the arm with a needle, presumably with some hypodermic arrangement attached. The girl, who was riding in a local jitney bus when the incident occurred, has felt no ill effects thus far from the injury. Miss Wilson says the man whom she believes attacked her carried what appeared to be a set of batteries to which it was believed the needle was attached.

Reservations can be made for the Linnard hotels with our representative, Mr. Wm. D. Church, at 628 S. Spring St., Los Angeles. Phone Pico 3261. The Belvedere, (formerly Potter) of Santa Barbara, the Palace and Fairmont, San Francisco.—[Advertisement.

NEGROES IN CHARGE.

Supervisors Restore Authority to Colored Officers.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VISALIA, May 8.—Negroes of the Allensworth Colony, peopled entirely by that race, are to be allowed to continue in full control of their colony affairs, under a ruling of the Board of Supervisors, restoring to an official status the Allensworth judicial township. Recently the board voted to make Allensworth a part of Tulare township, and a protest was filed by the negroes, asking they be allowed to care for their own justice court cases.

Z. M. Hindman was named justice of the peace, and George A. Archer constable, after the order creating the township was passed. Both are negroes.

NEW BANK OFFICIALS.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

IMPERIAL, May 8.—The directors of the First National Bank early this week elected Vice-President M. A. Mackey cashier and Cashier C. W. Waite vice-president. V. V. Scott, head book-keeper, was made assistant cashier, and R. W. Oakley of Memphis, Tenn., put in his place.

BOY'S TROUBLES COST HUNDREDS

15-Year Old Jas. Hogan Gains 16 Pounds.

Suffered Since He Was Two Years Old

His Health Is Restored by Tanlac.

"My nephew, James Hogan, who is 15 years of age, has gained sixteen pounds on Tanlac and is now a robust, happy boy after thirteen years of awful suffering," said Miss Maggie Goldsmith, 280 Henry avenue, Memphis, Tenn. Miss Goldsmith has been connected with the Joe L. Ullathorne Seed Company, of that city for twenty-seven years and is a stockholder and director in the company.

"Ever since James was 2 years old," continued Miss Goldsmith, "he has been afflicted with stomach trouble. Two or three hours after eating, especially in the evening meal, he would begin to complain of severe pains in his stomach, which would increase until he would go into convulsions. These spells would come on five or six times a month and last about thirty minutes and he would be unconscious for an hour. Some said he had heart trouble and others said it was vertigo. His condition kept him down to almost a skeleton and it was pitiful to see how he suffered.

"His mother took him to St. Louis, and many other places for treatment, and we spent hundreds of dollars trying to find some relief for him, but it was all to no avail.

"But all that awful load of anxiety and worry has been lifted. James is now a well and happy boy and is going to school, and a few bottles of Tanlac did it. He always complained of having to take other medicines, but he seemed to like Tanlac and since taking five bottles he is sixteen pounds heavier and doesn't look like the same boy. He wants to eat all the time and can eat anything without it hurting him. It makes us rejoice to see James well and stout and enjoying life like other boys. We are not looking for notoriety, but for the sake of suffering humanity, we are willing to give our unqualified endorsement for Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Los Angeles, Pasadena and San Diego by the Owl Drug Company.

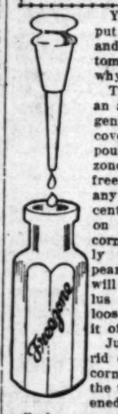
Women! Here Is A Dandy Thing

Few drops stop corns hurting then they lift right out with fingers



Your high heels have put corns on your toes and calluses on the bottom of your feet, but why care now?

This tiny bottle holds an almost magic fluid. A genius in Cincinnati discovered this ether compound and named it freezone. Small bottles of freezone can be had at any drug store for a few cents. Apply a few drops on your tender, aching corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly you will find the corn or callus so shriveled and loose that you can lift it off with the fingers.

Just think! You get rid of a hard corn, soft corn or a corn between the toes, as well as hardened calluses, without suffering one particle. Millions of women keep a tiny bottle on the dresser and never let corns ache twice.

TEACHERS NEAR BREAKING POINT

Will do "Something Rash" if Pay's not Increased.

Board Serious Action is Contemplated.

"Dissatisfied Force," Says Superintendent.

When the School Board grants teachers of this city and county adequate raise in salary, there ought to be real trouble among teaching staff, Miss W. Von de Leeuw, president of the City Teachers' Association, told the Board of Education, yesterday afternoon.

"There is great unrest among the teachers, greater unrest than is present among any other group of workers, and unless something is done for the teachers will do something. I do not know what action they will commit, but conditions are at the breaking point now," Miss Von de Goorberg declared.

Miss Tanner, C. A. Wheeler and J. McDonald appeared before the board with Miss Goorberg, and declared that a salary increase is absolutely essential for the well being of the school system.

They urged a salary agreement in accordance with the schedule submitted several weeks ago. They declare the board should enforce the salary agreement, and that if there is not enough money in the County Supervisors hands to meet the pay roll, the schools should be closed until more funds available. In this way, it is declared by the teachers committee, the question of salary increase will be put squarely before the people of Los Angeles.

Albert Shiels, in laying the matter before the board, said it is not within the function of the Board of Education to fix the salaries of the teachers, and not to assist the County Supervisors who would not have sufficient funds.

Mr. Wheeler said the teachers are not concerned with whether the Supervisors have the money, what they want is increase in salary.

"NOTHING SERIOUS."

Members of the Board of Education at length on the matter of taxes, taxes, allowances and the like. He said the Board should sit down and the Supervisors should meet together and discuss the matter.

COVER ORDERED OFF MAGAZINE.

Depicts Soldiers as Victims of Broken Promises.

Matter is Referred to the Department of Justice.

Declaring that in their belief the picture is Bolshevikl propaganda, in effect if not intent, Sergt. E. M. Slaughter of the police war squad, Col. B. B. Ray of the League of Community Interest, and Lieut. A. R. Craven, aide to Col. Arthur Wood of the War Department, visited the office of The Dugout, a magazine in the Mason Operahouse Building, yesterday afternoon, and warned the publishers, Messrs. Watt and Flowers, not to use in any way a magazine cover carrying a picture with the implication that service men are being pushed over a precipice by bayonets, labeled "broken promises," "underhanded methods," etc.

Later Sergt. Slaughter visited Special Agent Keep of the Department of Justice and turned over to him a copy of the cover picture. Mr. Keep instituted prompt inquiries, and a further conference with Sergt. Slaughter will be held at the Federal Building this forenoon.

Sergt. Slaughter said last night that a few days ago the war squad had to order The Dugout publishers to call in a number of men in uniform who were soliciting for the magazine.

Col. Ray said he regards The Dugout as a profiteering enterprise, and asserts that he has heard repeated complaints in regard to it. He called Lieut. Craven's attention to it, and the lieutenant, who is here at the order of the Assistant Secretary of War to assist in soldier replacement, declared himself with considerable emphasis on the subject.

"If you have no city ordinance that will cover the point," said he, "no doubt the Department of Justice can act, but if it can't I'm very sure the War Department can. I'm on my way to San Francisco now, but I'll be back Monday to see this thing through."

Sergt. Slaughter said when the matter was taken up with The Dugout publishers one of them seemed willing to lay the cover page aside, but that the other seemed inclined to want to think the matter over until today.

"EXAMINER" IS HELD PRO-HUN.

Hypothetical Court Question Cites Hearst Attitude.

Alienist Again Interrogated in Kafitz Will Case.

Letter from "Geo." to Widow is Also Introduced.

A "Geo." letter, a citing of the Los Angeles Examiner as pro-German, objections, retort and counter-retort, featured the proceedings in the Kafitz will contest on trial before a jury in Judge Myers's court yesterday. Attorney Joseph Scott, counsel for Mrs. Maud M. Kafitz, the widow, contesting the will of her husband, William Kafitz, read a reframed hypothetical question to Dr. H. G. Brainerd, alienist.

His reply was that assuming the facts to be true as stated in the question, it was his opinion that Mr. Kafitz was of unsound mind. Attorneys Oscar Lawler and John L. Murphey put to Dr. Brainerd hypothetical questions based on evidence not touched upon by Mr. Scott. He was asked whether, assuming these facts to be true, would they cause him to change his opinion. Dr. Brainerd replied "Yes."

The "Geo." letter was in the question. This is the alleged letter which Mr. Kafitz intercepted at his Gramercy-place home and is one of the things by which the heirs expect to show, in connection with the attempt on the part of Mrs. Kafitz to shoot her husband, that that was why he cut her off in his will. Mrs. Kafitz denied that she tried to kill her husband; she said she shot merely to scare him.

"Geo." wrote from the Hotel Jovita, Los Angeles, on December 10, 1917, as follows:

"Maud dear: Poor 'little girl,' she has a hard time with all her big and little troubles. Daddy is willing to help you in any way he can; that you know quite well. Please, please, dear, won't you write me a few lines to let me know how you are in case you can not get downstairs to phone?"

The mention of the Examiner in the long hypothetical question read by Mr. Murphey, came in when he asked:

"Now, would you consider it any evidence of insanity in this case, keeping always in mind that this man was German-born, that he read German newspapers before the war, and after the war started between this country and the United States, that he read only the Examiner here—because he considered that more favorable than the others—and German papers, and that he was an ardent supporter of Germany in the war; that he did not believe that the Germans either singly or as a whole, by their army or in any other way, had committed the foul atrocities that were ascribed to them that they committed in Belgium and Northern France and elsewhere . . . and that his wife said to him: 'If you don't allow me to buy government bonds, I will go as a Red Cross nurse in the army,' and he said, 'If you do, I will kill you,' would you consider that alone of itself an evidence of insanity?"

Dr. Brainerd replied:

"It would arouse my suspicion certainly that the man was probably of unsound mind for threatening any one who was offering to help in caring for the sick, wounded and suffering of any nationality; who threatened to kill her if she did the same—threatened to murder her, it would certainly impress me with the idea that that man was of unsound mind."

The cross-examination of Dr. Brainerd will continue today.

DOESN'T WANT A JURY.

Is First Time Such Right Has Been Waived in Criminal Case Here.

Attorney J. B. Tatlow, representing B. D. Malone, charged with using the mails in a scheme to defraud, yesterday waived the services of a jury in the second trial of the accused, and the hearing will be by the court. It is the first time in the history of the local Federal court that a jury trial has been waived in a criminal action.

NEW HEAD FOR PURITY SQUAD.

Detective Sergeant O'Brien is Appointed—Hackett Asks Leave of Absence.

Detective Sergeant Thomas F. O'Brien was last night appointed head of the metropolitan squad, succeeding Sergt. Edward M. Slaughter, who will again assume charge of the war squad. The appointment of O'Brien was made immediately following the request of Sergt. Hackett, former head of the squad, and now under indictment on a bribery charge, for a leave of absence pending the outcome of his trial.

Detective O'Brien has already served four times in the same position, and according to Chief Butler is considered the best versed man in the police department in handling the work of suppressing vice and liquor violations.

The Lady or the Tiger?

TWO DAYS LEFT TO REACH QUOTA.

Los Angeles has Subscribed Less Than a Third of Her Victory Allotment to Date; Tremendous Effort to be Put Forth Today and Tomorrow.

To assist them in buying the Victory Loan every bank in Los Angeles has agreed to loan its customers 90 per cent. of the amount of their subscription for six months instead of three at 4¾ per cent. interest and invites customers to take advantage of the offer.

The banks also state that such loans will not be considered any part of the customer's regular credit line, but will be gladly made in addition thereto.

[Signed] HENRY S. McKEE, Chairman.
Victory Loan Committee.

In the above statement, which Chairman McKee declared last night to be of paramount importance, the responsibility for Los Angeles' failure or success in establishing her Victory Loan quota by Saturday night is once more put definitely up to the people themselves.

Mr. McKee does not hesitate to say that it is the man who should be in the "big subscriber" class who is imperiling the loan. The man who is perfectly able to take $10,000, $25,000 or $50,000 and is contenting himself with a $1000 bond and waxing his button as jauntily as the clerk who borrows upon his prospective earnings to carry a $50 bond.

Now that the banks have agreed to practically finance the individual loans, carrying them for six months without infringing upon the credit line of the subscriber, the last vestige of an excuse is gone, according to loan leaders. "If The Times could say something Friday morning that would bring every nonbutton-wearer to a sense of the impending tragedy, he would at first hang his head in shame and then strike out for the nearest bond salesman," concluded the chairman.

THIS CITY GAINS.

Campaign Manager Moulton refuses to give up the ship. He says that his faith in the people of Los Angeles is so great that he still believes they will respond to the call of duty and put this city over the top before the loan closes. San Francisco is still leading us in the race, but Manager Moulton promised that if the same speed is maintained today as was shown yesterday Los Angeles will swing into the lead in the intercity derby before night. Yesterday Los Angeles gained 1% per cent. on San Francisco, but was still behind at the close of business San Francisco has reached 31.37 per cent. of its quota, and Los Angeles with a total subscription of $9,793,250 has 30.75 per cent. of her allotment.

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION.

Mayor Woodman heartily agreed to the suggestion that today be made a Victory Loan day and yesterday issued the following proclamation:

"Los Angeles is lagging, but I am sure the last day of this Victory Loan will find us over the top with our quota.

"At this hour the situation is serious. We are sadly behind.

"Every loyal American should devote his entire time Friday to secure subscriptions to raise the last dollar necessary in this Victory Loan drive.

"Our appreciation of the supreme sacrifice of our 70,000 American soldiers and sailors who gave up their lives can be shown only by what we do on Victory Loan day.

"I urgently appeal to every employer and employee to put this Victory Loan day up to his conscience.

"Let us honor our soldier and sailor dead, and in the meantime preserve the honor of our great city by working hard from sunrise to sunset, thinking, talking and doing everything in our power to make our Victory Loan day a monument to American patriotism.

[Signed] "F. T. WOODMAN.
"Mayor."

APPEAL TO WOMEN.

Mrs. E. R. Brainerd, chairman of the Woman's Liberty Loan Committee, yesterday received the following telegram from Carter Glass, Secretary of the Treasury:

"The women of the United States have made instant and magnificent response to every call which the government has made to them. Through the five Liberty Loans they have served with devotion, with zeal and self-sacrificing patriotism. They have bought bonds to the limit of their purchasing power, and they have sold bonds to the limit of human power of endurance, of persuasion, and of steadfastness in purpose. Even with the armistice signed, they have never ceased in their unswerving devotion to duty in this Victory Liberty Loan. They have been pillars of powers and towers of strength in the selling organization. Undaunted by obstacles and discouragement, they have held their posts.

"At this crisis of the loan the government of the United States again sounds the bugle of further advance, in keen realization of what women have already done in this and other campaigns.

OUR TOTALS.

The official figures showing the conditions at the close of business last night were disheartening, but the loan committee is still pinning its faith in Los Angeles and an eleventh-hour awakening to the extent of the disaster of permitting every other large city in the United States to beat us out. Today it is urged that every other consideration be set aside and the supreme duty of the hour made the securing of bond subscriptions. The Southern California district has only taken 43.41 per cent. of its quota so far, as compared with 64.4 per cent. two days before the fourth loan closed. Los Angeles county has rolled up the disconcerting record of 36.52 per cent. of the whole, while Los Angeles city is trailing the field with 31.17 per cent. Here are the figures released by W. B. Hunnewell, director of county organization, and which speak eloquently of the task which confronts the community today and tomorrow:

An additional and special appeal was made last evening by Chairman McKee to the substantial and representative citizens of each precinct.

GIANT SERVICE PAGEANT ON THE FOURTH OF JULY.

All Southland's Returned Soldiers and Sailors and All War Workers to March in Mighty Parade.

Preliminary plans were approved yesterday by Mayor Woodman and Col. Beecher B. Ray of the Welcome Home Committee for returned soldiers and sailors, for the greatest military and war service spectacle ever seen in the West, to be held in this city probably on July 4.

In this pageant, according to present plans, will march in uniform and by units every soldier and sailor that Los Angeles and her sister Southland cities supplied for the war—most of them will be back by July 4, according to the demobilization programme—every branch of the noncombatant field service, including our army of Red Cross workers, army surgeons, hospital units, engineers, etc., our 2000 members of the Student Army Training Corps and representatives of every war work and war relief organization that served at home. At least 75,000 will be in line, it is estimated, not the smallest part of the aggregate being the thousands of returned fighters who, by reason of returning individually or in small groups, have never been given a public welcome or an opportunity to be seen by a grateful citizenry. One automobile division will carry the wounded and convalescent. A programme of field sports will probably be held at Exposition Park in the afternoon.

Mayor Woodman, who expressed himself as being wholeheartedly behind the plan, said that an earlier date has been tentatively suggested because of many people being absent on vacations on July 4, but that Independence Day might best suit the general public. More soldiers will be back from overseas then than earlier, it is pointed out. The Mayor will set the necessary machinery in motion at an early date, he indicated.

Some idea of the size of the projected spectacle may be drawn from the fact that Los Angeles alone contributed 15,792 drafted men to the army. The navy got 1805 here, 1600 joined the Engineering Corps, 600 went into the marines, 385 enlisted in the Medical Corps, two base hospital units took another 140 men, the old Seventh Regiment embraced 600 local soldiers, volunteer enlistments in the army totaled 500, making approximately 21,761 Los Angeles men actually in service.

In addition to this number the war workers at home included 18,000 Liberty Loan campaigners, 200 Red Cross drive workers, 10,000 Red Cross volunteers, 150 Four Minute men, 2000 men in the Student Army Training Corps, 2000 in the Women's Land Army, 393 Red Cross nurses, and upwards of 18,000 shipbuilders. From all Southern California it will be possible to get together between 25,000 and 50,000 soldiers and sailors for the parade, Col. Ray believes.

DOROTHY DIX TALKS

Protect Your Old Age.

BY DOROTHY DIX.

The one inevitable misfortune of life is age. Only by dying young can we escape that. If we live we are bound to come, every one of us, to the time of the sere and yellow leaf. Our mental powers fail, our strength goes from us. We can no longer hold our own with lusty youth and we become helpless and useless, mere cumberers of the ground.

The most pathetic thing on earth is poor and dependent old age. There are two spectacles that wring the heart of every observer. One is of the old man and woman, weak and feeble, but forced by dire necessity to toil beyond their strength at some menial task in what should be the rest time of their lives.

The old, gray, bent clerk, working far into the night over his ledger because his dulling faculties make him slow and inaccurate; the old, tottering man, pushing his little peddler's cart with a few poor wares he is trying to sell; the bent and crippled old woman down on her rheumatic knees scrubbing office floors; the wind-and-weather-beaten, toothless old woman at the corner with her little bundle of papers. There is not one of us whose eyes have not stung with tears at the sight of these.

And not less pitiful are the old men and women who live on the grudging charity of others, who feel themselves burdens even on their own children, who are slighted and scorned, and the bread of whose dependence is bitter in their mouths.

These are not new thoughts. The dread of age is ever present with us. The tragedy of poor, dependent age is a sight that is continually before our eyes, and this makes it the most amazing thing in the world that so many people take no step to try to protect themselves from the greatest catastrophe that can possibly happen to them.

There is, of course, no way in which we can ward off age, but we can protect ourselves against the things that make it desolate. We can keep the end of our day from being a cold and bitter closing in of the night, and turn it into a beautiful and restful and glorious twilight, if only we have enough intelligence and courage to take council of facts as they are, instead of as we wish they were.

To do this we must realize in our youth that the one and only thing that takes the curse off of age is money. We must realize that the only staff upon which we can lean in our age with any certainty that it will not break under us is a bank account. We must realize that the respect with which we are treated, the consideration that is shown us, even the affection of our children, is in direct ratio to what we have to leave in our wills.

This may sound cynical, but no one will dare dispute its truth. Between grandpa without a penny, grandpa who must be fed and housed and clothed, and grandpa with a fat wallet, grandpa from whom a stream of presents continually flows, there is a great gulf fixed.

Nor is this difference between the way in which poor old people and prosperous old people are treated altogether as outrageous as it seems. As a mere matter of fact we had as well admit that old people are seldom either interesting or attractive of themselves. As we grow old we loose our charm. We grow ugly to look upon. We grow dull to talk to. We become bores who tell over and over the same tedious stories. We get little ways and habits that grate upon the nerves of those about us.

Why, then, should the young, who have their own full lives, wish to bother with us unless we can make it worth their while? After all, life is run on a barter, give-and-take plan, and so it is not unfair that when we are old and can add nothing to the pleasure of others by our responsibility we should pay our way in good coin of the realm.

For this reason, if for no other, when we are young we should begin laying up something for our age so that when we are old it will pay people to be polite and courteous to us. You never see a rich old person who isn't coddled and given the best seat at the fire and welcomed as a guest in the house of his or her relatives. And you seldom see a poor old person who isn't neglected and forlorn and whose relatives do not regard a visit from him or her as a species of martyrdom.

Human nature is selfish and desperately avaricious, and one's own children are just as selfish and just as money-grabbing as everybody else is. This is why any man and woman who turn over all their property to their children deserve to be sent to a senile asylum, for they are so imbecile they know not what they do.

They are throwing away their ticket of welcome in their children's homes. They are giving up the card that entitles them to tender and affectionate treatment from their children. They are relinquishing the role as head of the family to become a hanger-on of the family.

As long as father and mother have money they are going to have dutiful children and respectful in-laws, but when there is nothing more to be gained by paying attention to a poor, old, feeble-minded man or woman, who has let a grafting son and daughter wheedle him or her out of every cent, what's the use in bothering with him or her any more? None whatever.

Let parents remember this: If your children really love you and appreciate you they will not want to take your money away from you. They will want you to enjoy it and have the blessed peace of independence in your soul, and if they are not the right sort of children and are so anxious for your money that they cannot wait for you to die to get it, then hang on to your properties to the last gasp, for it is the only way that you can assure yourself even a pretense of affection from your sons and daughters.

If you would avoid a miserable old age, save up enough money to see you through it comfortably. There are pockets even in shrouds.

PLAYED OUT.

BY THE ALTADENA BACHELOR.

The major poets all are dead,
The dramatists have ceased to shine.
Philosophers have long since said
Things that no modern seers divine;
In painting, sculpture, music, art,
There are no laurels to be won;
The ancients had too long a start,
There's nothing new beneath the sun.

By submarine the first of tripe
Was Jonah's—in his living barque;
Our giant trans-Atlantic ships
Were toys compared to Noah's Ark.
We boast of the ten-thousand feet
Reached by some new ambitious flyer;
Elijah has all records beat
In his old chariot of fire.

The "trust" and "combine" always failed
When Croesus ruled in golden state;
Brave Julius Caesar never quailed
Before the "walking delegate."
Now grafters glean the larder clean,
Congress adjourns—no business done;
In every law we find a flaw
And nothing's straight beneath the sun.

Our statesmanship's a bag of tricks
That Plato's ghost must think absurd;
About the art of politics
Lord Bacon wrote the latest word.
This played-out earth is sick with age,
The sands of time are nearly run—
Except upon "The Trouble Page"
There's nothing new beneath the sun.

STEPMOTHERS.

BY ONE OF THEM.

I have enjoyed the privilege of playing the part of old maid, stepmother, step-mother-in-law, and step-grandmother-in-law, and still live to tell the tale!

While Lincoln ascribed all he was to his "angel mother," he also paid tribute to the woman who took up the burden laid down by his mother, "Nancy Hanks," and helped and encouraged him in his hard struggle for an education.

When the stepmother of Gen. Lew Wallace was expressing her admiration for the leper-mother in "Ben Hur" she was told by him, to her great surprise, that she was his model for that beautiful character.

The oldest son of John Sevier, first Governor of Tennessee, could thank his stepmother—succession to "Bonnie Kate"—for the chance to join his illustrious father in battle, as it was only by her tactful persuasion that his desire was gratified.

These are only a few of the instances which history furnishes of the successful members of this much-maligned class of individual.

Next Sunday will be mothers' day at our churches, when those who are still blessed with a mother will wear a red carnation, while those who have lost that blessing will wear a white one. This is a plea to those who, having lost one mother, are having the loving care of another, that they let the stepmother share the honors of the day by wearing both, a white one for the mother in heaven and a red for the one who has "stepped" into her place.

These are red letter days along the paths of many stepmothers, when words of appreciation were said or written by the children, and one who, realizing to the fullest the trying position of children who saw the home of their mother remodeled and refurnished for another, tried her utmost to fill the place worthily, treasures as one of her dearest possessions a letter from the husband who, by his loyalty to both her and his children, made possible this expression, "It makes me so happy to know the children are so devoted to you; your interest in them could not be greater if they were your own by birth."

These "rewards of merit" are wonderfully comforting to have in the sanctity of the home, but an added pleasure would be a public recognition as shown by a union of the white and the red carnations on Mother's Day.

Dry Prospect Hurts Bonds?

LOS ANGELES, May 6.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Wonder is expressed all over the country because the Victory Liberty Bonds are not being subscribed for as fast as previous Liberty Bond issues. Is it not possible that nation-wide prohibition may be the answer?

Personally I have no use for alcoholic drinks, but as an American citizen I do not consider it my business what another's tastes may be. It is asserted thousands of times daily that the "long-haired men and short-haired women" are responsible for the law which will make it a crime to manufacture and sell alcoholic drinks after January 16, next. You know as well as many others that the manufacturers and handlers of drinks are most liberal and generous-minded persons of our country, always ready to respond not only to the call for funds for their own country, but to cases of suffering and privation in other lands.

A writer in a local paper wants to know what has become of "all that fine, patriotic frenzy" shown by the people the day the signing of the armistice was announced. Many of them are undoubtedly asking the question, "What have become of our rights as free and independent American citizens?"

As a result of the nation-wide prohibition law, I will venture the prediction that within ten years from now we shall have the starting of a race of degenerates that will result in the gradual downfall of the American people. Why? Because a man (or woman, for that matter) desiring liquor will obtain it some way or another. If he cannot get it in the old way, he will manufacture it himself; not being an adept, he will produce an article that will start him on the downward road to physical degeneracy.

Teachers' Salaries.

LOS ANGELES, May 7.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The recently-published appeal for higher salaries by the school teachers of Los Angeles, who point out that the pay of many of their number is less than the wages of sewer cleaners, brings up an old grievance which surely ought to be remedied.

One would think—and, indeed, it seems—that the majority of persons are more interested in their own selfish interests than in preparing the next generation to carry on its work. I know that a man will pay more to his stock-farm manager than he will to his school principal. And an attorney will pay more for a competent stenographer than to the teacher of his children.

For eight years I taught school, and let me state that my salary toward the end was better than 90 per cent of the teachers of the nation, but I was mighty glad to get out of it. The idealism with which I began had disappeared in the face of sacrifice with which I and myself did not prosper the commiseration of other sions—and I was glad to

Japanese Children Prove Native Birth.

Masakatsu, Kimiko and Toshiko Kumamoto.

Kimiko, Masakatsu and Toshiko Kumamoto, children of Japanese parents, became citizens of the United States, yesterday, when Judge Jackson established their birth at Tropico. The children are aged 11, 7 and 5 years. Kimiko and Masakatsu go to school at Tropico, play with white children and dress like them.

The birth of these children, as well as the births of Shizuko, Shizuo, Haruo and Yoneichi Miyasaki, other petitioners, were established on sufficient evidence. In the case of Yoichi Yamatoku, the court continued it until August 1 to produce the passport of the mother. The parents of the children were born in Japan. They were represented by Attorney Ernest U. Schroetter.

Before he would pass on the petition, because of their international aspects, Judge Jackson arranged to have the cases investigated. He appointed Senator Carter and J. W. Wright, who reported favorably on one case, and Ben S. Hunter, who reported favorably on one case and unfavorably on another case.

"This is a very dangerous situation," said Judge Jackson, yesterday. "The door is open unless the most thorough investigation is had for decrees establishing citizenship of children born of Japanese parents. This is a decree that the children named in the petition are citizens of the United States, who may hold office, own land, and convey property. They have the same rights as other citizens.

"If a female marries a subject of Japan, however, she loses her American citizenship; if the male marries a foreign woman, it makes her an American citizen as long as he lives here."

Judge Jackson proceeded thoroughly to inquire into the family history of the Japanese parents before him. He received the evidence of white citizens who were on ranches adjoining the petitioners, who vouched for the authenticity of the birth of the children.

In these cases the parents, through ignorance, had failed to have the births of the children registered. In this case the law allows the parties to petition the court to establish the birth.

LOS ANGELES, May 5.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I may be a radical Republican, but I believe in the old adage, "Be sure you are right, then go ahead," and not just run in and run up a lot of costs against our citizens just to make a man big in the eyes of a few. So I say let us have a man in the office of District Attorney who has the backbone to be sure he is in the right before he goes ahead. We had the foolishness when Capt. Fredericks was District Attorney and there was plenty of good lawyers in the city who would handle the business without making us pay unnecessary expenses.

I am one of many who wish to see our beautiful city have a clean name and not have it besmirched as it has been in the past two or three weeks, which I think is disgraceful. It seems to me that at least one-half of the costs of the Woodman trial should be paid by the District Attorney's office and to cut down the taxes that we citizens shall have to pay to support.

LUNCH WAGONS MUST GO NOW.

Supreme Court Cuts New Ground by Decision.

Holds City License Cannot Legalize a Nuisance.

Building Owner is Winner of Unique Suit on Appeal.

According to a judgment handed down yesterday by the State Supreme Court in the case of Frank R. Strong against J. Sullivan, a city license authorizing the proprietor of a lunch wagon to occupy the city streets in carrying on his business is a "mere scrap of paper." The court holds that the city has no right to grant a license that will have the effect of allowing the holder to use the public streets for stores or booths for business purposes, and that no lapse of time can legalize a public nuisance.

In the original action, Superior Judge Works held for the defendant, but the Supreme Court reverses this. It appears from the records in the case that Strong is the owner of the southwest corner of Seventh street and Central avenue, where there is a two-story building occupied by a tenant who conducts a restaurant. Every night Sullivan had a habit, it appears, of bringing his lunch wagon in front of the Strong building, occupying a portion of the street, and hindering egress from and ingress to the building, and also injuring Strong's tenant by running an opposition eating-house.

It appeared that Sullivan had a license from the city to do business, but paid no rent for the occupancy of the space covered by his ambulatory cafe. The court holds also that Sullivan daily committed a nuisance by maintaining his eating place in front of the plaintiff's property, and that the city had no authority to issue him a license that would allow him to do so.

This decision cuts some decidedly new ground on the point of what a city license really permits, as it was generally believed that a municipality had supreme control of its streets and could say what or what might not be placed thereon.

HACKETT TO BE TRIED.

Court Denies Demurrer to the Officer's Indictment.

Judge Willis yesterday denied a demurrer to the indictment of Sergt. William Hackett, head of the metropolitan squad, accused of asking, receiving and agreeing to receive a bribe. W. Joseph Ford, attorney for Hackett, argued that Hackett, according to the indictment, received nothing for himself, except the appointment as head of the squad. He held that he is not charged with getting money for himself, but for the Mayor's campaign fund, and inasmuch as the Mayor has been acquitted, the charge against Hackett should be dismissed.

Deputy District Attorney Stafford upheld the legality of the indictment, and Judge Willis denied the demurrer without comment. Hackett pleaded not guilty, and on May 12 the date for trial will be set, which will probably be after June 1.

RESTORE AND EXTEND PARCEL POST SERVICE.

Restoration and extension of the parcel post service of the United States throughout the world is shown by an order received at the Los Angeles postoffice yesterday from the Postoffice Department.

The instructions say: Accept parcel-post packages for Paraguay up to a limit of eleven pounds at a postage rate of 12 cents a pound, plus a flat rate of 20 cents for each parcel for transmission through Argentina.

Increase the maximum rate of parcel-post packages for Guatemala and British Honduras from eleven to twenty-two pounds, at the old rate of 11 cents per pound, or fraction thereof.

Accept parcel-post packages for Algeria, Corsica and Tunis, or French colonies, up to a weight limit of eleven pounds, provided two customs declarations are attached to each package. The rates on packages for Algeria and Corsica range from 32 cents a pound to $1.52 for eleven pounds; for points in Tunis, the rates range from 47 cents for one pound to $1.67 for eleven pounds.

Ship Captain Wants One as Mascot for Los Angeles Made Vessel.

Ahoy! Got a nautical dog? A Los Angeles-born and bred dog and one guaranteed to enjoy life on the ocean blue?

Capt. Oliver P. Rankin, who has just arrived from overseas, where he has been fighting German submarines, came to Los Angeles to take command of the Los Angeles-built 8800-ton freighter, West Conob. He looked over the vessel, now being equipped at the harbor, and said:

"All shipshape, but for one thing—I need a ship's mascot, a dog." The steel, rope and engine departments of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company reported no dogs on hand.

Capt. Rankin says that those having good mascot dogs for this vessel, which is soon to sail for the Orient on her first trip, under charter to the Pacific Mail, should take them to the offices of the Pacific Mail in the Merchants' National Bank Building, where Agent M. F. McLaurin, Capt. Rankin and others of the staff will pick out the most seaworthy one for the honor of being mascot to the vessel.

Miss Pauline Weiler,

Whose engagement to George Whitney Thompson was announced at a dinner given last evening by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Weiler.

SOCIETY.

BY VIRGINIA WOODS.

Engagement Told at Dinner.

At a beautiful dinner party, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Weiler of 535 South Gramercy place last evening announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Pauline Weiler, to George Whitney Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Thompson of 544 South Wilton place.

The table was adorned with Cecile Brunner roses, and the announcement was made by means of tiny name cards tied together in a nut, these fastened to the ends of ribbons extending from the chandelier and hidden in the mound of roses that centered the table.

Those first to hear the interesting news were Mrs. Daniel Francis Murphy (Catherine Mullen) of San Francisco, Mrs. Andrew Mullen, Mrs. Robert Heffner, Mrs. Walter Newton, Mrs. Leo McLaughlin, Misses Mabel Seely, Doreen Kavanagh, Georgia Kean, Fanita Gage, Dorothy Carmen, Florence Michaelsen, Elizabeth Monser, Lucille Evans, Marvell Wood, and Misses Florence, Helen Mildred and Jeanette Weiler, the four sisters of the bride-to-be.

Miss Weiler is a graduate of Elmhurst Academy, Providence, R. I., and of Columbia University of New York. She has been active in Red Cross and other war work since the beginning of the war, and has assisted in the Liberty Loan and Armenian drives. Her father is a wealthy banker of Houlton, Me., and divides his time between that town and Los Angeles, which is their winter home. The girls have been very popular in Los Angeles. The wedding will take place in the autumn.

For Lieut. Walsh.

As a farewell courtesy to Lieut. Overton Walsh, who will leave the first of next week for Washington, D. C., where he is aide de camp on the staff of Gen. Beverly F. Browne, Mrs. Francis A. Davidson of 4653 Oakwood avenue entertained at dinner last evening.

By E. Oberschelt.

A group of San Francisco friends were guests at dinner last evening of Mr. E. Oberschelt, who assembled them at the Athletic Club and later to hear McCormack sing. In the party were Mrs. La Motte Holmes and her daughter, Mrs. William Bishop Tomkins of this city.

By Mrs. Gray.

Mrs. Wheaton Gray gave a bridge luncheon at the Los Angeles Country Club. The table was decorated with hyacinths, roses, violets and other spring blossoms in Dresden tints, that filled an upturned straw hat. Plates were set for Mrs. Walter Trask, Mrs. William Dodd, Mrs. James Peyton, Mrs. Paul English, Mrs. Wells-Smith, Mrs. G. Wiley Wells, Mrs. John T. Jones and Mrs. Thomas Dudley.

For Two Brides.

Miss Dorothy Lindley of 2007 South Figueroa street is planning a luncheon for Wednesday, May 28, in compliment to two brides, Mrs. Edward H. McLaughlin (Edith Young,) and Mrs. Gerald Young (Gertrude Kerckhoff.) The party will be given at the Lindley home, and there are to be twenty-four guests.

For Miss Johnston.

Miss Florence Johnston, whose engagement to Lieut. Hancock Banning, Jr., was announced two weeks ago, is to be the honor guest at a luncheon which Miss Byna Kinsley is to give at her home at Hermosa Beach on Wednesday. Miss Johnston and her sister, Miss Margaret May Johnston, and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William T. Johnston, returned last night from San Francisco, where they have been visiting since the announcement was made. Lieut. Banning motored north with them.

Going to Honolulu.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Maxson and their daughter, Miss Winifred, are leaving tomorrow for Honolulu and much to the regret of their many friends do not intend to return to Los Angeles, but will make their home in San Francisco. For a month or more they have been at their beach home near Santa Monica.

For Mrs. Schultz.

Mrs. Lloyd George Schultz, who with her husband, Lieut. Schultz, is going to San Francisco tomorrow to live, will be honor guest at a bridge tea this afternoon at the Los Angeles Country Club at which Miss Doris Collins is entertaining a dozen guests.

By Dr. and Mrs. Haynes.

Dr. and Mrs. John R. Haynes entertained at dinner and bridge at the Los Angeles Country Club. Among their guests were Dr. and Mrs. West Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Shelly Tolhurst, Mr. and Mrs. John Murray Marshall, Miss Georgia Kean, Miss Florence Hunt and Messrs. Thomas Spalding and Hamilton Hunt.

Returning to England.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wood, who has been visiting the family of her son, Ensign George S. Lane for the past five years, left yesterday for New York, whence she sails May 14 for Liverpool. There she will be met by her husband, Thomas Wood, a publisher of London. Mrs. Wood left England two days before war was declared expecting to visit her son for six months, but since then was never able to get a passport until now. She is expecting a joyful family reunion. Her only son, Ensign Lane, is a naturalized American and entered the service of the United States as soon as this country went to war.

Personals.

Dr. and Mrs. James T. Fisher of 529 South Virgil avenue have been spending a week at the Grand Canyon of Arizona and are domiciled at El Tovar. Mrs. Fisher went there to meet her husband, Capt. Fisher on his return home from France, where he has been for the past seven months at Commercy at Base Hospital 90.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis G. Hunt of Berkeley Square are leaving today for Del Monte, where they plan to indulge in the outdoor sports for several days.

Mr. F. W. Enderly returned yesterday from New York, where he went to visit his son, Ensign Richard Enderly of the U.S.S. Nevada with the victory fleet, just back from the Barbados Islands in the Caribbean Sea, where they have been doing target practice. He was in full charge of a crew of seventy men and was instructor of ordnance and gunnery. He witnessed the surrender of the Austrian fleet in the Adriatic.

Mrs. Charles Rivers Drake is in San Francisco visiting friends, and is domiciled at the St. Francis Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Clark will leave the middle of the month for Providence, R. I., to visit their daughter, Mrs. Houghton Metcalf (Lucille Clark.)

Mrs. Harold L. Wright of San Francisco will arrive here this morning to visit her mother, Mrs. E. S. Field and her sister, Mrs. Murray Harris of Coronado street.

VICTORY LOAN DAY TODAY.

Los Angeles Has Till Tomorrow Night to Complete Its Quota.

fluential men to go to the aid at once of these patriotic precinct workers and assist them in checking up every resident of the precinct to see that no one passes Saturday night without doing his or her share for the Victory Loan."

It was, in fact, a day of proclamations indicating the nervous tension under which the workers are laboring, and calling upon them and upon the office of the commander-in-chief The last one of the day came from the office of the commander-in-chief of the loan forces in Southern California:

"Notwithstanding Los Angeles has so far subscribed only 30 per cent. of its quota, we know from previous experience that if the people of this city will devote the two remaining days to a whirlwind effort of devotion to the work, we can deliver our quota by Saturday night. The business outlook for the future is magnificent, just because 70,000 of our own boys went to their death to make it so. Let's at least devote two days to honorably paying their expenses as we agreed to do when we were frightened about the outcome. Get your own blue button and see that every other man wears his."

AT THE SHIP.

Charlie Chaplin night at Victory Ship broke all records for the campaign, and is likely to retain the top position. It was nearly 1 o'clock before the last bond buyer was served, and the final count showed $163,000 in subscriptions, including a $30,000 subscription by Chaplain himself. The pictures taken during the course of the evening will be on exhibition tonight. These equal about a one-reel production, and if reduced to a dollar basis counts for another $125,000 subscription by the comedian who is said to receive $250,000 for every two-reeler he makes.

Last night at the ship the Fox stars were in charge, and a big crowd in attendance. Thirty Sunshine Girls sold the bonds or helped the regular staff of salesmen, and the deck was taken over by the top liners, Madalaine Traverse, Peggy Hyland, Albert Ray, Miriam Cooper, Eleanor Fair, Juanita Hansen, assisted by Directors Raoul Walsh Edward J. Le Saint, Harry Mallard, Arthur Rosson, Scott Dunlay and William C. Dowland.

Other favorites and comedians of the Sunshine comedies who drew Victory dollars from the bond buyers were Hampton Del Ruth, Jack Cooper, Ethel Teare, Chester Conklin, Slim Summerville, Harry McCoy.

Tom Mix and his cowboy band furnished music for the crowd.

The amount sold was $65,000, of which the Fox studio employees bought $15,250 worth.

Tonight the Pathe stars, Ruth Roland, George Larkin, Bebe Daniels and Harold Lloyd, will head the bond salesmen. The Astra Film Corporation players will be there as well as the Roland Film Company comedians with their comedy band.

Chairman McKee and Precinct Director Ballard visited many of the precinct headquarters yesterday and returned very pleased with the inspection. This most important work will be speeded up today and tomorrow and great results are expected.

Baldwin Park and Azusa are over the top, according to late tabulations.

Tank Liberty visited Glendale last evening. She was escorted by the Whittier tank and a big parade resulted. Tonight the tanks will be at the corner of Lake Shore boulevard and Temple street, Echo Park.

Tank Sovereignty continued its triumphal tour last night at Santa Monica. Capts. Butterworth and Lord were in charge.

Full speed ahead is urged by Director James A. Riley of the Industrial Organization. It is expected that a majority of the reports from the subcommittees will be in hand by tonight. The per capita subscription is somewhat ahead of that of the Fourth Loan. It has been estimated that if 125,000 subscribers do their duty Los Angeles city will go over. In the Fourth Loan 250,000 individual subscriptions were made.

The Lost Battalion," the missing patriots are being called.

A captured German cannon will go to either Los Angeles or San Francisco as evidence that one or the other finished first in the quota race. This cannon will become a Victory monument and will be erected in either Union Square, San Francisco, or Pershing Square, Los Angeles. A cannon will also be awarded to winning cities in each population class for those between 75,000 and 200,000 and one for the leader between 10,000 and 75,000.

Precinct No. 410, under the chairmanship of Mrs. M. F. Bitterband, claims the honor of being the leading precinct in Los Angeles in respect to total subscriptions. Yesterday the total reported by this precinct was $40,000. Precinct No. 418, under the chairmanship of Mrs. E. S. Porter, claims 110 per cent. of the quota subscribed or a total of $64,500. Mrs. L. C. Schuster, chairman of Angelus Mesa, states that by Saturday night every man, woman and child in the Angelus Mesa precinct will own Victory Loan Bonds. Precinct No. 474, under the chairmanship of Mrs. J. F. Atkinson, announced a total of $42,250 and Mrs. Adele Lerr chairman of precinct No. 456, reported $30,500. Several other precincts reported totals ranging between $19,000 and $28,500.

New subscriptions reported by the industrial organization yesterday were announced as follows:

|---|---|
| American Oil Fields Company | $100,000 |
| L. A. Gas and Electric Co. and Emp. | 50,000 |
| Cooper, Coate & Casey Co. and Emp. | 47,250 |
| Montebello Oil Company | 10,000 |
| D. G. McComas Company | 10,000 |
| Isaacs Bros. | 10,000 |
| Ventura Refining Company | 10,000 |
| W. T. Mearther | 8,000 |
| L. A. Creamery Company | 8,000 |
| W. H. Skeggs Company | 5,000 |
| L. C. Wallach | 5,000 |
| Charles H. Cragg | 5,000 |
| Sanitary Gold Seal Dairy | 5,000 |
| W. P. Storey | 5,000 |
| E. H. Rollins & Sons | 5,000 |
| George McCoy (additional) | 5,000 |
| E. K. Wood Lumber Company | 5,000 |
| Western Hardwood Lumber Company | 5,000 |

The Industrial Organization reported yesterday that the following industrial committees have turned in oversubscriptions of their quotas to the extent of the percentages below:

Men's Garments, chairman, Lionel Goldwater, 150 per cent.; Bonds, Stocks and Investment Committee, R. C. Sterling, chairman, 145 per cent.; Telephone Companies' Committee, Arthur Wright, chairman, 136 per cent.; Retailers Organization Committee, Rev. John A. Ely, chairman, 129 per cent.; Men's Clothiers, Haberdashers and Dry Goods (Wholesale) Committee, Julius Jacobs, chairman, 119 per cent.; Express Committee, H. P. Baker, chairman, 111 per cent.; Railroads, Pullman Car Committee, A. F. Pratt, chairman, 109 per cent.; Fire Insurance Committee, H. M. Burgwall, chairman, 108 per cent.

A large meeting was held at noon yesterday of the Southern Pacific Railway employees by the speakers and talesmen on Tank Liberty assisted by the flying squadrons. The main speakers were Dr. W. F. Thompson, Capt. Frazier and Lieut. Fritts. After the meeting the men pledged themselves to increase the subscription total already made of over $600,000 to at least $800,000 by Saturday night.

Collector John B. Elliott, who is chairman of the Federal Victory Liberty Loan Committee, yesterday asked all heads of Federal departments in Los Angeles to devote today to a special effort to sell bonds. Collector Carter will cut off one-half of his force in the forenoon, and one-half in the afternoon. The Department of Justice, Immigration Department, will spend the day in the good work and the customs house force will all be released at noon. Postmaster Harrington Brown will remain on duty, one man, who will keep the office open. Postmaster Harrington Brown will release every man who can be spared from his postoffice to engage in the important business of putting Los Angeles over the top.

CLAIM SHE CAN'T SUE.

Lawyers Say Woman's Suit Stopped by Plea of Guilt.

The trial of the $26,300 damage suit of Miss Leona Farnham against her mother, Mrs. Hattie Farnham, and ex-officers of the township at Sawtelle, for alleged false imprisonment, was submitted to Judge Wellborn's court yesterday on briefs. It appears that Miss Farnham, some time ago, pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy for which she was put in jail for fifty-one days.

This pleading, attorneys for the defendants, set up, stops Miss Farnham from suing for damages. The briefs will be prepared along these lines.

Miss Farnham was released from jail on a writ of habeas corpus. The complaint was sworn out by her mother and she was sentenced by Justice Shannon on a complaint signed by Justice Cook. Mrs. Farnham did not think that her daughter was leading the proper kind of life and she wanted to stop her association with a man named Pickens.

Miss Farnham has a half interest in a dye establishment.

MEXICAN FOREMAN FLEES WITH WAGES?

Police detectives yesterday afternoon began a search in the Mexican quarter for Santos Gomez of Owensmouth, who, it is charged by George Beck, a contractor, left Owensmouth early yesterday morning with $525 in cash given him to pay off Mexican laborers. Gomez was foreman of the gang.

TRAFFIC HEAD GOES EAST.

Included in the interesting programme will be story-telling, games, a pageant and music. A picnic lunch will be held from 12 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Co-operating in the affair are the Junior Drama League and the school, playground, park and library departments. Pupils of various schools will stage fairy plays from 2 to 2:30 p.m. Fairies, elves and celebrities from story lore, ancient, mediaeval and modern, will appear.

These plays will be as follows: "Woodland Fairies, West Vernon-avenue school, Miss Evelyn L. ## TEACHERS NEAR BREAKING POINT

this salary question. "The Board of Education should make recommendations to the Supervisors regarding the teachers salaries, and then regulate the contracts," he said.

Mr. Wheeler and Mr. Chase had a lively set-to. Mr. Wheeler said this and former boards, for the past five years, had had the matter before them, and nothing has come of it. "What the teachers want, and what they must have, is a signed salary contract for the next year showing an adequate increase, and unless this is forthcoming something serious will happen."

Mr. Chase was sure the matter should be brought before the Supervisors before anything is done, and the teachers, and Dr. Shiels, were equally as certain that the salary contracts should be signed before the matter was passed to the Supervisors.

Miss Von de Goorberg told the board that the need of a salary increase had been submitted to over 2000 citizens, and most of the replies received had indicated surprise that the teachers were getting so little pay. This action on the part of the teachers, submitting the matter to the citizens, had been done at the suggestion of the Board of Education, the teachers paying for the publicity out of their own money, "really needed for other purposes," she declared.

"BAD CONDITION."

The committee wanted a statement from the board yesterday, and each of the speakers asked for a definite statement. It was stated by the committee that the Los Angeles schools and the teachers are the only ones suffering from the board's inactivity. It was said the teachers are restless, dissatisfied and unsettled, and this condition is producing a bad condition in the schools.

Commenting on this phase of the question, Dr. Shiels said he had seen much worse teaching staffs than that in Los Angeles, but he had never seen so dissatisfied a set of teachers. All the committee members said this unsettled condition is due to the teachers not knowing what to do for the ensuing year.

The matter of raising the teachers' salaries was referred to the finance committee at the last meeting of the board, with instructions that the salaries of the teachers should be raised, and it will probably have its report ready at the next meeting. Mr. Chase intimated that he would continue to favor taking the matter up with the Supervisors before final action, and the teachers declare nothing but a signed contract, in conformity with the adequate schedule submitted by them, will be acceptable.

TO VOTE ON CIVIC CENTER IN JULY?

CAR SERVICE TO PROPOSED NORTH AND SOUTH END SITES ABOUT ON PARITY.

That the voters may be given an opportunity at a special election in July to vote on the question of a proposed civic center was indicated at yesterday's meeting of the Civic Center Committee, the deliberations of which are drawing to a close.

At the meeting next week the members will submit written opinions as to what each member believes should prove factors in reaching the conclusion as to location.

President Watt L. Moreland of the Chamber of Commerce at yesterday's meeting raised the point that the big factor for the committee to consider is probable public service, pointing out that the public generally agrees that the city needs at once a new City Hall; a new Public Library and quarters for other public offices, including health clinics.

The Committee on Transportation made a report that the service given by the yellow cars to the proposed north end site for the civic center was 10,070 cars per day, and that there are 10,100 cars per day to the south end site, at Eleventh and Main streets, and 9710 cars per day to the central site. The committee held that accessibility by the ordinary means of transportation is of importance in determining the location of a civic center.

YOUTHS CONFESS TO NUMEROUS CRIMES.

Confessing to many burglaries and automobile thefts, Albert Hansen and Juan Garcia were held to answer yesterday by Justice Hanby. The confession was read into the court record upon request of Deputy District Attorney Heinecke. It recites that the youths stole three automobiles in Los Angeles at different times and started for San Francisco in company with two girls. They detail breaking into two garages and a house on the way to Santa Maria, where they were arrested. Dorothy Pappasee, Alhondra Garcia and Dewey Hansen, arrested at the same time, were certified to the Juvenile Court.

BACK FROM FRANCE.

William G. Parker, 5813 Waring avenue, Hollywood, who was in France for eight months, and served with the Medical Corps, at Base Hospital No. 96, in Alsace-Lorraine, arrived home yesterday. Mrs. Ethel Parker, his wife, is well known in Hollywood, because of her activities in that section during the influenza epidemic.

SOMEWHAT OVERDUE.

If the railways were running behind time as they are running behind in money last month's train would be coming in next week.

MAY WAKE UP.

If those 400,000,000 Chinese had all been Germans the result might have been different. Sometimes it is policy to consider the potency of numbers, even if the numbers are not marshaled in mass columns.

THE PENALTY.

The world's answer to ruthless submarine warfare is that Germany must replace destroyed shipping ton for ton, using her remaining mercantile fleet and immediate construction possibilities for that purpose. Freedom of the seas will not mean a whole lot to Germany for the next few months.

THE SPOILS.

The peace treaty provides for a lot of boards and commissions to assure that its provisions are carried out and most of these commissions are maintained at the expense of the Germans. Possibly there will be opportunities for numbers of American statesmen who are at present jobless. We trust and expect that our radiant and amiable James Hamilton Lewis will not be overlooked when the assignments are made.

"STRUGGLING RUSSIA."

Americans are prone to dismiss Russia and her problems casually, or rather contemptuously. They hate Bolshevism and the class of revolutionists that made Russia a false ally. But that staunch and formidable body of revolutionists who opposed the Czar and his tyranny are, practically to the last member, equally opposed to Bolshevism; and they work under the great handicap of indifference in America, the nation from which they have always had help in the past and expect it now. Toward the end of bringing their aims and efforts to the sympathy of Americans a weekly magazine, "Struggling Russia," has been started in New York. It undertakes to explain many problems and situations that are not understood, and its opposition to Lenine and Trotzky is not less intense than the opposition of its founders and supporters was to Czarism.

SELLING "SINFUL" CLASSICS.

If a vice suppressionist gets his long nose sharply tweaked some sinful persons cannot help but grin. When Anthony Comstock departed this earth one John S. Sumner stepped into the shoes of the mighty crusader. Mr. Sumner is very active and nosey. He arrested the salesman of a New York bookstore for selling a copy of Gautier's "Mlle. de Maupin," a book that has a reputation for naughtiness among those who haven't read it. The salesman was acquitted. Acquittals frequently result from Mr. Sumner's arrests. The Society for the Suppression of Vice must make arrests frequently to encourage subscribers to its fund. That is all right. Convictions are not expected every time—nor are such backfires as broke when this acquitted salesman brought suit for damages and was awarded 'em. Eighteen hundred dollars is the amount the court thinks Mr. Sumner and his Suppressionists may properly dig up. Probably every book salesman in the country is wishing somebody would come along and pinch him for selling classics.

NO DANGER FROM MEXICO.

Another argument of the opponents of the League of Nations has been exploded by the exclusion from membership of Mexico. Certain statesmen and editors, who object to our taking part in the movement to preserve future peace, have declared that Mexico might invoke the aid of the league against us. When one calmly contemplated the relative size, population, developed resources and military and naval strength of the two countries, remembered our part in crushing the Central Powers and Mexico's near-alliance with the enemy, it was extremely difficult to follow the reasoning of these objectors. But, apparently, they convinced themselves.

The Mexican argument was presented to Senator Hitchcock, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Mr. Hitchcock had then come from conference with the President, who had just returned from Paris; therefore, we may assume the Senator spoke by the authority of President Wilson when he replied decisively that such a thought was absurd, as Mexico was not even eligible for membership in the league because of non-fulfillment of her international obligations.

The league itself has now spoken through the great diplomats gathered at Paris. Their acts and words leave no doubt as to how they stand. Mexico has been excluded from the league, just as Mr. Hitchcock said she would be.

Thus another anti-league argument has been exploded.

THE MEEK INHERIT THE EARTH?

It is hardly to be expected that a whole world-reconstruction can be decisively and flawlessly achieved in a few months by a few men sitting around a green table. The work of the Peace Commission at Paris must of necessity be more or less preliminary and tentative. Their first and main object was to draft a peace treaty with Germany. Some of the commissioners have evidenced a disposition to hold up the bigger issue for the sake of smaller ones that did not directly affect Germany herself.

A wish not to unduly delay this main object of the Peace Conference by frittering away valuable time on side issues doubtlessly influenced President Wilson in his unexpected acquiescence in the Japanese claims to the Shantung Peninsula. This arrangement ran counter to two of the most important of the President's fourteen points. It was not in accord with the principle of the self-determination of peoples in matters pertaining to their government. It violated the clause against the transfer of a nation's territory to a conqueror as spoils of war.

But the German delegation was waiting to receive the peace terms. The Italian delegation was sulking. Japan at the eleventh hour demanded the ratification of the secret agreement with the Entente—else she, too, would withdraw from the conference. Neither Lloyd George nor Clemenceau would back the President's stand. Everyone was clamoring for a signed peace treaty. Evidently President Wilson was unwilling to jeopardize the world's hope for a speedy peace to start a prolonged palaver about oriental adjustments which, in the course of time, could be appealed to the final international court, the League of Nations.

So aggressive Japan gained a temporary triumph over long-suffering China. Whether Japan has in reality outmaneuvered our President remains to be determined by future events.

On the face of it, China has suffered a grievous wrong. Japan, moreover, has obtained a military advantage in her control of Kiao-Chow that, should the League of Nations by any mischance fail to articulate, could be used as a direct menace to the freedom of the Pacific Ocean. Especially should she also be appointed mandatory over the late German-owned islands in the North Pacific.

Shantung province is densely populated; it has a fine harbor, rich mining possibilities, a good railroad and a cable station. In the hands of the Japanese, whose inscrutable policies no western nation is able to fathom, it might well be used in the future as the base for extensive military aggression.

Does this sound far-fetched? The following dispatch from one of our most able American correspondents in Paris is not without significance. Speaking of the Japanese jubilation at the result of the Shantung deal, he writes:

"M. Sato having asked a question, I asked him to answer one, and inquired: 'What will China think of it?'

"The peace delegation member replied that he believed China would look with approval upon it.

"'Then perhaps Shantung may pave the way for the next great alliance,' I ventured, 'Japan, China, Russia and Germany, from the Rhine to the rising sun?'

"'There is much good in that,' M. Sato replied, 'if we are driven to it.'"

Such straws of information as to what is going on in Paris bring home to the American people some small idea of the numerous obstacles their President has to meet in his efforts to persuade all nations to a peace that shall be founded first of all on justice. Opportunism is justice's most bitter antagonist.

In giving way to the opportunists in the settlement of the Shantung dispute President Wilson, we must admit, has departed from the ideals of strict justice with which he entered the Peace Conference. But every move made by the self-seeking diplomats of the world has only justified his resolute stand to incorporate a League of Nations in the first draft of the peace pact. That alone can in the long run readjust any temporary advantage gained by present compromises made for the sake of officially ending the world's most disastrous war.

Japan's diplomatic victory over China, wrung from the western powers as the price of present peace, is the most serious blunder made by the champions of fair play who believe in equal treatment for the strong and the weak alike. It certainly shows how far distant is still the fulfillment of the scriptural promise that "the meek shall inherit the earth."

THE ALL-STAR HABIT.

The motion-picture industry is almost due for another turning over. Just at this moment any actor or actorine who has played leads in a few pictures thinks a personal studio is a necessity. They are going to produce their own pictures, have their own companies and market their own output. This is made easy by the construction of group studios. These are a cross between a pasteboard apartment-house and a bungalow court, and any person bitten by the acting bug can jump in and rent a studio by the day, just as he would a room at one of the Mills hotels. When the greatest living scenario writer—who can be found in every barber shop on Spring street—cannot work his stuff off on the boneheaded director he goes blithely down the line and rents a studio all by himself. He telephones the employment bureau for a flock of actors and calmly proceeds to direct his own masterpiece.

When actors, directors and scenario writers are all having their own studios there is certain to be a mix-up. Maybe the audiences will be wanting individual studios to produce the stuff that they really care for. Anyhow, the hour will come when it will be hard to market some of this output, in spite of the insistent demand for pictures. Some day our most polished actors will be reduced to the necessity of hiring a breezy traveling salesman to go forth on the road and tease the exhibitors into presenting their wares. A good deal of the responsibility for this condition will be due to the fact that everyone who confronts a camera to the extent of ten thousand feet of film promptly conceives the ambitions of a star. The press agent is the first step and the independent studio the next.

The people do not care a whole lot, as they can at least shut their eyes when they get what they don't want.

RIGHT ATTITUDE FOR SENATE.

Members of Congress are hurrying to Washington from all parts of the country to attend the party caucuses which will be held before the formal session opens on May 19. All minor questions are subordinated while Senators and Representatives give their consideration to the peace treaty with Germany, which President Wilson is expected to present to the Senate in order that he may, "with its advice and consent," affix his signature thereto. Under the provisions of the Federal Constitution the House of Representatives has no part in negotiating treaties; but the House of Representatives holds the purse strings of the national revenue, so it is in possession of a powerful weapon with which to "persuade" the President, the Senate, or both.

Senator Lodge, the Republican leader, has already issued a call for a Republican Senatorial conference five days before Congress meets. At that conference the attitude of the Republican Senators towards the peace treaty, of which the League of Nations is a component part, may be outlined. That there is Republican opposition to certain sections of the league covenant is indisputable, and the need of FAIR, CAREFUL AND LEARNED SCRUTINY OF THE TREATY, ON ITS MERITS, is obvious; but The Times trusts that the Senators will not make the mistake of permitting opposition to a section or two to lead them to reject the whole. The consequences of such folly might be irreparable. For it must be remembered that the United States is not officially one of the Allies. If the Allied nations should sign the treaty and the United States hold out, by reason of objections raised by the Senate, then this country would be left to conclude a final treaty with Germany alone. We would forfeit our right to the support of the Allies and we should risk losing in a peace parley what our soldiers and sailors so gallantly won on land and sea.

Every lasting covenant between nations has been the result of a compromise. There comes a point where interests conflict. Peoples must place a restraint upon themselves in becoming a part of the League of Nations, just as individuals submit to restraint when they become a part of organized society. The original constitution of the League of Nations was subject to certain valid objections voiced by Republican members of the Senate when the draft was submitted to them by President Wilson.

At that time the President made the serious mistake of telling the Senators that they must accept the constitution as it was written; that the draft was final and no amendments were possible.

But the President soon discovered that the American Senate was something other than a rubber stamp. He learned on returning to Paris that the commissioners of the other countries were not inclined to go ahead with a covenant which would be certain of rejection by the American Congress. The result was a rearrangement which is in itself a distinct victory for the Senate. The Times is firmly convinced that, while the distinguished lawyers of the Senate should cautiously sound and weigh every clause of the pact and make sure that there is nothing unfair or dangerous in it, it would be folly for the Senators to continue merely obstructive tactics. The treaty is not to be considered with a view to partisan political advantage. It is a national and not a party issue; and if the Republican Senators attempt a partisan consideration of it they are likely to lose the control of Congress which the electorate conferred on them last November.

We are Americans looking for no advantage in any separate treaty with Germany. We have made war by the side of our gallant allies, and with them we must make peace. The world is ready for a League of Nations, and the League of Nations is here.

OSBORNE IN LINE.

Congressman Osborne performed a public service when he pointed out Wednesday, in his address to the Spanish War veterans at Sawtelle, the objections which caused him to disapprove the original draft of the League of Nations covenant and explained how these had been removed by the revised draft, which he now says is worthy (with perhaps a minor reservation relating to Article X) of the support of every loyal American.

Mr. Osborne said that it is a gratification to all thoughtful men that the protests raised by the Republican leaders in the Senate led to the amendment of the league covenant in the following fundamental particulars:

Exclusion of questions of domestic concern, which may include tariff and immigration laws, from the jurisdiction of the league.

A provision which protects the sovereignty of the nations which signed, by requiring that all acts of the league or executive council which might be considered as invading the sovereignty of nations must be made by a unanimous vote of the nation members.

The Monroe Doctrine is especially excepted from the jurisdiction of the league.

Mandatories are made optional, instead of being compulsory.

Provision is inserted in Article I that a nation may withdraw from the league upon two years' notice, such nation having fulfilled its obligations up to the time of that notice.

Congressman Osborne accentuated the possible danger of an alliance between the turbulent elements in Russia, Germany and Austria again to threaten the peace of the world and expressed the belief that the only secure defense against such an alliance is that afforded by the covenant of the League of Nations.

Mr. Osborne will return to Washington determined to use his influence in favor of the ratification of the peace treaty. He expressed his disappointment that Article X, which guarantees the territorial integrity of member nations, should not have been eliminated, and expressed the hope that the Senate may be able to make a reservation in relation to that section, without invalidating the treaty as a whole. But he made plain that the covenant and the treaty with Article X included are vastly to be preferred to no league at all.

The Times regards as a saving grace of the covenant the provision for future amendment. Some of the most important articles of the American Constitution were rejected when it was originally adopted, but were added as amendments when the people of the sovereign States were ready to accept them. Something must be left to the future.

The covenant of the League of Nations is not a Mosaic law, but a human document, which approaches certain ideals of our race, but leaves to future generations their final attainment.

REVENGE FOR RUMANIA.

Although America has practically resumed relations with Hungary and what remains of Austria, one cannot help feeling gratified that Rumania, one of the nations associated with the United States, has turned the tables on the old dual monarchy before the peace has been actually signed.

A year ago the Hungarians, Austrians, Germans and Bulgars were swaggering as conquerors in the streets of Bucharest, the capital of Rumania. Today comes the news that the Rumanians are about to return, not the compliment but the reverse, by entering Budapest, the capital of Hungary.

Rumania's fate during the war was almost as sad as that of Serbia. The country nobly withstood the efforts of the Teutons to swing it into line against the Entente. Then it joined the Allies against the Kaiser under definite promises of assistance from Russia. These promises were not carried out and Rumania was rapidly overrun by Mackensen's army, assisted by Hungarians, Austrians and Bulgars. Bucharest fell and the Rumanian court was obliged to flee to Jassy.

Later Rumania was forced to become a party to the atrocious Bucharest treaty. Austria-Hungary wrenched land from her under the pretense of "rectification of the frontier," and Mackensen looted the country. Even after the forced treaty was signed the Teutons terrorized Rumania and harried its people, who endured terrible sufferings. Throughout the days of terror the Rumanians remained loyal to the Allies and now they are having their revenge against at least one of their persecutors.

CLUB NOTIONS.

There are two men in a club who are not very well known—the man who has just joined and the man who has belonged for a long time.

The principal duties of a club president are to meet new members and old liabilities.

Every once in a while some fellow whose checking account doesn't balance with the bank rises up and demands a business administration.

There seems to be some difference between what they say to you to get you to take the office and about you after you do.

The man who is behind in his house account thinks that what the club needs is a campaign for new members.

Every man who doesn't write has an ambition to belong to a press club.

Look out for the man who kicks on coming into the game because all the rest of the fellows are sharks.

A clubman can tell you all the players on the St. Louis team, but he couldn't name his board of directors to save his life.

After getting past the doorman at your friend's club you are convinced that St. Peter is going to be a comparatively easy proposition.

Some men belong to clubs for the same reason that some women like to sit in a box at the opera.

Resigning from a club is a mental process that generally requires about twelve months. —[Douglas Malloch in Judge.

LACKING IN EXPERIENCE.

The young man had been married just a week, but had commenced to spend his evenings at the club. He was enjoying a friendly game at whist, when the question of marriage was mentioned in a casual way by one of the company.

This remark brought the young man to a sense of his position and, noticing an old man across the table, he thought he would extract from him a little information.

"Mr. Oldwed," said he, "how long does a man have to be married before his wife agrees with him in everything?"

"I'm sorry, my boy," replied the man, "very sorry, but you'll have to ask someone else. You see I've been married only forty years."—[Chicago News.

BY MAIL OR WIRE.

BY EUGENE BROWN.

Oh, Dear Burleson: We are putting the accent on the "dear" because it seems as if you are costing us a mint of money. Not content with swelling up the price of postage, you are attempting to add to the cost of casual conversation. If this thing keeps up we will have to take the well-known motto, "Talk is Cheap," and turn its face to the wall. Just because some Germans started a fight you boosted the price of the good old two-cent stamp by half. Every time I write home for money it costs me three cents and it costs somebody the same to let me know my mining assessment is due. If a party has a girl in Loma Linda it keeps him pinched to pay the postman.

That is bad enough, but here comes peace and a chance to economize, but do we get the chance?

We do not.

If I want to spend a few minutes just talking about peace to a friend in Glendale it costs me about a dollar—and you know what a dollar means to me in these times. It is enough to start another fight.

I have never yet been able to figure out why you should want to run central as well as the postoffice. The last is a man's-sized job of itself and it would seem that there wouldn't be much time left after you have finished carrying your route.

I think you are a slow operator, anyhow. Every time I try to get anybody on the wire you tell me the line is busy. Can't you think up something else? One would suppose you would be able to pull off a funny story once in a while. You might at least spring the old one about the girl with a wooden leg. But no. It's always the same old chestnut: "Line is busy," and then you begin to cackle like a sawmill. Say, do you really file saws down at your place?

Last night when I called up central you were out and the hired girl answered. When I asked her for No. 1469 she chirps: "No. 1469 is busy, but here is 1468."

Is that your idea of efficiency?

And 1468 is a livery stable!

It may as well be understood first as last that when I ring for a swell skirt I don't want to be connected up with a flock of mules singing for their supper. You can't do that to me twice, nor any of your outfit.

You are not even running the postoffice in the way I would have a white man behave. Only last week you left a letter with my wife that was addressed to me. It happened to be a note from Effluvia Woonsocket and when I got home the spouse met me with a hard face and wanted to know who this Woonsocket hussy was.

You have been carrying bombs through your office for the purpose of blowing up statesmen by mail, but have you ever been blown up by female? In the one case you may be blown to pieces, but in the other there isn't any peace left. You ought to know by this time that a man doesn't want his personal letters left with his wife. If I were to do that to you you would be as sore as a boil.

You should know by this time that a man can't run everything. Stick to either the postoffice or the wires, but don't try to double up. It can't be done. Look at W. G. McAdoo. He was running the mint and the treasury fine, but he had to go and take over the railroads. It was too much. When it came to calling off the stations he couldn't remember the names of half of them. Finally he had to quit the whole business.

But mostly what I don't like is the idea of boosting the price of conversation and they tell me at the office that this is your work. When there is so much to talk about and so many people to talk to you butt in with your little, old score card and make it about double the price. I suppose the next thing you will be telling us that these are the instructions of your friend Wilson. But don't you ever believe it. Mr. Wilson is too friendly to conversation and too fond of words to double the assessment on the use of the same. If there is to be any goat you will have to be it yourself.

As I said before, you are very dear to us. It cost me eleven cents to send my shaving mug back to Chicago, and it cost me ninety cents to explain to a Tropico bank that I couldn't pay the interest on my note. Of course I couldn't make the delivery in Chicago myself, but I could have made nine trips to Tropico for the same price it cost me to say a few soothing words over the wire. I ask is this right?

Better give up the wires and then when the girl coos that the line is busy we will not be writing notes to the Postmaster-General telling him where to get off.

You may print this letter if you feel that way about it.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

YESTERDAYS.

The bright and golden yesterdays are pleasant to remember, when we leg-weary mortal jays have reached life's bleak December. I like to think of goodly acts, and struggle to recall them; I gloat and linger o'er the facts and nurse and overhaul them. Alas, my goodly deeds are few and, dreaming in my shanty, I blush to bring them into view, their numbers are so scanty. I envy much the ancient gent whose memories don't grind him, who gazes back, with calm content, on well-spent days behind him. Age has no terrors for that scout, his memory's a treasure; not failing sight or itch or gout can mar his tranquil pleasure. To one who's spent his younger years in vain and wanton folly, age is a time of sighs and tears, remorse and melancholy. It's sad to see a hoary guy in sorrow wade and flounder, because of sins in days gone by, when he was quite a rounder. When one is old such things come back and haunt his recollection, and so he moons around his shack, the symbol of dejection.
There's nothing like a well-spent life to make its sunset cheery, when one has toiled through all its strife and evening finds him weary.

The Foreign Relations Committee of the Belgian Chamber of Deputies has unanimously agreed to the ratification of the peace treaty with Germany. This gives the denial direct to the story that King Albert and his sisters were a unit against the treaty. There is much contradictory matter coming over the cables.

Whether the amendments to the covenant of nations are deemed wise and helpful to the peace of the world, they will provoke discussion from Maine to California. That discussion ought to help form public opinion. Then the Senate of the United States, in due time and after ample deliberation, uninfluenced by foreign propaganda and unintimidated by executive views, will register, in the performance of its constitutional duty, the final verdict of the people.

It is reported in dancing circles that the waltz is to be revived. But don't let us worry until we find out what kind of a waltz it is. ## READY FOR BIG GYM TOURNEY.

Plans Completed for Athletic Club Event.

Keen Interest is Being Taken in the Affair.

Some of Country's Best Athletes to Compete.

All plans for the national A.A.U. gymnastic tournament which will be held tomorrow evening at the Los Angeles Athletic Club have been completed, according to an announcement made last night by Johnny Burke, who is in charge de'affaires.

Athletes from the Atlantic seaboard will be much in prominence. Keen interest is being taken in the affair due to the fact that championship caliber will be on display when some of the best gym athletes of the United States gather for the indoor demonstration.

Lovers of real red-blooded sporting events will have a chance to see stunts of all descriptions staged by men who are expert in their line. There are any number of people who have been wont to underestimate the volume of real clean entertainment afforded by a genuine contest of athletic prowess, and who should take advantage of this rare opportunity.

Little do people realize when discoursing on the merits of a gym tourney, the skill that is called for in such demonstrations. To perform the feats that these gladiators execute with apparent ease and form, calls for long years of tireless and diligent training. To reach a point of perfection in the stunts that these men will be called upon to perform an athlete must be in the pink of condition, to say nothing of having the necessary ability.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the coming tournament, however, due to the fact that part of the gym work that will be staged tomorrow evening had been a part of the soldier's curriculum, and it is these boys who have awakened to the real value obtained from gymnasium exercises.

Johnny Burke, who is handling the gym classic and who is one of the Southland's most popular high school coaches, has worked hard and long to complete all details for successfully staging the big exhibition. Great credit is due Burke for his efforts and judging from the programme and the entrants on hand, his endeavors will be duly repaid.

Arthur Nugent of the National Turnverein of Newark, N. J., holder of the national tumbling title, will be on hand to amuse the large crowd that is contemplated. Nugent has a truckload of new tricks that he will uncover for the benefit of the spectators. He has been heralded as one of the best tumblers developed in recent years.

Otto Poll, with his title of national Roman flying ring champion, has come all the way from Newark to contest Herman Glass and J. Duncan Gleason, both members of the Athletic Club. This line-up should offer plenty of thrills for the crowd. Gleason held the international title for a number of years and is looked to bring the national title for the flying through-the-air event to Los Angeles.

Peter Hol, who is a member of the Norwegian Athletic Club, Brooklyn, will be seen in action tomorrow evening in defending his title as all-around gym champion. Hol is expected to arrive in town today and will probably go through a few limbering up exercises this afternoon or the first thing tomorrow morning.

In addition to the eastern entries, the Los Angeles School of Physical Training, the San Diego Concordia Turnverein, the University of California, Poly High School and the L.A.A.C. will all be strongly represented.

There are eight events on the programme. Some of the contests will be rope climbing, side horse, horizontal bar, parallel bars, tumbling, weight lifting, long horse, rings and a club swinging contest by local experts. There will also be a number of gymnastic dances by the women's class of the Los Angeles School of Physical Training and athletic dances by the girls from Polytechnic High School. Music will be furnished throughout the evening by the Poly brass band.

Nominal charges will be levied for admission to the gym exhibition and the first event of the programme will take place at 8 o'clock sharp. The public is cordially welcomed to attend.

The entries are:

Rope climbing—Paul Kempel of the Los Angeles School of Physical Training; F. Fintzelberg and W. Frank of the San Diego Concordia Turnverein; A. Wayne of the Poly night school, and Herman Glass of L.A.A.C.

Side horse—Peter Hol of Brooklyn, Paul Krempel, C. Jacobs and W. Linnes of the Los Angeles School of Physical Training, E. Damarus and H. Cramer of San Diego, and W. Moody of the University of California.

Horizontal bar—Peter Hol, Paul Krempel, C. Jacobs, W. Linnes, E. Damarus, H. Kramer, L. D. Scott, of L.A.A.C. and W. Moody.

Parallel bars—Peter Hol, P. Krempel, C. Jacobs, W. Dunn, E. Damarus, R. Dematis of L.A.A.C., W. Moody and H. D. Sikes of University of California.

POLO TEAMS WILL BATTLE AGAIN.

Recruited to full strength, the Blue Jays and White Wings will meet tomorrow afternoon in the usual Saturday afternoon polo match at the Midwick Country Club. Regular members who have been unable to play in the past few matches have promised to be on hand tomorrow and some fast action is certain.

Among the absentees who, it is hoped, will appear tomorrow are John B. Miller, Rufus Spalding and Capt. Carwile. The first two named have been prevented from playing by their business interests; Capt. Carwile has been suffering from some minor injuries received in a match two weeks ago.

PROMISES TO BE REAL JINKS.

Those of the automobile industry who have not made their reservations for the first annual super-jinks of the Motor Car Dealers' Association, to be held tomorrow and Sunday at Catalina Island, had better get busy, according to R. S. Breyer, chairman of the committee that is steering the two-day fiesta. So many applications have rolled in during the past twenty-four hours that all space allotted at the St. Catherine Hotel will soon be sold, he said last night.

"We hope the entire automobile trade in the city will be represented when the special pulls out of the P. E. Station, tomorrow morning, at 9:15. This is the first jinks and we hope it will prove to be so successful that it will become an annual affair. It's a get-together stunt, and is meant for the mutual benefit of all in the industry," declared Breyer.

The festivities will start with a whoop, and the atmosphere will be charged with a tremendous jolt of jazz as soon as intrepid mariners get safely over the gangplank board the Cabrillo at the harbor, according to those who claim to be on the inside. William Wrigley, Jr., has sent word to the boys to "go to it," and to all intents and purposes, they intend to. Oh, boy! It'll be some jinks!

HUNTING FOR SITE FOR BIG FIGHT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TOLEDO, (O.), May 8.—A hunt for sites for training camps for Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey was begun today by A. Q. Thatcher for the Toledo Boxing Commission which is staging the title fight here on July 4.

Several locations on the shores of Lake Erie were inspected at the request of Tex Rickard, the promoter.

There has been some discussion here as to whether the local commission would approve o. Mat Hinkle, of Cleveland, as referee, but it is known that Major Schreiber, who is the dictating member of the commission, told Rickard when here last week his plans would not be interfered with by the commission.

MILLER IS STILL CHAMPION.

Defeats Reuben in Wrestling Bout, Two Out of Three Falls.

Walter Miller is still the middleweight wrestling champion of the world. Last night at the Los Angeles Athletic Club the peerless mat expert and grappling instructor of the club defeated Benny Reuben of Chicago two out of three falls. It took the full limit to determine who was the best man, and the local athlete proved his superiority in handy fashion.

The easterner was the first to report for duty, Miller following but a few minutes later. Reuben was announced as weighing 156 pounds, while the champion tipped the beam at 156. After Charley Keppen got through with his regular leatherling exercises George Retzer, appearing in the role of referee, started the men on their merry way.

After the two grapplers had properly felt each other out, Reuben made a dive for Miller's legs and the two men rolled to the canvas. After both boys had gotten to their feet Miller adopted aggressive tactics by picking his opponent up and attempting to hurl him to the floor. The ropes, however, saved him from a bad bump, and the match was on for sure.

Miller kept after his man at all times, not giving him a chance to get set, and each time they kissed the canvas the local grappler was always on top. Time after time Reuben played for Miller's toe, and more than once succeeded in getting what might have been a really punishing clamp, but each time the wily champion squirmed his way free from the danger point.

After thirty-five minutes of honest-to-goodness work, Miller hurled his adversary to the floor grabbing an arm lock and crotch hold, which for a few seconds looked like curtains for the visitor. By sheer power, aided by a flash of speed, the championship contender was able to break loose, scramble to his feet and paw Miller's face with his powerful forearm and hand.

Up to the first fall the match in many ways resembled a tumbling exhibition as either wrestler when in a precarious position would roll or pivot out of dangerous holds. There was speed in abundance and every move was resultant of a scientific move having a meaning all its own and known to expert mat workers.

At the expiration of 5:3m and 2s, Miller snapped on a hammer lock, following with a head chancery. Reuben, rolled to his side just a trifle too much and which enabled Miller to turn the holds into a head and arm bar lock. The end of the first period came only after Reuben had put every ounce of strength he had in his powerful body to wiggle loose, he being forced to give in to prevent his arm from being broken. Miller displayed his clean sportsmanship at this vital point of the bout by warning referee Retzer and Reuben that he did not wish to break the arm with the deadly hold, and which finally was realized by the Chicago man.

After twenty minutes of rest the two men took to their work again. Working with feverish haste and with the agility of a cat, Reuben slipped on a doubles wrist lock after 14m. and 59s. of speedy laboring and pinned Miller's shoulders to the mat. The hold that really threw the champion was a hammerlock, which Reuben had worked from the wrist-lock position.

Reuben returned for the third fall with his arm in a semi-paralyzed condition as the result of the first fall. The end came rather unexpectedly, the unbeatable titleholder winning the last fall and match with a cruel head scissors and double wrist lock. The last fall was taken in five minutes and twenty-one seconds.

Walter Miller was an exceedingly happy personage after the match was over, not because he had retained his title and had defeated the man that took the measure of Mike Yokel, but because yesterday was his birthday. It might also be stated that Miller entered the contest with his lucky quarter tucked away in his jowls.

There were two preliminaries. In the first, Calvin Patten, one of many promising grapplers of the L.A.A.C., took two straight falls from Dick Siebert. Calvin was much the heavier man and it was due to this that he was able to down his adversary.

Johnny Hummerich and Otto Linnes engaged in a veritable death struggle. Linnes grabbed the first fall on a decision after ten minutes of hard wrestling. Hummerich came back strong and took the second the same way. Linnes was badly used up as the result and was forced to forfeit the last fall.

A note which might prove of great interest to the followers of the wrestling game and especially to those who have been following the heated paper argument between Young Gotch and Miller, is the rumor that was current at last night's proceedings that Jack Doyle was contemplating promoting the threatened bout. The members of both camps are scheduled to get together today to decide the matter.

CITY TENNIS LEAGUE.

With Hollywood well in the lead, the race for the City Tennis League pennant will near completion with the next to the last round billed for tomorrow afternoon.

The schedule calls for matches between Hollywood and Lincoln at Lincoln; L. A. vs. Pasadena at Pasadena, and Polytechnic and Manual Arts at Manual Arts.

BIG LEAGUE GAME FOR VICTORY LOAN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, May 8.—A Cubs-Giants game not on the National League schedule is announced to be played by telegraph tomorrow night in the interest of the Victory Loan. The Cubs will be guests at a Gold Star Mothers' banquet. The plan is for Max Flack, first in the Cubs' batting order, to lead off at the "plate" and if within two minutes $5,000 is subscribed, he will be credited with a hit, and he goes to "first base."

A $10,000 subscription would be recorded as a "two bagger," and $15,000 would be counted as a "home run." While these clouts for the Victory Loan are being made in Chicago, the Giants are expected to be doing some heavy stick work in New York, the results to be sent by wire. Fans will be admitted and invited to "root" with cash.

MAY CHANGE STANDINGS.

Standings in the City and County Baseball League may be materially altered before sundown today with four fast games on the bill-of-fare for this afternoon and as many teams still up in the running for the league pennant.

Interest centers in the Pasadena-Lincoln bout, which will be played on the latter's diamond this afternoon. Pasadena has managed to keep the losing column of its percentage reckoning immaculate to date, leading the league with an even 1000 per cent. Lincoln has dropped one game out of the three played and is tied with Polytechnic for second place honors. A victory by the Railsplitters today would reverse the present order of things and put this team in the lead.

Polytechnic, the other dangerous contender for first place honors at this stage of the season, will tangle with Manual Arts in a matinee session that is second only to the Pasadena-Lincoln game in attracting the attention of the fans. While Manual Arts has managed to lose two out of the trio of games played, they are considered dangerous and a defeat at this time would go a long ways towards eliminating Poly from the top-notch position.

L. A. High, who is credited with a percentage of .500, will meet Jefferson on the former's home field. The Pioneers have the support of the dopesters, largely based on the Blue and White institution's reputation for turning out fighting teams. A postponed game, a victory and a defeat accounts for the L. A. aggregation's unique standing.

Long Beach, who with Jefferson and Manual Arts, shows a total of .333 points in the reckoning, will meet Hollywood in the fourth match of the afternoon. The beach aggregation has hardly shown pennant winning talent, but they have won one game out of three starts against the Foothillers' complete exclusion from the winning column.

POMPANO PUTTING IN APPEARANCE.

Pompano are beginning to put in their appearance in the vicinity of Del Rey, according to Guy Hill, Dyas's surf-fishing dopester. Corbina and croakers have been furnishing sport for the surf anglers for several weeks and the advent of the pompano is expected to attract additional crowds of casters to the beach.

Generous catches of croakers have been reported throughout the week and Hill has been leading numerous parties of anglers beachward for the sport.

SOUTHPAWS WIN FROM FAIR SEX.

Several clever stunts were pulled off yesterday at Urbita Springs by the students of Pomona College in the annual "ditch day." One of these was the indoor baseball game between the "Bolsheviks," these being the boys of the third floor of Smiley Hall, and the girls of the third floor of Sumner Hall. In spite of the fact that the boys played left-handed, they beat the girls by a score of 5 to 1.

Dean Berry and Dr. Ewer afforded no little excitement by the boat race, in which Dean Berry won out by a small margin amid the enthusiastic cheers of her admirers.

A game of real baseball between the college boys and those of the Redlands High School came to an untimely end on account of all the balls being lost in the lake, which is very near the ball grounds.

SEVEN BOUTS ON THE CARD.

Bargain Programme at Vernon Arena Tonight.

Chet Neff Meets Young Brown in Main Event.

Spencer and Mende to Perform in Semi-Windup.

TONIGHT'S CARD.

Young Brown vs. Chet Neff, 133 pounds.
Georgie Spencer vs. Kid Mende, 122 pounds.
Danny Kramer vs. Lang Finn, 135 pounds.
Lee Moore vs. Young Davy, 130 pounds.
Joe Brown vs. Kid Denby, 128 pounds.
Frankie Monroe vs. Paddy Dillon, 125 pounds.
Young Papke vs. Young Garcia, 122 pounds.

It will be bargain night at the Vernon arena tonight, seven bouts being carded instead of the usual six. A week ago knockouts and the omission of extra bouts shortened the card to such an extent that Jack Doyle is throwing in an extra bout for good measure tonight.

All the way through the card looks like an interesting one. Chet Neff and Young Brown are to meet in the main event and two rougher boxers never clashed at Vernon. Neff is the husky Seattle boy who knocked Gene Watson cold in the first round of their bout some time ago, and Brown is the local boy who beat Jack Gillis, Tuffy Wing and Earl Baird in three successive starts.

There seems little to choose between the two boys tonight and, in all probability the bout will go the limit, but there should be a world of action from start to finish.

Georgie Spencer and Kid Mende box the semiwindup and as both are of the aggressive type, they figure to show something. Mende knows but little outside of his ability to slug and he is very aggressive. Spencer is a good boxer and very fast.

Danny Kramer, the hard-hitting youngster, who boxes with his right feet extended and has caused a lot of trouble among the local boxers, will meet Lang Finn, a heavy hitting, willing mixer. It will be Finn's first appearance here in several years, but he has put up some great bouts in the north.

Lee Moore, after an absence of several months, will start again, Young Davy being his opponent. The latter went four rather rough rounds to a draw with Jimmy Staff a week ago and figures to give Moore the toughest kind of a battle.

Joe Brown and Kid Mende are matched and it will be the first time either has appeared in some time. Brown is a slugger, as is his opponent. Neither is a boxer, but what they lack in skill they usually make up in rough work.

Frankie Monroe, who won favor with the fans by a couple of good bouts with Kid Mende, will meet Paddy Dillon. Dillon is in good shape and has put up some slashing bouts of late.

Young Papke and Young Garcia will box the curtain raiser.

POLO PLAYERS TO OPEN SEASON.

CRACKS OF NORTHERN CALIFORNIA WILL PERFORM AT DEL MONTE.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

DEL MONTE, May 8.—The crack polo players of Northern California will get into action on Saturday and Sunday to open the summer polo season here and to feature the United States air service recruiting campaign.

The first appearance of Jorge de Parada, the star Mexico City player, along with the star performers of San Mateo and Del Monte clubs, promises to add interest to the exciting sport on horseback.

The air features in themselves will be attractive. Lieut.-Col. H. L. Watson, commanding officer at Mather Flying Field, will head a squadron of eight to ten machines from Sacramento and a series of thrilling air stunts are planned on both afternoons from 3 to 4. On the programme provision is made to carry as passengers the man or woman selling and the man or woman buying the most Victory Bonds.

The surrounding country is taking a keen interest in the scheduled flying circus and the polo matches which will follow the stunts in the air.

GOLFING DOPE RECEIVES UPSET.

SEMIFINAL ROUND OF WOMEN'S TOURNEY FURNISHES SURPRISE.

Golfing dope received a vigorous upsetting yesterday in the semifinal round of the women's golf tournament at the Midwick Country Club with the elimination of Miss Elizabeth Sherk and Mrs. H. P. Van Dyke from the list of competitors for the club title.

Mrs. Van Dyke went down to defeat before Miss Mildred Landreth. The latter accumulated a three-hole lead at the sixteenth hole, winning 3 and 2.

Mrs. J. V. Elliot was the victor over Miss Sherk in a hard-fought match that was decided on the last green, 1 up.

Miss Landreth and Mrs. Elliot will meet today in the final round for the club championship.

In the defeated eight, Mrs. John G. Owsley won the trophy by defeating Mrs. Spurgis, 3 and 2. The final round in this flight was played a day in advance of the schedule at the wish of the contestants.

WILL MAKE DASH ACROSS COUNTRY.

"CANNONBALL" BAKER, MOTORCYCLE STAR, TO RIDE FROM NEW YORK HERE.

"Cannonball" Baker, international motorcycle star, who is entered in the 200-mile national championship at Ascot, June 22, goes into action this week on a transcontinental dash from New York to Los Angeles to lower the present record. Ever since Alan Bedell of this city wrested this coveted honor from the Indianapolis master rider two years ago by melting the 3296 miles from Los Angeles to New York in seven days, sixteen hours, sixteen minutes, Baker has rankled over his lost title and made an unsuccessful attempt to recover it.

After just completing another pathfinding trip over the ocean-to-ocean route to acquaint himself with down-to-the-minute road conditions, Baker again is ready to stake his reputation on a shot at Bedell's mark. He has selected Los Angeles as the terminus of his transcontinental run because it is the recognized capital of the motorcycle world of sport. As the present holder of the one-man automobile transcontinental record, made with a Cadillac, Baker's two-wheeled ramble will be followed with keen interest in national automobile circles where he also is a spotlight figure.

Baker will be officially checked in here on arrival by Douglas Fairbanks. Immediately after finishing his run, he will commence the final tuning up of the new racing machine especially built for him for the Ascot classic, which is said to be the last word in engineering skill.

Packard First Cost and Final Economy

Judged by the number of years you will use the Packard, as against the life of another car—a Packard costs less than an ordinary automobile. The total cost includes not only the original cost, but supplies, repairs and upkeep—against which you can credit the assured high used-value of a Packard Car.

FINE automobiles were long made and sold as luxuries.

Some men cannot yet grasp the idea of economy and sheer utility-value beyond a certain fixed first cost.

Their motoring ideals are limited. Their car imagination stops about half way.

These men have not kept pace with engineering development as represented by the Packard Twin Six.

Leaving aside the factors of elegance, beauty, speed, riding comfort, they would not understand how the Packard, for example, would be worth a two-fisted man's money, even if he took care of it himself and, let us say, drove it in his shirt sleeves.

On the highroad, or in city traffic, it is the easiest car in the world to handle; the best car for either man or woman to drive; the most responsive, accurate and safe.

The Packard has a much longer natural life than other cars.

It costs less to maintain than compromise-cars at one-half to two-thirds its price. It does not need the constant care of a mechanician.

Every part is accessible.

Adjustments are so simple, the whole mechanical lay-out so clean-cut, that any man or woman who has been about cars at all and knows enough to handle a wrench can keep it running sweet and strong as the day it was delivered.

The Packard does everything easily, without racking vibration, without effort, without strain. There is nothing inaccessible, awkward or amateurish about it.

It is a developed car; professional through and through. All the power you can use, but never any wasted.

Any man could see the advantage of all this in relation, say, to the power equipment of his factory. Why should he think he can compromise successfully in his motor-car investment?

There is a new science of transportation—that of motor-vehicle performance, maintenance and cost. It has to do with your car and its duty, however limited its use.

The Packard people are transportation experts; they have more to tell you on this subject than any other organization in the world. You can ask them to discuss your car problem without obligation. It is to your interest and profit to do so.

Fatty Arbuckle's Noble Men Refuse to Spare the Oaks.

BENGALS WIN FROM OAKLAND

Vernon Takes Lead and is Never in Danger.

Eddie Meusel is Again There with Hickory.

Tim Also has a Large Day with the Bat.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—Vernon turned the tables on Oakland today and thereby disappointed a big week day crowd. The game was 2 to 1 and were never in danger after they got in front. Eddie Meusel again demonstrated that he is a regular he-hitter, for he got a triple and two singles and a pair of passes in the five times he faced the pitcher. The young man will be quite valuable to Fatty Chase if he can only learn to field—as it is now he seems able to stop about dot 900.

Jimmie Wille also had a big day at the bat, getting a triple, two runs and a single in four trips to the plate. There was a high wind blowing across the field so some of the long drives were not safely on the square, but they could find the same. The fly boys were thinking of getting a mite for balls were dropping all around them.

Jimmy Bohne, the best advertised player on the Coast, made his debut with Oakland yesterday and it required the folks of the time he broke into the Seals in 1915. He made two hits and he nearly threw the roof off the State of California in another chance, so Sammy did not have a very good day of it.

Cal Ewing says he outbid San Francisco, Los Angeles, Salt Lake, Portland, Seattle, and several other seaports to get Samuel, and up to date Samuel has not shown the class expected of him. He figures to hit however and is fast on the bases, so he may get going soon.

Fromme not only pitched a strong, steady game, but he helped his side with the bat. Opposed to him was Babe Holling, a young busher who joined the Oaks as a utility man, but who proved that he could pitch. Yesterday was the first time this season the boy has been hard hit. He has lost a lot of tough games, but he always looked steady.

SEATTLE TAKES THIRD BATTLE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PORTLAND (Or.) May 8.—Seattle carried away the third game of the series from Portland, 5 to 2, the visitors never being in danger. Seattle scored one run in five separate innings. Compton was put out of the game in the sixth inning after striking out, his dismissal being due to unsavory remarks made to Umpire Finney. Cunningham starred for the vistors, making four hits in five times up and making a great catch of Sigiin's drive in the seventh. Farmer's home run in the eighth gave Portland its second and last run.

SERAPHS BOOT BATTLE AWAY.

across. Tom was forced at second. Three runs.

Fitzgerald scored in the fifth on his own hit, and another by Caveney. Fitz, still troublesome, walked in the seventh, and was sent around on singles by Caveney and Koerner. Pursuing the policy of scoring every other inning this same Fitzgerald singled infield in the ninth, counting of Koerner's third blow of the game. This run was made off Beer, who worked the fag inning.

Meantime, Seaton had forgotten all about the mound, and without it on his mind, was getting along right well. In the eighth, Driscoll ruffled him with a single with one gone. Killefer than began resorting to pinch-hitters. He tried Doc Crandall first, and finding nothing there, called out Kenworthy, his last pinch-hitting reserve. As pinch-hitters go, Kopecs did exceedingly well, getting a single and breaking his own record of the day previous. The rally petered out with Killefer's fly to Connolly.

In the ninth Seaton got a suspicion that the mound was beginning to bulge up under his feet and was deeply troubled. Under the impetus of this imaginary upheaval he passed Cooper and Crawford, but there was an out between the two passes. Then the mound seemed gradually to settle back into place, and Tom regained his equilibrium, his confidence and his faith in future life. Seaton to be at his best should pitch in a park where there are no ground swells to disturb his peace of mind. The score:

FLASHES.

A BARRIE PLAY.

DE MILLE PREPARES TO MAKE "CRICHTON" PICTURE.

By Grace Kingsley.

Most elaborate preparations are being made by the Lasky company for the production of J. M. Barrie's "The Admirable Crichton," announcement of which was made in this column several weeks ago. The plans of the company are now matured, and work is soon to commence on the filming of the story. The adaptation is being made by Jeanie MacPherson, who so admirably fitted for the screen Edgar Selwyn's story, "For Better, for Worse," now on view at the Kinema. Cecile de Mille will direct, and will make the production one of his specials.

The picture is to be filmed for the most part on the Santa Cruz Islands, where the two or three fishermen and shepherds, the sheep and jackrabbits, which are the sole inhabitants of the island, are even now being treated to a surprise. A crew of workmen left the studio a day or two ago for the islands, and have commenced the building of some handsome sets, probably the most elaborate ever constructed on wild and desolate Santa Cruz Islands.

The cast for the most part has been selected, with Elliott Dexter playing the name role, and with Gloria Swanson and Lila Lee in the principal feminine roles.

Probably there isn't a director in the world who could do justice to the whimsical Barrie tale as Mr. De Mille can. He, perhaps, better than any other director, understands the delicate art of transferring to the screen not only the more poignant features of a story, but those delicate nuances of both comedy and drama by means of which he is creating what might fairly be called a new art form on the screen.

Tom Mix Gets Bear.

Somebody has given Tom Mix, Fox star, a bear for a present. Tom wasn't in the least embarrassed by the gift. He keeps it at the studio, and finds it a pleasant playmate and a docile pet, aside from its desire to eat goldfish out of the studio fountain and occasionally taking a playful nip out of one or another of his legs—which, pf!—to a bullet-proof hero like Mix is just nothing at all, you might say.

Ethel Clayton Due Soon.

Ethel Clayton, Lasky-Famous Players star, who has gone to Japan on a trip which, while it is undertaken for recreation, is saddened by the remembrance of the fact it was to have been undertaken by herself and her late husband, is expected back at the Lasky studio within a month.

The Two Billies.

Cheated out of their trip around the world, all on account of governmental red tape, but seeing no reason why they shouldn't take a jaunt in their own country, Mr. and Mrs. William Parsons—the latter known professionally as Billie Rhodes—leave today for New York. They will be accompanied by Isadore Bernstein, business manager of the National Film Company, of which Mr. Parsons is president, and report it is a business trip which calls them away. They expect to be gone about five weeks, and other than the fact that a big deal in the interests of the National is expected to be put over before they return, their object in going east is a dead secret.

Miss Rhodes had planned to leave for the East with her company next week to film the first scenes of her next picture, but owing to the sudden change in plans she announces she will meet them there later.

Irene Says Tain't So.

After all, Irene Castle isn't to wed Capt. Robert E. Treman, as has frequently been rumored—that is, if her own word is to be believed, and she really ought to know, oughtn't she?

"There is positively nothing in the report," she declared a few days ago, in New York, on being interviewed in regard to the matter.

Irene and the captain have been acquainted for a long time; they met in this country and later in England. They are known to be great friends, but beyond this neither will admit there is any relationship between them.

Mrs. Castle is under contract with the Famous Players-Lasky Company and is expected in the West some time this summer.

Daily Meouw.

Al Christie, it is said, always likes blondes—but not always the same blonde!

Brentwood Busy Again.

All heartened up over the success of "The Turn in the Road," and the reports and reviews of "Better Times," in which Zasu Pitts is starred, the Brentwood Film Company is preparing to make another picture. In this Miss Pitts will again have a leading role, while Florence Vidor, who is returning to the screen for the first time in two years, will be featured. David Butler is to play opposite Miss Pitts. King Vidor will direct.

The name of the feature is not yet announced, but the Brentwood people state that optimism will slosh 'round as freely in it as was the case in "The Turn in the Road."

Madaine Will Fish.

A chance to go fishing is what Madaine Traverse, Fox star, and incorrigible Isaac Walton-ess, see in a forthcoming trip which she and her company, directed by Harry Millarde, will take to Huntington Lake next week. Incidentally, between trout, she declares she may be persuaded to make a few scenes for her current picture.

Beg-Your-Pardon Note.

It seems that after all nobody is to share leading man honors with Thomas Meighan in "Peg o' My Heart," now being made at the Lasky studio under direction of William De Mille. Mr. Meighan is one of the most popular young men of filmdom, and being gifted with the necessary Gaelic qualities of personal charm and pep, he should be admirably adapted to the role of the young Irish lord, who takes Peg in his arms in the last reel.

Larry Semon Rests.

Larry Semon, Vitagraph comedian, has gone up to Big Bear Mountain for a long-promised fishing trip, and in appreciation of the manner in which his principal supporting players have stood the strenuous pace of the past two months, he has taken them along as his guests.

Larry will be back on the lot in about three days and dare-devilry in the interest of comedy will again be the order of the day. In the meantime he will merely enter into his occasional altercation with a mountain lion or rattlesnake by way of keeping in training for comedy.

"Eyes of Youth" Sure.

They are having just the most exciting times down at the Morosco. First "The Eyes of Youth" was announced as the production to follow "Daddy Long-Legs," then Mr. Morosco having secured the rights to "Someone in the House," it was decided to put that piece on next. But dozens of letters to the Morosco management have caused a reconsideration, and the Morosco officials declare this is positively the last statement that will be issued in the matter, said statement being to the effect that "Eyes of Youth" will follow "Daddy Long-Legs"—with no joke intended either.

Houdini to Work.

Harry Houdini is scheduled to go to work next week, I learned yesterday at the Lasky studio, and this despite the fact that his leading lady has not yet been engaged. But Houdini is as inured to conjuring beautiful ladies right out of the air that the studio people feel no concern in the matter.

Can't Joke About Aridness.

Those vaudeville stars of the Orpheum circuit who have lately been getting laughs and money out of prohibition jokes have got to find some other way of making their audiences titter, according to the edict which has just been sent forth by Martin Beck. So the command "remain neutral" applies to prohibition as well as to other matters of national issue.

He also has issued an edict against the use of too many piano acts. We admit we got lots of joy out of the prohibition jokes, but sympathize in the command to suppress the piano.

Ray Dooley Married.

Ray Dooley, who was seen here at the Orpheum not so very long ago, has married Eddie Dowling and has accepted an engagement, together with her husband, in the Follies.

Quarrel Over Constance.

That charming comedienne, Constance Talmadge, who is appearing in "Romance and Arabella" at Tally's, may, it seem, be the subject of a lawsuit concerning her professional services. It is reported that both First National and Famous Players claim she signed contracts with them.

Alice Brady on Her Own.

With a cute turning up of her cute little already turned-up nose, Alice Brady, it seems, has turned down all offers to sign with any picture company, and his decided to form her own organization.

Clarke to Make Film.

And now that quite incurable world commuter, Harry Corson Clarke, has decided to make another trip abroad, and not only to play in the big cities en route, but to thriftily take a camera along and get pictures on the way. The pictures will be in the form of a serial —a dramatic story combining educational features, since it will have the background of various countries as a setting.

Mr. Clarke is to open here shortly in his new play, "The Rotters."

Arbuckle's Wife Comes Back.

Every once in a while the question pops up, "What has become of Minta Durfee, Roscoe Arbuckle's wife?" The question being, of course, purely professional, since it is known she likes living in New York. The answer has just come from there that she is shortly to return to the screen, an embarrassment of good offers being the only obstacle to her immediate signing of a contract.

Ethel Lynne to Flit.

It being reported that Ethel Lynne, Christie comedy star, was to wed a Los Angeles business man, inquiry was sent forth, but Miss Lynne only answered:

"That's news to me. I'll have to look it up."

Miss Lynne is going to take a trip to Texas the latter part of this week, to visit relatives who live on a ranch near Fort Worth. She declares this is her first vacation in four years, and that she feels the need of it.

Hart Goes to Desert.

William S. Hart, Artcraft star, is planning one of the biggest features he has ever made, to be adapted from a story by C. Gardner Sullivan. Hart and his company will go to the Mojave Desert for many of the scenes, leaving tomorrow.

Mix Gets Bear as Pet.

It's no use your handing Tom Mix, Fox star, a tame little pussy cat or a meek and lowly dog for a pet. No, sir, a man-eating lion is more in Tom's line. But in default of that, a bear will do. Somebody, in fact, has just bestowed a bear cub on Tom, and at present the creature is busy getting acquainted with the other specimen of his kind, "Theda Bara," the bear that was sent to Miss Bara when she was here last summer by a company of soldiers whose mascot the animal had been. "Theda" never had seen another of her kind before, and apparently she didn't like the breed, as she climbed up on top of one of the sets on the Fox lot and pelted Tom's bear until the latter ran away and dropped into the fountain, where the goldfish live.

There the bear forgot all about his disagreeable companion and started in catching the goldfish, and could only be dissuaded from this agreeable pastime when tempted by a comb of honey which Mis hastily brought from the restaurant.

Fatty Got Even.

They put up a job on Fatty Arbuckle, out at the studio, the other day. The rotund comedian had been working over at the Sennett in a very noisy comedy, next to another equally noisy Sennett comedy. When he came back to his own quiet studio, he complained his ears hurt him a bit, and that he was afraid he was losing his hearing. That started it.

As soon as his company began working, he told them he couldn't hear them—that he wished they'd speak a little louder. His leading woman came over and told him she was speaking as loud as she could and what was the matter with him anyhow? He looked around troubled. "Louder!" he exclaimed. The whole company went through motions as though yelling at the top of their lungs. Just then a fire engine went by with a clang, and Fatty was on. And maybe he didn't get even! Next day he trotted them all down to a boiler factory and made 'em work there all day, using a policeman's whistle for a signal, while he remained calmly at home.

Mary Minter in Gotham.

Though feeling that the change from quiet Santa Barbara to dazzling New York may be a bit bewildering just at first, Mary Miles Minter and her mamma and grandmamma have gone to the metropolis, accompanied by the pet of the Minter family, Dickie, the Pomeranian. Miss Minter is going to stay in New York until she has met all the clever playwrights she has been just longing to know, and has seen all the plays she wanted to see, and Mommer Minter, whose real name is Margaret Shelby, has even gone so far as to take a house there and get a car. They expect to remain in the East two months.

Which Shall It Be?

There's just a little bit of rivalry on at Universal studios, these days, nothing serious, just enough to make a pleasant stir on the Rialto. The rivalry is between Mary McLaren and Dorothy Phillips, both of whom naturally are just dying to play the leading role in Fannie Hurst's story, "The Petal on the Current," which Carl Laemmle has just purchased, and which is to be given as a starring vehicle to one or the other of the above-named young women.

WIDOW LOSES APPEAL.

Fails to Show Husband was Well when He Stumbled Over Rug.

Failing to show that her husband, Ernest T. Kellner, was not suffering from an illness that might have caused his death, Mrs. Mary W. Kellner, yesterday lost her appeal from the court of Judge Monroe, and a finding in favor of the Travelers' Insurance Company of Hartford, Ct.

The widow brought an action to recover $10,000 alleged to be due on an accident insurance policy issued in behalf of the husband. The testimony showed that Kellner came to his death through an accident that was not very serious in its first aspect, for he stumbled and fell over a rug in his own home, surviving the fall but a short time.

The insurance company claimed that the death of Kellner was caused by physical conditions that were in existence at the time of the accident, and that the fall did not produce death at all. Mrs. Kellner lost her case because she failed, or did not attempt to show that her husband was in good physical health at the time of the accident.

CONVENTION OPENED BY STATE TRAVELERS.

DAY DEVOTED TO EXAMINING CREDENTIALS; DELEGATES ATTEND THEATER.

Delegates to the California council convention of the United Commercial Travelers Association of America met in the library of the Alexandria Hotel yesterday morning and began a three days' session. About seventy-five delegates reported at the first meeting and all day travelers from all sections of the State were registering.

No business was transacted yesterday. The entire day was devoted to registering the delegates and examining their credentials. The real business will begin this morning.

Last night the delegates attended the Orpheum Theater, a large portion of that theater being reserved for them. Special pleasure trips have been arranged for the women who are attending the convention, and tonight there will be a dinner and cabaret dance at the Alexandria.

All the business of the convention will be completed by tomorrow afternoon and the delegates and their friends will make a trip to Venice by automobile and have a dance party there.

KOSLOFF MAY COME WEST FOR SUMMER.

That Theodore Kosloff is the latest artist to feel the spell of Southern California climate and scenery, and that he will shortly make his home in Los Angeles for the summer, is the rumor in theatrical circles. Kosloff just played an engagement at the Orpheum and is continuing his tour, which takes him to the Middle West, but the report indicates that he intends to return to California, and further that he will open a school for dramatic expression and dancing in this city. Kosloff did spend some time here a year or so ago working in pictures, and is known to have been favorably impressed with Southern California's artistic possibilities. He is one of the most celebrated dancers who has played the vaudeville time, and he has made a big success with his dancing act.

AUTO-MAKING ACT DEVELOPS SPEED.

The closing show Sunday evening at Grauman's Theater will witness the presentation of a handsome cup to the winner of the Ford-building contest. Both teams are doubling their energies to beat the three-minute schedule, Detroit and Los Angeles are running a close race for supremacy. Every man has something to do every second of the time in the assembling of the parts of the two cars, which are completely disassembled when the curtain rises. The act, which is an original novelty has been creating a near sensation with the audiences this week, and enthusiasm develops in the most astonishing manner as the cars approach completion on the stage.

BEQUEATHS IDEAS FOR MUSIC SCORE.

Los Angeles picture-goers will well remember the beautiful musical score written by the late William Furst for Cecile B. de Mille's production of "Joan the Woman." At the time of the composer's activities on the Lasky lot George Mulford, conductor of the Kinema orchestra, formed a deep friendship with Furst, and the two companions exchanged many interesting letters about the writing of musical scores. Just before his death Furst received a letter from Cecil de Mille, informing him of the forthcoming productions of society romances, the last of which is "For Better, for Worse," now at the Kinema.

Mr. Furst began a score and worked for some weeks upon several love themes when he felt his last days approaching. He sent the unfinished scores to George Mulford, willing them to him. Mr. Mulford took the music out of his library three weeks ago and began the new arrangement for the "For Better, for Worse" score.

Using Furst's beautiful love theme as a background Mulford has arranged probably one of the finest and yet, in its simplicity and reserve, almost strikingly beautiful score which has received the praise of music lovers in the city.

REPRODUCE NEW YORK PLAYHOUSE.

When the filming of Ethel Clayton's new Paramount picture "Pettigrew's Girl," which comes to the California Theater, was started, the Majestic Theater here was used for the big theater scenes in the story. But after a few scenes were made, the director decided he would require even more space. So they hurried back to the studio and constructed an enormous setting representing the stage, boxes and part of the orchestra of a genuine New York playhouse. The big studio tank was used as the orchestra pit, and several rows of seats were also arranged therein. Altogether, the set was one of the largest and most realistic ever put up at the studio, and spectators will have a hard time realizing it is only a set, and not the interior of the Winter Garden in New York, it is said. Part of a musical comedy performance is given on this stage in the picture and for the dancers in this about forty girls from Denishawn were secured.

BIG SANTA MONICA HOTEL DISCUSSED.

PROPOSED STRUCTURE AT THE BEACH WILL COST TWO MILLION DOLLARS.

Members of the Santa Monica Beach Association, who will undertake the financial arrangements for the proposed $2,000,000 beach hotel at Santa Monica, met at a luncheon at the City Club yesterday and inspected preliminary plans prepared by Myron Hunt, local architect, who has been commissioned to undertake this feature of the work.

Mr. Hunt's plan contemplates the construction of a ten-story hostelry of more than 350 rooms at the foot of Wilshire boulevard and Ocean avenue. The building would rest on a foundation on the sand, with six stories above the bluff at that point and four below.

It will be an all-year-round hotel and will embody features unique in hotel construction. As soon as the preliminary plans are completed they will be submitted to D. M. Linnard, head of the California Hotel Company, who has been invited to consider a proposition to take over the management of the new hotel.

At yesterday's gathering the project was warmly indorsed by H. M. Gorham, president of the Bank of Santa Monica; R. E. Kelly, general passenger agent of the Pacific Electric Railway; A. M. Chaffey, president of the Home Savings Bank; F. E. Lee of the Santa Monica Land and Water Company, and Howard Frost.

ATTENDING BIG FUR SALE.

There is keen rivalry among the furriers of the United States to secure the finest and most extensive showing of pelts for style creations. This is the substance of information received from F. Obrikat, Sr., of the Obrikat-Meyer Fur Company, who is now in St. Louis, Mo., attending the annual international fur sale. From St. Louis Mr. Obrikat will go to New York to secure some of the latest imported novelties for the opening of the new Obrikat-Meyer fur store in Los Angeles at 412-414 West Seventh street.

MAYOR TO ANNOUNCE COMMITTEEMEN SOON.

Mayor Woodman will announce his executive campaign committee in a few days, it was stated yesterday. The members of this committee will then select a campaign manager and establish headquarters.

NATIVE SONS DANCE.

Los Angeles Parlor, No. 45, Native Sons of the Golden West, will hold its annual dance Wednesday night at Kramer's academy, 1500 South Figueroa street. Jazz music, cards and refreshments will be features. Lee Rose and W. W. Gilman, president of the order, are in charge.

WANT TO GO TO SWEDEN?

City Engineer H. Z. Osborne, Jr., president of the Engineers' and Architects' Association of Southern California, has been asked to send to New York the names of four young men fitted for technological study in Sweden. The purpose of the scholarship, which is for one academic year and provides $1000 for the student, is to secure in Sweden a better understanding of American ideals, and there are similar scholarships enabling Swedish students to study in America.

EASTERN ENGINEER INSPECTS HAR-

B. F. CRESSON, JR., IN INVESTIGATION FOR DEVELOPMENT COMMISSION.

B. F. Cresson, Jr., of New York, general consulting engineer in charge of the investigation for the Port Development Commission, of which George W. Goethals is chief consulting engineer, is here for the purpose of making an investigation of harbor conditions of this port.

Mr. Cresson is touring the United States to inspect the various ports and harbors. He will go to San Pedro this morning in company with Mayor Woodman and several members of the Harbor Commission.

Speaking of the harbor bonds voted on here, last Tuesday, Mr. Cresson said it was a source of great satisfaction that the bonds carried.

Mr. Cresson is accompanied by his wife. They arrived here Wednesday afternoon and were the guests of the Chamber of Commerce at luncheon. They will leave this afternoon for San Francisco, Portland, Tacoma, Seattle, returning here within two weeks.

WILLS WIFE NOT TO CALL HIM UP.

Orbison is Divorced on the Ground of Desertion.

Not to be Interrupted at Office, His Order.

Religion in Profession is Cause of Trouble.

Testifying in her divorce action against Dr. Thomas J. Orbison here yesterday, Mrs. Orbison declared that, on occasion to speak to her husband by telephone on business matters, he replied that she must not call up at his office.

Mrs. Orbison charged desertion. She asked the decree and the custody of the two minor children. As a property settlement made by the court, she will receive from her husband $200 a month for the support of the children.

The arrangement of Dr. Orbison and his wife is said to have been the result of his absorption in his profession. They were married fifteen years ago and formerly resided at 295 South Grand avenue, Pasadena.

During the war Dr. Orbison was stationed at Camp Kearny. For more than a month past Mrs. Orbison saw little of her husband.

COURT AND FORGIVE.

Couple Make Up and Suit Is Dismissed.

Proceedings of proceeding to a decree of separation and maintenance of Velma Burke and Edward L. Burke was ordered dismissed by Judge Taft yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Burke was called to the witness stand and asked if his wife agreed that the case dismissed and replied that she did. In her action for divorce, filed 19 years old, alleged that her husband was cruel to her, and that, as desired, her father-in-law forced her to leave the house. When the suit was filed, the young couple agreed to forget and forgive.

AGREE ON EDISON PRICE.

Purchase of Lines by City for Eleven Millions Now up to People's Votes.

The people of Los Angeles now have before them in fact, and soon will have before them on a ballot, this question: Shall the city of Los Angeles purchase for $11,000,000 cash the Southern California Edison Company's electric light and power distributing lines within the corporate limits of the city?

The Railroad Commission participated in the conferences leading to the offer of the Edison company to sell its distributing lines to the city and yesterday made public its approval of the price agreed upon by the representatives of the company, the city government and Public service Commissioners. The final approval rests with the people.

"I think that the price agreed upon is eminently a fair one and that the city will secure a bargain if it buys the Edison lines," said Mayor Woodman, yesterday, in expressing his satisfaction at the outcome of the conferences.

"The city has gained a decided advantage in this new arrangement," said President Edwin O. Edgerton of the State Railroad Commission, I give it as my unqualified opinion that this settlement is wise, business-like and equitable."

AT CITY ELECTION?

The question now to be settled is when shall the proposed purchase by the city be submitted to the voters? Councilman Criswell and other Councilmen yesterday expressed themselves as believing that the proposition should be placed on the ballot at the coming city election on June 3. If this could be done, there will be a saving of $50,000 in the expense of holding a special city election to vote on the matter.

The next step will be taken by the City Council which will formally receive in legal form from the parties to the conference the terms of the proposed purchase, and will then receive from the City Attorney an opinion as to whether the terms can be placed on the ballot on June 3 next or whether it will be necessary to hold later a special election to vote solely on the Edison proposition.

Vice-President R. H. Ballard of the Edison Company said yesterday that the physical property offered alone would cost the city today in the market $11,000,000, to which the city would otherwise be forced to add severance damages. Mr. Ballard expressed the opinion that June 3 is too early for submitting the question to the voters, but the Council will soon receive a report on the question of date from the committee which has the matter in charge, consisting of City Attorney Stephens, W. B. Matthews, general counsel for the Public Service Commissioners, and Harry J. Bauer, general counsel of the Edison Company, all of whom took part in the general conference which led to the agreement.

CITY IS THE GAINER.

The conferees started out months ago with an offer of $10,000,000 by the city and a demand for $12,500,000 by the company, but finally after many meetings at which Mayor Woodman and City Attorney Stephens fought for the rights of the city, and Howard Robertson, E. F. Scattergood and W. B. Matthews represented the public service commissioners, with Ralph Criswell for the City Council, an agreement was reached by which all concerned declare the city is the gainer. The company was represented at the conferences by W. A. Brackenridge, president; R. H. Ballard and G. C. Ward, vice-presidents, and General Counsel Bauer.

A conference was held at the City Attorney's office yesterday attended by City Attorney Stephens, W. B. Mathews, counsel for the Public Service Commissioners, and other members of the legal department to discuss the legal questions involved in placing the question on the ballot at the June 3 election.

IN THREE SECTIONS.

The proposed purchase divides itself into three important parts:

First: Shall the city of Los Angeles purchase for $11,000,000 from the Edison company its distributing lines in the city, same to be paid for in cash on or before June 30, 1920, the money to be raised by the city by a bond issue?

Second: Shall the city of Los Angeles (as called for in the terms agreed upon by the conference) purchase from the company during the period of ten years beginning with the date of the delivery of the property to the city at rates to be fixed from time to time at the request of each party, by the Railroad Commission of the State of California, all electric energy which the city may require during said period in addition to that which the city shall generate at the hydro-electric plants now owned or hereafter acquired by the city? Also shall the city agree to buy from the company all energy required during the period of twenty years immediately succeeding the aforesaid ten-year period in addition to that generated by the city from any plants whatsoever, at rates to be fixed from time to time by the Railroad Commission of the State of California?

Third: Shall the city agree to purchase at a price to be fixed from time to time by the Railroad Commission of the State of California, all surplus power generated by the city in addition to its requirements as hereinbefore specified during the period of fifteen years, beginning with date of delivery of possession of said property.

NEEDS TWO-THIRDS VOTE.

The latter proposition, some attorneys hold, is contrary to the charter, which states that the city shall not sell power to an outside corporation unless with the approval of the people at a special election.

These attorneys contend that this last question must be submitted at a special election, and if this view holds, a special election will be held some time after June 2, at which the entire Edison sale plan would be submitted for approval.

Whether the question is put up to the voters on June 3 or at some later date, the plan, to go through, requires a two-thirds vote of those voting.

MOTHER ATTEMPTS TO BREAK SON'S WILL.

WOMAN OF 84, PLAINTIFF IN CONTEST; QUESTIONS WIDOW'S STATUS.

Contending that Charles W. Whittock, who died November 2, at Deming, N. M., was unmarried at the time he made his will, which bequeathed $1 to his widow, Mrs. Henrietta Whittock, 84 years old, his mother, yesterday filed a contest to the probate of the will. Mrs. Whittock alleges that the will was dated July 6, 1914, at 5236 Fountain avenue, Los Angeles, and that her son did not marry Lydia Whittock, the widow, until February 2, 1918. Therefore, she alleges, the will is invalid. An estate of $75,000 is involved. The mother claims she is entitled to a share.

In the will the deceased said that he bequeathed $1 to the widow, "Lidia" T. Whittock because of "my knowledge of her total disregard for economy and poor business qualifications." The will was filed at Deming and a photographic copy of it was filed here. By it the estate would be placed in trust for Lidia Torrey Whittock, a daughter of 6 years, and Katherine Saunders, a niece. Should the niece's share not be distributed to her, the will provides that it go to the Florence Crittendon Home, of this city.

Hearing on the petition for probate of the will is set for May 12. Gates & Randles are attorneys for the contestant.

GETS WARM WELCOME.

Overseas War Worker is Given Ovation by Optimists Club Members.

Frank O. Bristol, who has just returned from war work overseas, was given an ovation yesterday when he attended the noonday meeting of the Optimists Club.

Mr. Bristol assisted the Liberty Loan, Red Cross and all other patriotic drives before he left for overseas duties. He arrived in Los Angeles Tuesday.

W. H. Workman, Jr., manager of the Los Angeles Morris Plan Company, talked on "Character, Credit and Thrift," and Chairman Dodge of the Board of Supervisors spoke in favor of the $40,000,000 State highway bond issue. He stated that Los Angeles county would benefit, in that approximately $5,000,000 would be used in this county for road making. Harry Lee Martin was chairman of the day.

"POET LARIAT" BACK AGAIN.

Seeks Millions in Damages, Via Rhyme Route.

Names Bar Association as the Defendant in Case.

Complaint is Stricken from Files as Frivolous.

E. M. Barnes, the "poet lariat," who was disbarred from practice in the courts of California, some time ago, because of his conviction of a felony in Alaska, and who has been following the occupation of a miner at Las Vegas, Nev., has again burst into song.

His efforts along the line of courting the muse appeared in a bill filed by Barnes in the United States District Court, yesterday, for damages in the modest sum of $1,700,000 against the Los Angeles Bar Association.

Later on, it was ordered stricken from the files by Judge Bledsoe, on the ground that it was frivolous and impertinent in nature, and for the added reason that the court had no jurisdiction.

The first half of the complaint is written in alleged rhyme, and runs thus:

"Plaintiff's home is in Nevada, at Las Vegas
Where alfalfa grows and so does rye-grass.
This is the way I long have sought,
And mourned because I found it not.
I was a lawyer before defendant was named.
And to take its money, I'm not ashamed.
On the ashes of reason its prejudice came,
It commenced against me a sure losing game.
Its home I am told is in Los Angeles town,
Where Japs are a-plenty and wages are down.
Which town is in California, so many folks say,
And I guess no one to them dare oft say nay.
I belong to a union number sixteen hundred seventeen,
As loyal Americans as ever were seen.
We did our bit to win this war—
Had no time till now this defendant to jar.
It's an association of lawyers, of whom Force Parker is one,
The balance of them are to me unknown.
Now all who are defendants stand up to the rack,
And if there's no fodder don't go sloughing back.
All defendants did what was done maliciously
With the sole intent to do me injury.
And injury it did me to feelings and purse—
No injury could be very much worse.
Defendant had plaintiff as lawyer disbarred,
With the testimony it gave it lied very hard;
It testified that I'd been convicted of a felony,
Now it well knew that could not be.
It well knew for a felony I'd never been tried,
It knew very well its testimony lied."

The second part of the bill alleges that the Los Angeles Bar Association caused the District Court of Appeal to enter a judgment that plaintiff had been convicted of a felony in Alaska, when in truth and in fact, Barnes avers, the law under which he was convicted of mailing an improper letter does not make that offense a felony, unless it was done knowingly. Barnes also says the Territory of Alaska was governed at the time under an act of Congress known as the Carter Code, which says nothing about improper letters.

IS HER OWN SLEUTH AND WINS DIVORCE.

WOMAN TESTIFIES TO FINDING EVIDENCE AT HOTEL; MAN BLAMES DRINK.

Acting as her own detective and obtaining, as she testified, first-hand evidence of the fondness of her husband, Henry E. Memory, for Mrs. Bertha Waite, Mrs Lucy E. Memory was granted a divorce yesterday by Judge Crail. Mr. Memory said drinking led to his troubles, but added that he is now on the water wagon. The court complimented him on his abstemious record of ten days.

Mrs. Memory declared that friends told her that her husband and Mrs. Waite had been seen together. Last February she went to a hotel and rapped on the door of Mrs. Waite's room. She forced her way in when Mrs. Waite opened the door, and testified that she found her husband in bed.

In addition to the decree, Mrs. Waite was given the custody of the three children and alimony of $12.50 a week.

ACTION AGAINST FILM STAR IS POSTPNOED.

The illness of Attorney W. I. Gilbert, counsel for Miss Roma Raymond, Polish author, caused a postponement of the trial of her $160,000 heart-balm suit against Earle R. Williams, film star, set for yesterday. Judge Myers continued the case for trial until June 24.

Miss Raymond charges that Mr. Williams asked her to marry him and postponed the event. Finally she learned that he had married Florine Walz of Brooklyn.

DAILY TRADE TALK.

Stock Exchange Banquet; Grapes not to be Extinct; Car Fares.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

Members of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange let go all "holts" last night and for the first time since the shadow of the great war covered the earth, played and gamboled (and I hope the gentlemanly proof reader will not misunderstand) to their heart's content. Before the evening was over the bulls and the bears were drinking from the same cup, and singing almost in the same key, "My Wife's Gone to the Country."

The banquet and the elaborate appurtenances thereto was in honor of war heroes of the exchange. Members who gave up their business and their seats to enter the service of their country. It was given by the stock exchange in recognition of these services, and in appreciation of the fact that the soldiers and sailors had returned, and that the exchange did not suffer a casualty.

The guests of honor at the function, which occurred at the Alexandria, were Capt. Robert F. Hunter, A.E.F., Capt. Hooper C. Dunbar, U.S.A., First Lieutenant Paul B. Hammond, A.E.F., First Lieutenant Howard G. Rath, A.E.F., First Lieutenant James R. Page, A.E.F., First Lieutenant Tristram R. Coffin, U.S.A., Lieut. D. A. McGilvray, U.S.N., Ensign Marcus M. Marshall, U.S.N., Chester L. North, U.S.N.R. An interesting feature of the service of these men is in the fact that they all represent volunteer enlistments, and although many of them saw severe service, not a one was incapacitated.

Frank Harvey Pettingell, president of the exchange, happily inaugurated the festivities and turned the guests over to First Lieutenant James R. Page, who was toastmaster. The contributions from the floor were brief and witty, the formal entertainment programme having been entrusted to the Patrick-Clark Company, and consisted of vaudeville numbers the like of which are not to be found on the legitimate stage.

The Los Angeles Stock Exchange was organized in 1899 and has enjoyed a consistent growth, which is carrying it to the forefront of institutions of its kind throughout the country.

The first of the new issues of Victory Bonds reached Los Angeles yesterday through the Guaranty Trust and Savings Bank. They are of more attractive design than any of their predecessors. The color scheme has been changed to a pale blue, and the bonds displace more desk room because all of the coupons are attached for the whole life of the bonds. Assistant Cashier N. C. Peters is authority for the statement that a full supply of bonds for delivery to subscribers cannot be obtained before May 20. Those now on hand are being used for display purposes.

Not all of the grape vineyards in the vicinity of Los Angeles are being reduced to strawberry patches or near city lots. In not a few instances the owners are going right ahead with their production plans and say that they expect the price level to suffer very little diminution as the result of the application of the bone-dry amendment. In fact some of them claim that after a year or two the level will be higher than ever. There is nothing intoxicating about a grape, per se, and it is surprising the interest many are taking in contracting for supplies of the standard varieties of wine grapes. Of course, no one has any means of knowing what will be done with these privately stored stocks, but a grape, even when left to its own devices, or at least with a very little "aid and comfort," is said to be capable of some astonishing results.

The question of street car fares continues to be an important one in most American cities. The expected (by some) readjustment of conditions following the war so that the old schedules might be maintained has failed to materialize, and very nearly every traction line in the country which has not already obtained relief, faces bankruptcy. Los Angeles is no exception, and the local request for revision upward is now before the commission. This is being fought by the various cities vitally interested. Of course, no one blames the public for its desire to travel as cheaply as possible. To many wage earners it is a matter of vital import which goes directly to the full dinner pail, but it does not appear to be a question of greed on the part of the companies for additional revenue for their own benefit, but of the very life of the enterprises themselves. It is not of much avail to abuse the local corporations for conditions which have been forced upon them, and we need not harbor the belief that Los Angeles has been picked out as the virgin field for rate experimentations. It is not generally realized to what extent these increases have already been made, and the following list of communities where street car fares have been increased, compiled by the American Electric Railway Association to May 1, should be an eye opener. This list includes 348 cities. Twenty-seven cities in five States are now paying 10-cent fares. In this class all but Tiffin, O., and Levis, Can., have a ticket fare rate of 7 cents. In Tiffin the ticket rate is 7½ cents, while Levis has no ticket rate. Of the cities where a 10-cent owl rate is in effect, the fare during the remainder of the time is 5 cents. Of the 6-cent fare cities, Cincinnati has a ticket rate of 5½ cents, while Montreal charges 15 cents for owl service. Fifty-seven cities are paying 7-cent fares and eighteen are paying 8 cents. Seventeen others are paying 7 cents, with 1 cent extra for transfer. Thirteen are paying 7 cents with a 10-cent charge for owl service. Thirteen cities are operating under a zone system of some sort; the length of the zones and the amount of the fare vary greatly. By far the greater number of increases have been from a 5 to a 6-cent fare, 155 cities now paying that rate. The report shows that of the 377 cities of the country having a population of 25,000 or more, 176 are paying increased fares, and of the remaining 101 cities the street railway companies of 53 are seeking relief of some sort. In seven cities the fare is 5 cents, with 1 cent for transfers. In 49 cities special rates giving reduced fares at various hours have been eliminated. Among the 165 communities now paying the 6-cent fare are such cities at Baltimore, New Orleans, St. Louis, Montreal, Chicago ("El.") Cincinnati, and many other important cities of the country.

RANGER
THE TEXAS OIL FIELDS MADE FORTUNES
for poor men, who were wise enough to grab the acreage when the prices were low. They made their money in buying LEASE ON GROUND not STOCKS.
RANGER AND BURKBURNETT leases were bought a year ago for a few dollars, now they sell for thousands. Why? Because then they thought there was oil. NOW THEY KNOW.
OUR ADVICE
BUY LEASES NOW IN McCULLOCH COUNTY, TEXAS. 10 wells are producing oil now. 50 shallow and 24 deep test wells going down.
SURELY WISE OIL MEN WOULD NOT spend fortunes drilling here unless the prospects are good.
JESS WILLARD and TEX RICKARD own oil leases in McCULLOCH COUNTY that joins ours.
We will sell a 5-YEAR COMMERCIAL LEASE on acreage of ground, which is about the size of a city block, for $15.00.
YOU MUST BUY NOW
Every new well forces us to raise the price of our acres.
WELLS are expected to every day. Then the price of these acres will go up. We believe that these leases will be worth $5$ to $100 or more an acre in a few days.
Buy a lease on an acre for yourself and the other members of your family.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 8.—Petroleum shares dominated today's trading to a greater extent than at any time in the history of the stock exchange, their movements assuming extravagant proportions and causing consequent misgivings in conservative circles.

Almost as a whole, however, the market was strong, shippings receiving further bullish attention with a score of peace industrials, mostly at substantial gains, while a revival of interest was noted in all classes of rails.

The further rise, which marked the twenty-first successful full session of transactions went in excess of 1,000,000 shares, also lifted average prices of leading industrials to maximums for almost three years, while rails as a group were at the year's best.

In several noteworthy instances, such as Texas Company, Atlantic Gulf, American Woolen and Sinclair Oil, absolute high records were established. Among secondary rails today's quotations constituted maximum quotations for five to fifteen years.

Texas Company was again the start performer, adding 20 2-5 points to yesterday's sixteen point gain at 269 7-8; Atlantic Gulf rose 11 1-2, American Woolen 7 1-4 and Texas and Pacific 7 1-4.

Barrette Company, Cuban American Sugar, Mexican Petroleum, Associated Oil, Pan-American, General Motors, Industrial Alcohol, Marines, and American International embraced the other strong issues at extreme gains of 2 to 5 points, but United States Steel retained barely a point of its 2 1-4 points rise on 101, its top price since the elimination of the extra dividend. Sales amounted to 1,775,000 shares, a new record for activity this year.

Marine and Traction bonds were strong with French municipals, the general list, including Liberty issues, manifesting only moderate firmness on small dealings. Total sales, (par value) aggregated $12,225,000. Old United States 2s rose 1-2 per cent. on call.

Liberty bond final prices today were: 3 1-2s 98.64; first 4s 95.80; second 4s 94.24; first 4 1-4s 95.90; second 4 1-4s 94.24; third 4 1-4s 95.34; fourth 4 1-4s 94.26.

BIG AERO SHOW TO ECLIPSE ALL.

Hollywood Demonstration to be Country's Greatest.

First Cross-Country Flight by Speedy Scouts.

Squadron of Twenty Coming from Rockwell Field.

The first cross-country flight ever attempted in the United States by single-seated scout planes will occur early next week when a squadron of some twenty army planes leaves Rockwell Field on a trial to De Mille Field in Hollywood where it will take part in the air service memorial day show on Sunday, May 11. This was announced yesterday by Lieut.-Col. J. E. Carberry of Rockwell Field who came to Los Angeles with Lieut.-Col. T. C. Turner of the Marine Flying Corps to look after details in connection with the air memorial programme which promises to be the greatest aerial demonstration ever staged in this country.

In advance of the flying battle planes will come a touring car that will mark out safe landing places every fifteen miles on the route between San Diego and this city. The speedy little scouts have lots of power and mighty little wing spread and require a field of considerable size in which to make a safe landing. The German Fokkers and American Spads and S.E. 5's have a landing speed of something like sixty-five miles an hour and a forced landing in a bad field means a crash.

Lieut.-Col. Carberry is in charge of all the flying to be put on at the aerial show and has a programme which eclipses even the wonderful air circus held at Rockwell Field four months ago. It will be a sensational demonstration of America's strength in the air and will be for a worthy cause, that of commemorating forever the glorious careers of the men who have given their lives in the United States Air Service.

Lieut.-Col. Turner's part in the programme is that of seeing that the crowd is properly taken care of and he will direct all arrangements for admittance, parking, policing, etc. He will have fifty men from Fort MacArthur, sent by Col. J. M. Williams, 350 sailors sent from the Submarine Base by Capt. Chauncy Shackelford, 100 marines sent by Col. J. P. McGill of Balboa Park, San Diego, and 500 volunteers from among the discharged soldiers and sailors.

In view of the extensive programme, a big crowd is expected and arrangements are being made to take care of 50,000 people and 20,000 automobiles. The flying field itself will be wired off and admission will by only through two entrances, one on Wilshire boulevard and the other on Santa Monica boulevard.

SEE NEWPORT'S HARBOR PLANS.

Business Men Inspect Orange County's Project.

Bonds to Carry it Through will be Voted Upon.

Congressman Osborne Guest of Honor on Trip.

Orange county's project for the improvement of Newport Harbor and the continuation of the development of Newport Bay was given further impetus yesterday, when a party of county and civic officials, with Congressman Osborne, member of the Congressional Rivers and Harbors Committee, made a trip of inspection over that section.

The present improvements put in by the city of Newport Beach and the sites and channels staked out by the government engineers in their last survey of the bay, together with the territory included in the general plan of expansion, were visited by the officials and business men, who were the guests of the Newport and Balboa chambers of commerce.

Among those who made up the party, in addition to Congressman Osborne, were John G. Mitchell, Mayor of Santa Ana; Charles F. Smith, president of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce; C. H. Chapman and H. H. Dale, City Trustees of Santa Ana; J. C. Matzgar, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce; D. Eyman Huff, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County; Sherrill Osborne of Los Angeles, Mayor J. P. Greeley of Balboa, W. L. Jordan, secretary of the Balboa Chamber of Commerce, and A. B. Rousselle, its president; J. C. McCain, member of the City Trustees; Horace Fine of Santa Ana, H. J. Lowe, president of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association of Santa Ana, and a number of prominent business men of Orange county.

THE IMPROVEMENTS.

The great system of improvements included in the $400,000 bond issue to be voted on by Orange county on June 10, and indorsed by practically every organization and business interest there, was of especial interest to the visitors, as they have been planned by the government engineers so as to connect and form a part of the $250,000 improvements already put in by the city of Newport. These constitute the building of a jetty protecting the entrance to the bay, and the widening of the channel and the turning basin. The contemplated county development work will extend the jetty several hundred feet, widen the existing channel and create new tidelands and wharves for fleets of fishing boats and pleasure craft.

In charge of Mr. Rousselle and City Engineer Paul E. Kressly of Newport, the visitors were taken on board of a large launch and shown every part of the bay and its natural harbor. Skirting the island of Balboa and the other islands, dotted with homes and gardens, the boat wound through the channels into the inner basin, several miles inland, past the Orange County Country Club and the high bluffs that surround the large natural basin.

Unanimous approval of the bond issue and the improvements provided by it, and an expression of confidence in the undertaking were given to the Newport officials by their guests at a banquet served immediately after the trip.

"I believe there is a great future here for you and that your plans are well laid," Congressman Osborne, who was the main speaker on the programme, told the gathering. "I am tremendously interested in your project, just as I am interested in the development of the Los Angeles Harbor, of Southern California and of the entire Pacific Coast."

Congressman Osborne indicated that the Federal government will take a hand in the improvements when they have reached a stage warranting further aid.

That the present plans do not call for a great industrial harbor, but for improvements that will make Newport the center of the fishing industry and pleasure craft, thus bringing millions of dollars into Orange county, was the declaration of Mr. Rousselle.

Another party of bankers is expected to make the tour of the harbor and bay, Saturday.

FIGHTS EXTRADITION ON BIGAMY CHARGE.

FORMER SHERIFF OF GEORGIA RELEASED ON THOUSAND DOLLARS BAIL.

Accused of bigamy in an indictment returned by a grand jury at Fayetteville, Ark., J. H. Campbell of 210 South Alvarado street, a fomer sheriff in Georgia, prepared yesterday to fight against extradition east for trial.

To Deputy Sheriff Lips, who arrested him, Campbell said he had made a settlement with his first wife, Mrs. Kate Campbell of Fayetteville. The indictment and warrant, which were telegraphed to Sheriff Cline by Sheriff H. E. Jackson of Fayetteville, accuse Campbell of marrying Jessie Crumley in July 16, 1917, at a time when he was still legally married to his first wife. Campbell has been here a year and is engaged in the real estate business.

His attorney, Duke Stone, whose brother handled the defendant's divorce action, applied for a writ of habeas corpus, issued by Judge Jackson and returnable before Judge Willis on Monday. In the meantime Campbell was released on $1000 bail.

WASN'T REAL WIFE.

A bit of surprise awaited Mrs. W. Hewitt, who, solicitous for her husband, S. J. Hewitt, called up the hospital where he was a patient.

"I said I was his wife and asked how he was," she testified in divorce proceedings in Judge Crail's court yesterday. "The reply was: 'Why, his wife was just here to see him.'"

Mrs. Hewitt sued for desertion and was granted a divorce. She said her husband left her for another woman.

TO SATISFY FINE BY SERVING JAIL TERM.

The great indoor American sport of satisfying a fine imposed by a Federal court by serving a term in the County Jail, will be employed today in behalf of Dr. Gideon M. Freeman, in the shape of a pauper affidavit to be presented to United States Commissioner Long. Freeman and Dr. Charles K. Holzman were found guilty of using the mails in a scheme to defraud, after a trial before a jury and United States District Judge Trippet.

Holzman was given a jail sentence and fine, which he paid by serving a term. Freeman was fined $1500, but given no jail sentence. He appealed his case and the judgment was affirmed. Then Freeman went to jail to pay the fine, and under the law the debt is paid by serving thirty days behind the bars. Freeman's term will be up Saturday.
